BAKER IGNORED IN POLICE INQUIRY

Mayor Gaynor Has Commissioner of Accounts Fosdick Investigate Complaints.

MYSTERY OF EAST SIDE CASE

Close Inquiry Into Allegation That Policeman Robbed a Woman and Locked Her Up in a Barber Shop.

Mayor Gaynor broke precedents yesterday, stepping over Commissioner Baker's head and choosing a Commissioner of Accounts to investigate the incident of the night of Jan. 27 in a barber's shop near the East Thirty-fourth Street Ferry, in which two policemen and a woman are said to have figured.

When it became known yesterday that all such complaints which reach the Mayor in the future will be looked into by the Commissioners of Accounts instead of the Police Commissioner there was consternation in the Police Department. The investigation of the Thirty-fourth Street case has uncovered one of the most sensational stories of police misbehavior that has yet come to the attention of the Mayor. Although the utmost secrecy has been maintained by Raymond B. Fosdick, the new Commissioner of Accounts, who has been investigating this case, it was learned yesterday that evidence had been obtained involving many policemen.

Even Baker in the Dark.

With the exception of Policeman John Groves of the East Thirty-fifth Street Station and Policeman John Phelan of Commissioner Fosdick's office, not a member of the Police Department knows just what has come to light during the investigation, which was finished by Mr. Fosdick yesterday. Even Capt. Patrick Cray, who commands the East Thirty-fifth Street Station and who is a brother-in-law of Tammany Leader Charles F. Murphy, has been kept in the dark, he says. And Commissioner Baker knows no more about the matter than does Capt. Cray.

Policeman Groves has appeared twice before the Commissioner of Accounts, once on Tuesday and again yesterday, but what he told Mr. Fosdick will remain a secret until to-day, when a full report of the case will be placed in the hands of Mayor Gaynor. Policeman Groves was on duty at the ferry on the night of Jan. 27, the date named in the charges, but was shifted yesterday by Capt. Cray to the post in St. Gabriel's Park, on First Avenue, and when seen there by a TIMES reporter Groves was so anxious to avoid all inquiries that he denied his identity. He denied that he had ever been on the ferry post or that he knew anything about the East Thirty-fourth Street case.

Police Feign Ignorance.

The inquiry is based on an alleged occurrence in the barber's shop of John Maretto in East Thirty-fourth Street. On that block, in the early part of the evening, two traffic men, besides the patrolman, are on duty. The traffic men who are supposed to have been on the post on Jan. 27 are Policemen Whitsel and Wallock. But both denied yesterday that they knew of any trouble in the barber's shop on that day or night.

From the stories which are going the rounds in the neighborhood of the Long Island Railroad ferries, a well-dressed woman, said to be the wife of a real estate operator in New Jersey appeared on the street between First Avenue and the ferry early in the evening on Jan. 27. She was accompanied by a policeman whose identity has not been discovered. They went to the barber's shop and the woman disappeared. As to what followed accounts differ.

One story which was being told yesterday by those who have places of business near the ferry was that the woman was served with liquor in the barber's shop, and that she and one or two policemen made merry there until nearly 10 o'clock, when she was locked in. According to this story, the woman remained locked in the barber's shop until nearly midnight, when she began to scream for help.

Persons passing on the way to the ferry, so the story goes, heard the woman's cries, and upon investigation saw her leaning out of a transom over the door, and crying lustily for assistance. She is said to have told those who gathered in front of the door that she had been locked in the place by a policeman, and that she had been robbed of her pocketbook containing all the money she had. According to this story, the woman was released by being pulled through the transom, and she went away. No policeman could be found on the post at that time.

There is another version of the story. Many of those who were in their places of business along that part of Thirty-fourth street on the night of Jan. 27 say that the woman had been often seen in the neighborhood hobnobbing with policemen.

Max Berringer, who has a cigar store at 413 East Thirty-fourth Street, said yesterday that he and several friends were playing cards in the rear of the store about 10 o'clock on the night in question, when a newsboy ran in and exclaimed:

"There is a woman in the barber's shop over the way, and she's soused!"

Mr. Berringer and his friends ran out to see the fun. But when they got to Moretto's place the woman had gone. They learned from those in front of the place that Moretto and his assistant, Joseph Marandino, had left the barber's shop just before 10 o'clock, and that the woman entered there with a policeman.

All of the stories were vague, and no details were forthcoming from Commissioner Fosdick and Policeman Phelan. Phelan appeared at the barber's shop early yesterday morning and notified Joseph Marandino, the assistant barber, that he was wanted in the office of Mr. Fosdick, at 280 Broadway. Marandino, after having been questioned for an hour or more by the Commissioner of Accounts, said that he told him nothing. Moretto also refused to talk.

"I know nothing and I say nothing," said Moretto to a reporter.

Further than admitting that his investigation was about complete and that he had sent his report to Mayor Gaynor, Mr. Fosdick refused to discuss the case. Mayor Gaynor had left City Hall for the day when the report arrived there, and it will be given him the first thing this morning.

It is understood that the case was called to the Mayor's attention by a man who witnessed the alleged ill-treatment of the woman. Whether the woman has been interviewed by Mr. Fosdick or not could not be learned yesterday, although it was stated at 280 Broadway that no woman had appeared as a witness there.

Capt. Cray seemed worried yesterday afternoon.

"I have done nothing in this case because it has not been called officially to my attention," he said. "There was no woman arrested here on the night of Jan. 27, and no complaint was made to me. I have not questioned Groves at all about the matter, although I know he has been down before the Commissioner of Accounts."

Police Commissioner Baker was not anxious to talk about the case yesterday. When he was asked why the Mayor had gone over his head and put the investigation in the hands of the Commissioner of Accounts, Mr. Baker replied:

"As to that I have nothing to say."

FALLING WORKMAN CAUGHT.

Rabbitt Saved by Donlevey, Who in Turn Falls and May Die.

A cry of fear from above their heads caused every steel worker on the second floor of the new steel addition to the Otis Elevator Machine Works in Woodworth Avenue, Yonkers, to look up anxiously yesterday afternoon, just before quitting time. They saw John Rabbitt of 318 East 126th Street, who had lost his footing on the fourth floor, hurtling through the air, turning over and over as he fell.

Walter Donlevey was at work on the outside girder on the second floor, and quickly wrapping his legs about this beam of steel, he reached outward into the course through which Rabbitt must fall and caught him.

Donlevey got a clutch on Rabbitt's left arm, and although the wrench nearly twisted him from his perch, he stuck to the girder and held on to Rabbitt. Other workmen hurried to him, shouting encouragement, but just as the foremost was almost within reach Donlevey's strength gave out.

His finger nails had been torn from the flesh and the muscles of his arms were nearly ruptured. Hanging head downward himself Donlevey was little more than conscious, and as his fingers slowly loosed their grip on Rabbitt, letting the man pitch downward again two stories to the ground, Donlevey himself became senseless. His legs relaxed their hold on the girder, and he would have fallen had not other workmen grabbed him just in time.

Donlevey was carried to the ground, and there Rabbitt was found in an unconscious heap. Fellow-workmen were about to summon an ambulance when Dr. Max Fischmann of 80 Warburton Avenue happened along in his buggy.

The physician revived both men and found that Rabbitt's left leg was broken while Donlevey was injured internally from the strain to which he had been subjected. Dr. Fischmann called an ambulance and had both men taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where it was said that Donlevey might die of his injuries, although Rabbitt was almost certain to recover.

FRENCH FLOODS WORSE.

People Along Marne and Aisne Compelled to Flee—Seine Rising.

PARIS, Feb. 9.—Flood conditions in Eastern France are becoming worse. Near Rheims the Marne has risen about 15 inches to-day, and the River Aisne has risen 3 feet within a few hours. The inhabitants of the valley are fleeing with their belongings. The victims of the last flood were just beginning to return to their damaged houses when they were obliged to take flight again.

The Seine has risen 9 inches in this city in twenty-four hours. The Hydrographic Department predicts a continued rise until Friday, when it will reach a height of over 22 feet at Pont Royal and equal the flood level of 1882. It is estimated that the Seine at Paris will remain stationary from Friday until Monday, when it will be augmented to a slight degree by the waters of the Marne and Upper Seine.

Although confident that there is no danger of a repetition of recent conditions, the authorities are taking thorough precautions. The level of the parapets at low places throughout the city is being hastily raised by improvised dikes.

The return of high water threatens to retard greatly the work of repair which is in progress. The waters, which had dropped below the mouths of the sewers, are again pouring into the conduits, drowning the electric light and power lines in the vicinity of the Place de l'Opera. While service has been resumed on several sections of the subway, the management holds out no hope that the main line passing St. Lazare Station will be restored for another month.

LIEGE, Belgium, Feb. 9.—The River Meuse has overflowed its banks, causing great damage. More than 200 houses are under water at Flemalle and Jemeppo, while the suburbs of Liege are inundated.

FRANCE THANKS AMERICANS.

Flood Fund Raised by Metropolitan Opera Is Profoundly Appreciated.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Feb. 9.—Gabriel Astruc, who turned over yesterday to a syndicate of the French press for distribution to victims of the flood the $10,000 remitted to him by the Executive Committee of the Metropolitan Opera, told me to-day that he had received from the chiefs of the French Government assurances of their profound appreciation of this evidence of the generous sympathy of Americans for Paris in her time of misfortune.

The fact is commented on here that the sum in question exceeds any contribution ever made before for a charitable purpose from the proceeds of a single theatrical performance. It is greater than the total amount raised for the same object by the Paris Opera, the Opera Comique, and the Comédie Française combined.

TAFT MAY MEET ROOSEVELT.

Plans for ex-President's Reception Here Include President's Presence.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—President Taft to-day received full information of the details of the plans thus far formulated for the reception to ex-President Roosevelt upon his arrival in New York Harbor some time between June 15 and 21. Col. John A. Stewart, President of the New York State League of Republican Clubs, and representative of the Republican Club of New York City, discussed the matter with the President for half an hour or more and told him that the committee which would be placed in charge of the celebration would undoubtedly extend later an informal invitation to him to be present at New York as the guest of honor.

There is some doubt whether President Taft will be able to take part, but it seems more than likely that he will, as he probably cannot go to Alaska. The plan for President Taft's part in the welcome home is to have him present in New York City, so that Mr. Roosevelt may call upon him, the day's celebration ending with a big banquet, at which President Taft and ex-President Roosevelt will be the principal speakers.

Col. Stewart said that the reception was to be kept free of any suspicion of factional politics, and there was nothing of the "return from Elba" movement connected with it.

BARTENDER GOT BARON'S DIAMONDS

Heirlooms Worth $10,000 Lost by Valet on the Way to Nobleman's Fiancee.

CAUGHT BY REWARD OFFERED

Alleged Confederate Held When He Called at the Plaza—Bartender Says Gems Were Left in His Keeping.

Circumstances surrounding the loss of two black diamond rings, valued at $10,000, heirlooms owned by Baron de Baldinger-Seidenberg of Paris, who is staying at the Plaza, were explained last night by the arrest of Walter Huelsebush, a bartender employed in a saloon at the southwest corner of Sixth Avenue and Fifty-ninth Street, and Rex Loin, an ironworker, of 107 Hudson Street, Hoboken, N. J.

Loin was detained by William McIlwraith, the house detective at the Plaza, at :30 o'clock last night when he applied at the information desk in response to an advertisement offering $100 for the return of the rings, and his arrest followed upon the arrival of Lieut. Patrick Curry from the Central Office.

The Baron arrived here last Friday on the Mauretania, and registered at the Plaza, leaving the same day for Niagara Falls. Before his departure he left the rings in a sealed envelope and instructed his valet, Alfred Gardner, an Englishman, to deliver them at the home of a young woman on Fifth Avenue, near Sixty-first Street, to whom the Baron is said to be engaged.

Instead of making the delivery the valet visited the Great White Way, and ended up at the saloon at Sixth Avenue and Fifty-ninth Street, where he became friendly with the barkeeper, Huelsebush. When the valet woke up the next afternoon at the Plaza he discovered that the rings were missing.

The valet, alarmed over the loss of the rings which he knew had been in possession of the Baldinger-Seidenberg family for several generations, immediately reported their disappearance to McIlwraith.

By questioning the valet McIlwraith ascertained that the Englishman had spent some time on Friday night at the Sixth Avenue saloon, which is just one block distant from the hotel. The valet spoke freely of "his friend, the barkeeper," whom, he told the house detective, was a jolly sort of person. The valet also confided to McIlwraith that he had told the bartender confidentially regarding the sealed envelope containing the rings which he had in his possession.

McIlwath detailed several men to shadow Huelsebush, the bartender, and to find out something regarding his habits and his friends. They found that the bartender lived at 112 River Street, Hoboken, and that he was friendly with Loin, the young ironworker.

A detective was detailed to watch the home of the young woman, in Fifth Avenue, to whom the rings were to be delivered, as there was a possibility of the rings being taken there on account of the address upon the envelope.

An advertisement was also inserted in the newspapers, which read:

> $100 REWARD—Lost last Friday or Saturday morning, between Fifty-fourth and Fifty-ninth Streets, sealed envelope containing two black diamond rings. Return to address on envelope or the Information Desk, Plaza Hotel.

On Sunday, the day the advertisement appeared, the Baron returned from his trip to Niagara Falls. He was greatly disturbed at the loss and had little hope after he heard the valet's story of his Saturday night's experience.

While the detectives were constantly shadowing Huelsebush and also watching the house in Fifth Avenue, it was not until last night that the watch at the Plaza was rewarded by the appearance of Loin.

When Loin was arrested and taken to Police Headquarters he said that he had found the rings on Fifty-ninth Street at 4 o'clock Saturday morning, and that he had thrown the envelope away.

When Huelsebush was placed under arrest half an hour later the detectives told him that Loin had confessed, whereupon the bartender admitted that the rings had been in his possession since Friday night, but that the valet had given them to him for safe keeping.

The Baron was out of town last night when the arrests were made, but he is expected to return in time to-day to appear against the two men when they are arraigned. Huelsebush is charged with grand larceny and Loin will have to answer to the charge of receiving stolen goods.

Much secrecy was made last night over the name of the young woman to whom the rings were being sent when they disappeared, although it was said that she was prominent in social life.

The card of the Baron gives his home as the Château de Mornay in France. He is 25 years old.

CROWD CHEERS GAYNOR.

Nearly 2,000 Waited at the City Hall to Greet Him.

When Mayor Gaynor left City Hall yesterday afternoon to go to the American Museum of Natural History for the dedication of the Morris K. Jesup statue nearly 2,000 persons gathered on the steps and about the front entrance of City Hall and cheered him enthusiastically as he drove away in an automobile.

Dr. Hermon C. Bumpus, the Director of the Museum, came for the Mayor in a limousine car, arriving at the hall just after 3 o'clock.

When the car swung into the Park the crowd had increased greatly. When the Mayor came out with Dr. Bumpus and Lieut. Kennel he stopped short at sight of the people about the door.

"What's all this?" he asked.

"Why, the people just want to get a look at you, that's all," explained Kennel.

"Well, I have gone in and out of here many times a day and never saw anything like this before," commented the Mayor.

His appearance was the signal for shout after shout, and the crowd kept it up until he had entered the car.

The Mayor doffed his hat and acknowledged the reception.

POPE UPHOLDS ACTION IN FAIRBANKS CASE

Could Not Receive American Without Apparently Recognizing Protestant Interference.

FAIRBANKS IS COMMENDED

Receives Many Cablegrams of Congratulation—Rome Paper Wonders What Roosevelt Will Do.

ROME, Feb. 9.—The Pope considered personally to-day the recent incident involving former Vice President Fairbanks, to whom a private audience was refused by the Vatican because he insisted on keeping an earlier engagement to address the Methodist Society here.

The Pope said he regretted that he had not been able to receive Mr. Fairbanks, but that he could not depart from the policy adopted, as to do so would appear to give recognition to the interference of certain Protestant denominations.

Mr. Fairbanks has received many cablegrams from the United States congratulating him on his attitude. One of them says: "Your dignified vindication of American toleration is heartily indorsed." Another says: "The entire Protestant world congratulates you."

Other messages have been received from various places in Italy, among them one saying: "Greatly admire your attitude in preferring to speak to the evangelical people of Rome rather than submit to Vatican intolerance."

The Tribuna, in commenting on the incident, says: "Ex-President Roosevelt is expected here soon. He also has been invited to speak before the Methodists. We shall see whether he prefers the Methodists or the Pope."

Several versions of the incident are in circulation, but Mr. Fairbanks himself gives the following:

"When I reached the American College on Sunday Mgr. Kennedy said that he had been advised from the Vatican that it would be impossible for me to have a Papal audience if I delivered my contemplated address at the American Methodist Church I replied that I had agreed to make an address, and was obliged to keep the agreement; that I had always exercised the privilege of speaking to Catholics and Protestants alike whenever they desired and whenever it was possible, and therefore I regarded the arrangement for the audience as ended.

"I spoke to the students of the American College along patriotic and moral lines, giving the Catholic Church a full share of the credit for the great work accomplished by all the Christian churches. The subject of the Papal audience was suggested again by Mgr. Kennedy a little later. He had received further instructions in the meantime, and said that if I did not speak at the Methodist Church the arrangement for the audience would hold good.

"I replied that I appreciated the intended courtesy, but the alternative was impossible. I would speak as announced, and thus would be obliged to forego the audience with the Pope. When I advised Dr. Tipple, the pastor of the Methodist Church, he said that he was ready to release me from the engagement, but I answered that that was impossible. In the circumstances, I felt obligated to speak in fulfillment of a promise made before the Papal audience was arranged."

ASSAILS METHODIST COLLEGE.

Boston Pilot Accuses It of Vile and Poisonous Methods.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Feb. 9.—Under the caption, "The Fairbanks Incident," The Boston Pilot, official organ of the Archdiocese of Boston, will publish next Saturday an editorial setting forth the rigid etiquette which has always governed visitors to the Vatican. It says that, however unintentionally, Mr. Fairbanks himself created a situation which made it impossible for the Pope to receive him. The article says of the Methodist Cuhrch:

"For twenty years it has filled Rome with the vilest literature against the Papacy and all the Popes, including Pius X. himself. It has bribed poor women, starving in the poor districts of Rome and all Italy, to forsake, at least in appearance, the faith of their fathers and of their nation and of their royal house.

"It has by money and gifts and promises cajoled young men and girls away from their Catholic homes. It has taught them all the poison of its methods—to vilify and calumniate and lie about the clergy, the nuns, the religious institutions—and then has sent this renegade brood of deluded dupes all through Rome and Italy to breed mischief and discord and strife in families and villages where before all was unity and peace.

"More, much more than all this, the Methodist College in Rome has done and still does.

"Mr. Fairbanks doubtless was unaware of all this. Doubtless he thought that the Methodist College of Rome was merely a school where good Methodists, who are good people, are educated, and that in accepting an invitation to address them it was as if he were in America.

"But Mr. Fairbanks's good faith, though doubtless understood by the Vatican, could not change the status of the Methodist College. There was no good faith in that establishment, but only venomous hatred for the Vatican and of the holy old man who resides therein. So it was positively conveyed to Mr. Fairbanks that he must choose either his audience or his address. Both were incompatible with either dignity or decency."

KILLED IN AUTO CRASH.

August Reysen of Astoria in Panhard When It Struck Telegraph Pole.

LYNBROOK, L. I., Feb. 9.—August Reysen of 42 Jamaica Avenue, Astoria, L. I., was instantly killed when an automobile in which he was riding crashed into a telegraph pole in front of the Grand Hotel here at 1:45 A. M. to-day.

In te automobile with him were Henry C. Botzer of Astoria, owner and driver of the car, and Amil Glasser of Long Island City. Glasser and Reysen were in the tonneau of the big Panhard, which came from the direction of Rockaway. From the Grand Hotel they started toward Valley Stream and then changed their minds, attempting to turn toward Hempstead. With the turn of the steering wheel the car skidded and ran into the telegraph pole. All three were thrown out, and Reysen's skull was fractured. The others were not injured.

RICH GIRL A SUICIDE; PARENTS BOTH SLAIN

Miss Floerickey Shoots Herself on Anniversary of Mother's Murder by Father.

WENT TO A MATINEE FIRST

Telephoned to Her Guardian That She Was Tired of Life and Would Follow Her Mother.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 9.—Frances E. Floerickey, a graduate of the Convent of Notre Dame, in Rittenhouse Square, shot herself through the heart in her apartments to-night and thus observed the anniversary of the murder of her mother and the suicide of her father. She was 22 years old.

It was at the same hour of the night on the 9th of February, 1904, that her father, Col. E. F. Floerickey, who commanded a Missouri regiment in the civil war, and who lived in New York and had long been separated from her mother, whose residence was here, begged for a short interview with the latter. The girl Frances had gone to the charity ball—her first, Col. Floriecky wasted no words on his wife, but shot her through the head as she approached him. Then he blew out his own brains.

To-day Miss Floerickey called in the janitor's wife and told her to clean the apartment thoroughly. She said that a great event in her life was about to take place and smiled when the woman guessed variously at marriage and engagements.

Miss Floerickey was left independently wealthy by the tragic death of her parents. Her apartments were handsomely furnished. She lived quite alone and had, apparently, few friends. Most of these were girls who had gone to school with her. Her guardian, Frank B. Stokely, a lawyer, visited her occasionally, and there was one other man, quite unknown to the other tenants, who was apparently devoted to the girl.

Miss Floerickey occupied the entire third floor—six rooms. Of course, the janitor's wife whispered the hint of the wonderful event about to take place in Miss Floerickey's rooms. The neighbors wondered, for she did not entertain.

Played Over Old Tunes.

Miss Floerickey went to a matinée this afternoon. She returned to her apartments, and a Mrs. Schlessinger, who lives in rooms beneath on the second floor, heard her play on the piano. Over and over she played the tunes that she loved and that the neighbors had learned to associate with her. Directly over the piano was a small traveling clock. Miss Floerickey could see the hands move. She often talked of her mother, according to Mrs. Schlessinger.

Precisely at 2 o'clock Miss Floerickey called Mr. Stokely to the telephone at his home, at 1812 South Broad Street.

She told him to pay several little bills, and gave him instructions to take care of her Boston terrier.

"Why do you tell me to do this?" asked Stokely. "Of course I will, but what's the matter with you?"

"I'm terribly tired of this life," she answered. "Mother was just here, and I think I will follow her."

Stokely understood. He called to a friend, and together they called a taxicab and started for the girl's apartments.

Miss Floerickey shot herself with a magazine revolver. Mrs. Schlesinger heard the shot and ran out and called to Trumbower, a policeman. Trumbower found the doors of the apartment locked. He got out on the fire escape and tried a window. This, too, was bolted. He smashed the window and stumbled through, only to sprawl across the bed on which the girl had fallen. It was dark. All the curtains had been drawn. Trumbower pressed the electric button.

Died Grasping Crucifix.

Miss Floerickey, the revolver lying several yards away from her, but with a crucifix tightly grasped in her other hand, was stretched across the bed. Trumbower, not waiting to open the door, called for a patrol through Miss Floerickey's telephone. By this time Mr. Stokely arrived and with him came Dr. John J. Loebrecht of 4,011 Chestnut Street, whom Mrs. Schlesinger had called.

Miss Floerickey was fully dressed, and Dr. Loebrecht made a hasty examination. The girl, however, had been sure of her aim. She probably died instantly.

On the dressing table across the room were two letters. One was addressed to Mrs. Floerickey. In this note Miss Floerickey told her mother that she couldn't bear to see her face in the moonlight smile and fade away. It pleaded with the murdered mother either to come back to her daughter or take her daughter with her.

The other letter was written for all to read. Therein Miss Floerickey told how she had loved to see the face of her mother smile at her in the darkness.

"But I am tired of waiting for her," it ran. "I cannot stand this any longer."

FIFTH AVENUE HAS A FLOOD.

Looked Like Flooded Paris Boulevard at 57th Street Owing to Blocked Sewer.

The vicinity of Fifth Avenue and Fifty-seventh Street was flooded late yesterday afternoon during the rainstorm, and for an hour the avenue took on the appearance of a boulevard in Paris during the recent flood. The collection of water, which was ankle deep, was caused by the clogging of the sewers, and for a while the water extended the entire length of the Cornelius Vanderbilt house at 1 West Fifty-seventh Street.

A veritable lake of back water also lapped the curbing in front of the Harry Payne Whitney house at 2 West Fifty-seventh Street, and pedestrians, unaware of the flood, were seen floundering about here and there.

For almost an hour Patrolman Thomas Boller of the Traffic Squad had his hands full in assisting women through the flooded district. Several men volunteered to carry the women and children across Fifty-seventh Street who were marooned on the sidewalks.

The automobiles which brought callers to the Vanderbilt house, where the Count and Countess Széchényi are visiting, were forced to plow through the waters to the main entrance of the house.

As the street cleaners quit work at 5 o'clock there was no relief in sight until the rain ceased. At the southwest corner of Fifth Avenue and Fifty-seventh Street the water at one time was on a level with the curbing.

Young Officer Also Leaves London—Detectives on Their Trail.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The London Express understands that about ten days ago the wife of a wealthy young nobleman with a foreign title but who is a naturalized Englishman with political aspirations, left her home. She is the sister of a well-known peer who is an officer in one of the crack household regiments.

At the same time a young subaltern of the same regiment, also very wealthy, resigned his commission and went abroad. It is understood that he was a party to the lady's departure.

Private detectives are reported to be hot on the trail of the couple, having reached Marseilles yesterday a few minutes after they had hastily left, it is believed, for Spain.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Feb. 9.—The steamer Sobo, on which Dr. Frederick A. Cook was to sail for Halifax, according to the story told in New York yesterday and attributed to a returning tourist from Bermuda, left to-day, but Dr. Cook was not on board.

It is not believed that the Brooklyn explorer is in Bermuda or has been here. A letter was received here on Jan. 15, addressed to F. Cook, and postmarked Brooklyn. It was held at the Hotel Hamilton until Feb. 1, when it was sent to the dead letter office at Washington.

> The King slept quietly several times during the day, and was able to take liquid nourishment. The pain has almost disappeared, but his Majesty is still fatigued. Temperature, 100.2; pulse, 58.

It was said at the palace that the King's condition was satisfactory.

NO DANGER FROM COMET.

Michigan Astronomer Says There'll Not Be Poison Enough to Kill an Insect.

ANN ARBOR, Feb. 9.—Prof. W. J. Hussey, astronomer of the University of Michigan, to-day ridiculed the idea that any danger to life might result when the earth passes through the tail of Halley's comet.

"All comets are of the same chemical nature," said Prof. Hussey. "The earth has passed through comets' tails before, and no bad effects have been felt. The comet is 14,000,000 miles away, and the cyanogen gas from it will not be sufficient to produce any noticeable effect. It will be like adding one molecule of gas to a large roomful of air. There cannot be any possible danger even to an insect from the small quantity of hydrocyanic acid which might result in the atmosphere. You will find fifty times more of the same gas in any chemical laboratory."

RENO, Nev., Feb. 9.—Mrs. M. Arnold arrived in this city on the Overland Limited Jan. 27, and has rented the cottage on Moran Street, formerly occupied by Margaret Illington, the actress.

Mrs. Arnold is the wife of William E. Arnold of the Hotel Savoy, New York. That she is here to get a divorce is admitted. It is understood that the suit will not be contested, and that property rights have already been adjusted. The couple have no children.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Arnold had been living at the Hotel Savoy recently. It was said at the hotel last night that Mrs. Arnold left there rather unexpectedly some time ago, and that Mr. Arnold left on Tuesday, saying that he would be out of town for a few days.

Unearths Ancient Village.

EL PASO, Texas, Feb. 9.—Another prehistoric village has been discovered in Arizona. Frank C. Erwin, while digging an irrigation ditch fourteen miles from Cochise, unearthed a number of utensils and skeletons and then found a wall twenty feet long and tables bearing remarkable inscriptions.

Work at the place was stopped and the Smithsonian Institution has been notified of the discovery.

NEW GRAFT CHARGE IN THE ALLDS CASE

Osborne Goes on Record as Saying Bridge Companies Raised Bribe Fund in 1903.

POINT DODGED BY LAWYERS

Avoid Further Revelations Indicating Corruption—Moe, Cross-Examined, Is Confused but Not Shaken.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 9.—A definite statement that the bridge companies raised a corruption fund in 1903 to suppress hostile legislation was put to-day into the records of the Senate investigation into the bribery charges made by Senator Benn Conger of Tompkins against Senator Jotham P. Allds of Chenango, the newly elected President pro tem and majority leader of the upper house. This opportunity to open up a new field of investigation into charges of legislative corruption, distinct from the inquiry in hand, which has to do with events in 1901, was not pressed by Martin W. Littleton of counsel for Senator Allds, when he came upon it.

Mr. Littleton at the time was cross-examining Hiram G. Moe, the principal witness for the Conger side, who in his direct examination yesterday swore that he had given an envelope containing $1,000 to Senator Allds on the last day of the 1901 session in payment for the services of the latter in killing legislation objectionable to certain bridge-building concerns in which the Conger family was interested. Mr. Osborne, who has charge of Senator Conger's case, intimated that the incident was not by any means closed, and that he might revert to it later.

Moe Tangled by Lawyer.

This further glimpse into the dealings between bridge builders and law makers came after Mr. Moe had been on the stand for a couple of hours, during which Mr. Littleton, without breaking down any part of the direct testimony given by Mr. Moe, tangled up the witness time and time again.

Mr. Littleton had taken the witness for the opposition over the ground covered in the testimony yesterday, and had reached the point where Mr. Moe had completed his mission to the Capitol on the day it is alleged the distribution of his $6,000 corruption fund occurred.

"Weren't you told that the money was the proceeds from a levy on constituent bridge companies decided on at a meeting held in Syracuse early in 1901?" asked Mr. Littleton.

"No, sir," the witness replied.

"You never heard of that?" reiterated the lawyer.

"No, sir," said Mr. Moe.

"We will concede that such a levy was made and for such a purpose," said Mr. Osborne rising, and addressing Senator Davis of Erie, who occupied the chair.

"Will you enter that upon the record?" asked Mr. Littleton.

"I will, when we get the facts straight," replied Mr. Osborne.

"Oh, enter it, or withdraw your bluff," cried Mr. Littleton.

"I will concede that it was done in 1903," said Mr. Osborne.

There the matter ended for the time being. After the hearing had adjourned for the day Mr. Osborne was asked about his statement, but declined to talk about it further. Senator Conger, too, had nothing to say.

Several Payments Rumored.

According to the reports current at the Capitol immediately after Senator Conger made his charge against Senator Allds at the insurgent caucus Mr. Conger had stated at the caucus that the bridge companies had been confronted with hostile legislation in 1902, 1903, and 1904, and that they had "paid, paid, paid," until 1905, when they had been approached by a member of the Legislature and had declined to contribute further. Thereupon the objectionable bill was passed.

Again to-day the testimony bearing on the $4,000 envelope and the second $1,000 envelope which, according to the testimony, Mr. Moe paid over in addition to the money he declares he gave to Senator Allds, brought the hearing to the verge of disclosures as to the identity of these other men. In each instance the testimony was halted at the very door of the closet containing the legislative skeletons, but that door remained firmly locked.

In one instance it was Mr. Osborne who provided the check. This was when Mr. Littleton was questioning the witness, Moe, with reference to the payment of the second $1,000 bribe which has figured in the case.

Moe had just testified to the payment of the $1,000 which Allds is alleged to have received. With the last envelope remaining in his possession he then went, he said, to the Assembly Chamber.

"Did you deliver the other package in there?" asked Mr. Littleton.

"It was in another room," said Mr. Moe.

"What room?" asked the lawyer. Then Mr. Osborne arose.

Osborne Blocks the Way.

"I object to that, Mr. Littleton," he said. "I object on the ground that the room might tend to indicate the person, unless Mr. Littleton wants to do that."

"Well, do you object?" said Mr. Littleton.

"I object to it on the ground that the person to whom he delivered that other package—"

"Withdraw your objection. Let him go it," interrupted Mr. Osborne's associate, ex-Judge Augustus Van Wyck, in something above a stage whisper.

"Well, I will withdraw it then, I had done—" said Mr. Osborne, when he was interrupted by Mr. Littleton, who put another question to the witness.

"Mr. Moe, did you deliver the other $1,000 in a committee room in the Capitol Building?"

"I don't know whether it was a committee room or not. It was another room. I have learned since what room it was. Mr. Conger told me as we were going home on the train."

"Did you know anything about the committees, the Rules Committee and the other committees, at that time?" asked Mr. Littleton.

"I did not," said the witness.

At that point Mr. Littleton held a whispered conversation with Lewis E. Carr of counsel for Senator Allds. After the consultation the testimony was turned into a new channel, so that no clue as to the identity of one of the other two supposed bribe-takers was developed.

Attacks Story of Witness.

With minute detail Mr. Littleton took the witness over the ground he testified yesterday that he covered on his journey to Albany on April 22 and 23, 1901. From the trend of the investigation it was evident that Mr. Littleton was seeking to prove through his cross-examination that Mr. Moe was not at the capitol on the day he declared he distributed the bridge bribes. The witness could not remember what time he had called at the Groton Bank to draw the money for the $6,500 check, he could not remember when his train left, he did not remember when he reached Syracuse, he gave evasive answers to questions bearing on his trip from that city to Albany and the time of his arrival here. Finally he reiterated his statement of yesterday that he spent the night with Senator Conger in the latter's apartment in Lancaster Street, when the legislative sheets for that year showed that Senator Benn Conger in 1901 lived at 67 Jay Street.

"Now, don't you know that if you would give me the train times it would be easy for me to demonstrate whether or not you were in Albany?" asked Mr. Littleton after he had got his witness to the capitol.

"I can't give you the information," said Mr. Moe.

"Don't you know that the reason you won't give me the train times is because you know that I can demonstrate by them that you were not here at all?" the lawyer shouted.

"No, Sir," the witness replied.

Mr. Moe testified that after the money had been placed in envelopes with the names of those who were to receive the respective amounts on them, as stated in yesterday's testimony, he and Senator Conger went to the Capitol Building.

Tells of First Payment.

This was in the morning before the session had opened. They made their way toward the Assembly Chamber.

Q.—You and Conger went across the Capitol to the Assembly Chamber? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you go in the Assembly Chamber? A.—We didn't then.

Q.—Where did you go? A.—Stopped near the Assembly Chamber.

Q.—In front of the entrance? A.—No, Sir; just before you get to the entrance.

Q.—Did you meet some person there? A.—We did.

Q.—Did you deliver any package to any person there? A.—I did.

Q.—Was it Senator Allds? A.—No, Sir.

Q.—What package was it? A.—The four-thousand-dollar package.

Q.—Where was it delivered, in front of the entrance to the Assembly Chamber? A.—Not exactly in front—I do not think—no, Sir.

Q.—The front or back entrance of the Assembly Chamber? A.—I do not know what you would call the front entrance.

Q.—Now, when you got the $4,000 delivered, where did you go? A.—Went in the Assembly Chamber.

Q.—Did you see any one there that you knew? A.—No, Sir.

Q.—Did you know the man that you gave the $4,000 to? A.—No, Sir.

Q.—Had you ever seen him before? A.—No, Sir.

Q.—Did you ever see him afterward? A.—Only at the session.

Q.—At that particular session? A.—Yes.

Q.—That day? A.—Yes.

Q.—Never again? A.—No, Sir.

Q.—Did you deliver any money to any person in the Assembly Chamber? A.—No, Sir.

Q.—Where did you go from the Assembly Chamber? A.—Back in the corridor, I think it is called.

Q.—Did you meet anybody in that corridor with whom you had had any business? A.—Yes, Sir.

Q.—Did you deliver a package in the corridor? A.—No Sir.

Q.—Did you meet Senator Allds in the corridor? A.—Yes.

Q.—Had you ever seen him before? A.—No, Sir.

Q.—Well, what had you been doing between the time you counted the money and the time you brought it over? A.—Just looking around.

Q.—How much time elapsed between the delivery of the $4,000 package and the time you say you met Senator Allds? A.—I should not think it was more than half an hour.

Says Allds Was Next.

"Now, when you saw a man coming down the corridor when you passed out of the Assembly Chamber what was it you said that Senator Conger said to you?" Mr. Littleton asked. The witness replied that Conger said, "This is Allds coming."

Q.—Well, when you met him, when you came together, what was said? A.—Mr. Conger introduced me to Mr. Allds.

Q.—What did he say? A.—He said, "This man represents my brother," after he had introduced me.

Q.—Yes. Well, go on. A.—He started—Mr. Allds turned around and started back to the committee room. Mr. Conger and Mr. Allds were talking together.

Q.—And you were behind, in the rear? A.—Yes, Sir; one side a little.

Q.—Did you hear what they said? A.—I can't remember.

Q.—Anything they said? A.—I know they were talking.

Q.—Certainly, but anything they said? A.—I can't remember as I did. I don't remember it.

Q.—Where did they walk to? A.—To the room that I have since learned was the committee room.

Q.—What committee room? A.—The Committee of Ways and Means.

Q.—Well, did you go into the room? A.—Not very far.

Q.—Did you go into it at all? A.—Went inside the door.

The witness said Allds entered the room first, he followed him closely, and Senator Conger brought up the rear. The witness and Allds stopped when they were about eight feet from the door. Senator Conger remained outside near the door. Finally the witness spoke, and Senator Allds turned around.

"What did you say?" asked Mr. Littleton.

"I said: 'Mr. Allds, Mr. Frank Conger desired me to hand you this.' I cannot say that these were the exact words."

There was some wrangling between counsel and witness as to whether he had said "Mr. Conger" or "Mr. Frank Conger," but the witness insisted he had mentioned the name of the dead brother of Senator Conger, and had not intended that it should be understood he had Senator Conger in mind. The witness said Mr. Allds on receiving the package said "All right."

Q.—Do you know where Senator Benn Conger was at that time? A.—He stood back of me.

Q.—Then how do you know where he stood? A.—Because I saw as I turned around.

Q.—You don't know whether he saw you dilvering the package or not? A.—He couldn't help but see me.

Denies He Understood Purpose.

The witness declared that he had no knowledge of the purpose for which the money was paid, even when he delivered the envelopes to the legislators, and that he had learned it only on his way home to Groton from Benn Conger. He said he did not like much to talk of his Albany trip or to think of it even.

"Did it not come as a shock to you when you learned the turth?" asked Mr. Littleton.

"Yes," said the witness. "I talked to Senator Conger about it. I said it was too bad it had to be done."

In the course of his examination Mr. Littleton brought out the fact that five years prior to this mission to Albany Mr. Moe had been Superintendent of Sunday school of the Baptist Church in Groton. This brought Mr. Osborne to his feet with an objection on the ground of irrelevancy. Mr. Osborne had said the Court of Appeals had ruled that a man's religious belief is not a proper line of cross-examination.

The cross-examination of Mr. Moe will be continued at 11 o'clock to-morrow.

The entire session to-day was occupied by the cross-examination of Moe, who must have found his experience while in the hands of Mr. Littleton a most trying one. Frequently Mr. Osborne found it necessary to appeal to Chairman Davis to protect his witness, but in every instance the ruling was adverse.

The first sign of confusion in the witness came when he told Mr. Littleton that he resigned as Cashier and Director of the Mechanics' Bank at Groton for the purpose of getting appointed as a State Bank Examiner. This is a civil service place, but Mr. Moe said he had hoped to get it without the formality of an examination. He denied that he had made personal application to Clark Williams, who was then State Superintendent of Banks, for the office or that anybody else had made such application for him.

According to a report current here to-day ex-Senator Thomas C. Platt may be subpoenaed as a witness for Senator Allds when the defense opens its case. Counsel for Allds would neither confirm nor deny the rumor, but it was generally believed.

Before the issue had been joined in the Senate investigation it was reported that Senator Allds, to justify his course in connection with the highway legislation which was pending in 1901, would introduce evidence to show that he had been directed by Mr. Platt to kill the bill. Mr. Platt at that time, while his influence was on the wane, still had a strong claim on the affections and gratitude of many legislators. Mr. Platt and Senator Allds are close political friends.

William A. Smyth, an editor from Owego, Mr. Plat's home town, testified before the Senate yesterday that he had enlisted the aid of Senator Platt with a view of bringing about the defeat of the bill to which the bridge companies objected, and which subsequently was killed. Mr. Smyth identified the signature of Mr. Platt to two letters which it was intimated might be placed in evidence. From letters introduced by Mr. Osborne it was shown that Mr. Platt in fact had taken an active interest in the matter.

PLATT REFUSES TO TALK.

Will Say Nothing of Use of His Name in Allds Case.

Ex-Senator Platt would not discuss the Allds-Conger inquiry yesterday. Callers at the Elmendorf Apartments at 133 West Eleventh Street, at which he has been living for some time with Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Abel, were referred to the latter. She took requests of reporters for an interview to the Senator, and returned with the reply that he did not care to comment on the matter.

"But does he know how his name is being brought into it?" she was asked.

"We read the papers," she replied.

GRISCOM AT ALBANY, TALKS WITH HUGHES

Pays First Visit to Capitol Since His Election as County Chairman.

GOVERNOR TO BE HIS GUEST

Knows of No Plans for Republican Housecleaning—Meets Members of the Legislature.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Feb. 9.—On his first visit to the Capitol since his election as Chairman of the New York County Republican Committee in place of Herbert Parsons, Lloyd C. Griscom was closeted with Gov. Hughes for two hours this evening. The new County Chairman had been a listener at the Senate's investigation of the Allds-Conger bribery case, and at its close he went to the executive chamber and met the Governor in his private office.

"I came to pay my respects to the Governor," Mr. Griscom said as he left the executive chamber. "I also invited him to be my guest with President Taft at my home in New York on Saturday afternoon. Both the Governor and the President will be in New York at that time to attend the Lincoln dinner which the Republican Club will give. I expect to entertain also at that time Chairman Timothy L. Woodruff of the State Committee, the New York Republican leaders, the New York County representatives in Congress, legislators, and Aldermen. My conversation with Gov. Hughes to-day was of a general nature and had no special reference to legislation."

"Have you appointed the committee which the County Committee has authorized to aid in pushing the policies of the Governor?" Mr. Griscom was asked.

"No. I desired to see the Governor first. But I shall appoint the commitee."

"Is there any concerted move on the part of some of the prominent Republicans of the State which might be characterized as a plan to clean house in the Republican organization?"

"None that I know of."

It was said that Postmaster Fred Greiner of Buffalo would call on Mr. Griscom in New York soon, but Mr. Griscom said he had no engagements to meet any of the State leaders.

"Just now I am trying to familiarize myself with the situation in New York, and I find that no slight task," the County Chairman added.

"What particular legislation does the New York County organization favor this year?"

"There is no bill in which the committee is particularly interested." Mr. Griscom replied. "But the committee will try to secure certain amendments to the election law which will improve the conduct of elections in New York."

Several measures introduced at the last session of the Legislature and passed by the Assembly were intended to improve registration and other features of the election system. They were urged by Herbert Parsons, at that time the head of the New York County Republican organization. The bills were defeated in the Senate in the closing hours of the session, and the charge was made that the up-State legislative leaders combined with the New York Democrats to prevent their passage.

To-night, as the guest of Senator George B. Agnew, Mr. Griscom met the Republican members of the Legislature at the Fort Orange Club. He said the meeting was of an informal nature and was arranged to give him an opportunity to meet the legislators.

During the Allds-Conger investigation this afternoon Mr. Griscom occupied a seat at the side of Senator George A. Davis, the presiding officer.

The County Chairman said he would remain in Albany to-morrow to meet the heads of the State departments.

PRIMARIES BILL CHANGED.

Would Make State Committees Larger and Shake Up the Bosses.

ALBANY, Feb. 9.—A radical change has been made in the Direct Nominations bill, to be introduced this week. The change, which is understood to have the approval of Gov. Hughes, would have a substantial bearing on control of the parties.

The bill will provide for State Committees of 150 members, one from each Assembly district. At present the Republican State Committee is composed of 37 members, or one from each Congressional district. The Democratic State Committee is apportioned by Senatorial districts, with a total membership of 51. The change would disturb the power of the present district leaders of both parties.

C. S. Lord Re-elected Regent.

ALBANY, Feb. 9.—Chester S. Lord, managing editor of The New York Sun, was to-day declared elected to succeed himself as Regent of the New York State University in a joint session of the Senate and Assembly. The term is for twelve years, beginning the 1st of April next. Mr. Lord received the unanimous vote of both parties in each House.

BENNET BOOM FOR GOVERNOR.

It Will Be Launched at a Dinner to the Congressman March 14.

The first Gubernatorial boom among city Republicans will be started at Little Hungary, in East Houston Street, on the night of Monday, March 14, at a dinner to be given for Congressman William S. Bennet. The committee which is making arrangements for the affair is a large one, including Executive and Finance Committees, and indicates that something more than the simple holding of a dinner is in mind. The invitations which are being sent out state that the object of the gathering is to compliment Mr. Bennet "in recognition of his valuable services to the people in Congress."

Gustav Hartman is Chairman of the committee and Isaac N. Seligman Treasurer. Edward Lauterbach is Chairman of the Executive Committee. The list of names includes Otto T. Bannard, Alfred Falck, Register Grifenhagen, Abraham Gruber, Secretary of State Koenig, Louis Marshall, Postmaster Morgan, Jacob Newstead, the Rev. Dr. Parkhurst, ex-Deputy Controller Phillips, and Judge Rosalsky.

MISS BROWN HURT IN TAXI.

Cab in Which She Is Going to Theatre Hits Elevated Pillar.

Miss Martha Brown, 24 years old, of 1 West Eighty-second Street, had her face badly cut by broken glass last night when the taxicab in which she was riding crashed into an Elevated pillar at Eighty-first Street and Columbus Avenue. Miss Brown started from her home shortly before 8 o'clock for the theatre in a taxicab driven by Thomas Ryan of 882 Tenth Avenue. Ryan drove to Columbus Avenue, and turned downtown. When he reached Eighty-first Street he turned out to pass a truck, and his machine skidded on the sleet-covered asphalt, and smashed head on into the pillar.

The crash smashed every pane of glass in the machine and threw Miss Brown face down against the glass-covered front seat of the taxi, as well as tossing the chauffeur into the street. Besides receiving several bad bruises, Miss Brown was so severely cut across the forehead that a permanent scar will probably result and her lower lip was gashed. The taxicab was wrecked, but its driver was not hurt.

Miss Brown was assisted to her home by Policeman Kavanaugh of the West Sixty-eighth Street Station and attended there by her physician, Dr. Ernest L. Hicks of 50 West Eighty-third Street. She declined to make a complaint against Ryan and he was not arrested.

Miss Brown is prominent in west side society. Her mother was a teacher in Miss Ely's School for Girls, on Riverside Drive.

INQUIRY INTO HIGH PRICES.

Senate Bill Includes Investigation of All Products and Also Salaries.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The Elkins resolution, as amended, providing for an investigation by a select committee of seven members into the cost of living passed the Senate to-day with several further amendments. Senator Stone of Missouri used the occasion for delivering a long speech on the tariff and the Republican Party and methods in general, and when he concluded the bill was at once put upon its passage.

The membership of the committee will probably be announced to-morrow, and it is understood that the five Republican members will be Senators Lodge, Elkins, McCumber, Smoot, and Crawford.

The various amendments added to the resolution all tended to broaden the scope of the investigation. Hides, leather, and many other articles were added to the resolution by name, and finally Mr. Burton made the scope of the investigation indefinite by saying "any commodities, including," and then following with the items specifically referred to.

The investigation also will cover the questions of salaries, earnings, and the tariff. Not only will prices in the markets be included, but also those at the farm and factory.

MRS. SAGE'S GIFTS TO TEXAS.

Some $150,000 Distributed to Charities There During Trip Across State.

Special to The New York Times.

GALVESTON, Texas, Feb. 9.—In a three-days' journey through Texas, Mrs. Russell Sage, who is on her way to California to enjoy a much-needed rest, made contributions to charity amounting to something like $150,000. It is said, however, that all these gifts were made only after systematic investigation by the representatives of the Sage fund, and were reported some time ago.

The little town of Uvalde got $20,000 for an orphan asylum and school; $25,000 went to a hospital fund at El Paso. Brackettsville Sanitarium got $15,000, which goes a long way toward the $50,000 fund being raised by the citizens of that county. A school fund at Pecos received $15,000, a sanitarium at Boerne $10,000, and a half dozen hospitals and asylums over the State from $1,000 to $3,000 each. Accompanying Mrs. Sage is her nephew, Major Slocum, and Mrs. Slocum, and the party is traveling in a private car.

Mrs. Sage refused to discuss her affairs or to be interviewed at points where the train stopped. She merely announced through Major Slocum that she was on her way to California for a few weeks.

FOUND A $500 BILL.

Picked Up by a Waiter, Who Gets a $50 Tip from the Owner.

A five-hundred-dollar bill fluttered ownerless around the floor of Shanley's Times Square restaurant for a few minutes last night.

Jimmy Cline, one of the waiters, had served a lone diner at one of the tables near the front of the restaurant early in the evening, had received his tip, and watched the back of the diner as he passed out the door. And then, as he began to clear away the dishes, his eyes lit upon that five-hundred-dollar bill. It was shaking in a draft near the chair which had just been vacated.

Jimmy's eyes bulged as he ran after the man who had just left the place.

"Pardon me, but didn't you lose something?" asked Jimmy, with the bill crammed in his pocket. The man replied that he guessed not.

"Didn't lose some money in there?" suggested Jimmy.

The man pulled out a roll of bills and hastily counted them.

"Nope. All here," said the man, and went on his way.

Jimmy went back and handed the bill to the manager.

"I guess some one will be calling for this soon," he said.

An hour passed. Then the man whom Jimmy had served at dinner rushed in. His face was pale.

"I've lost $500 in here," he exclaimed. "I'm sure, because the waiter told me I had lost something and I didn't believe him."

The manager wasn't willing to hand the bill over quite yet.

"How many bills were in the roll?" he asked.

"Only one," replied the man. "It was a five-hundred-dollar bill."

At that the manager fished out the bill and handed it over. Jimmy was close by. The stranger pulled out his roll and peeled off $50 in fives and tens.

"Here, this is yours," he said and pressed them into Jimmy's hand.

That is about the biggest tip ever received in Shanley's.

Prof. McKenzie to Lecture at Waldorf.

Prof. Kenneth McKenzie of the Department of Romance Languages in Yale will give six lectures on Italian literature at the Waldorf-Astoria on successive Thursday afternoons at 3 o'clock, beginning to-day. This afternoon Prof. McKenzie will talk on "Dante and Beatrice in Florence," and next week his subject will be "Dante and Beatrice in Paradise." The remaining lectures will deal with contemporary Italian dramatists and novelists.

PUBLICITY TO CURE CORPORATION EVILS

Commissioner Smith Says Regular Reports Should Be Made to Federal Agency.

MUCH GOOD ALREADY DONE

Favors National Supervision by Means of Authorized Investigation of Affairs of Inter-State Industries.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Great inter-State industries can be brought under permanent Federal supervision through a system of regular reports to a Federal agency, in a rational effective way, which will involve no drastic action, but, on the contrary, will forestall it. Such is the conclusion drawn in the annual report of Herbert Knox Smith, Commissioner of Corporations, to the Secretary of Commerce and Labor, which was made public to-day.

"The deepest interest of this generation," says Mr. Smith's report, "lies in the control of its dominant commercial forces. The issue is moral, involving deeply our American ideal of equal opportunity under the law. It is financial, and on its outcome depends the ultimate stability of our business system.

"The corporation has concentrated enormous commercial power in the hands of a few men. At the same time it has lessened their personal responsibility for the proper use of that power. Sense of personal obligation to the community becomes submerged in vast corporate entities. The resulting abuses call for some restraint that shall take the place of the old personal obligation. Government supervision and publicity of corporations must be that substitute.

"The issue is National; action by the Federal Government is imperative under its unquestioned power and duty to regulate inter-State commerce. The Federal Government is the only adequate authority; one of the primary motives for its creation was for a National control of National business. Those directing our great corporations have deliberately nationalized them in size and scope; they cannot now be heard to object to a centralized control which they themselves have made necessary.

"A significant process of evolution is going on within our commercial organization. Two types of corporate managers are struggling for its control. The one (like most business men) bases his success upon increasing the efficiency of his organization. The other succeeds, not by his own merit, but by crippling the efficiency of competitors; by railway rebates, by unfair competition, by commercial oppression, by public rights monopolized for private gain; not by giving better service, but by unfairly preventing others from giving any service.

"The Bureau of Corporations has proved by results that its methods are fit for broad application. Under the public condemnation thus made possible by facts plainly stated, great corporate abuses have been abandoned. A sweeping system of railroad rate discriminations has been voluntarily canceled by the railroads involved, and numerous forms of commercial oppression have diminished. Corporate managers themselves are frankly advocating more open accounting. One by one the great silent corporations are seeking public confidence by adopting a new policy of publicity.

"The situation is thus ready for a complete system where (1) all important interstate commerce corporations shall regularly make reports to a Federal agency; where (2) that agency shall have the further right to verify and extend the facts presented; where (3) business transactions of public interest shall be made public, safeguarding at the same time all proper business secrets; where (4) there will be a permanent meeting ground for co-operation and adjustment between the Government and business interests; and (5) whereby those corporations that deal fairly and openly shall correspondingly acquire public confidence and support.

CANNON WORSTS SULZER.

Rules George Washington, in New Yorker's Company, Out of Order.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—A bill to present to Emperor William of Germany a copy of the statue of Gen. von Steuben, to be erected by the Government in Washington, was discussed in the House to-day. The gift is to be made in return for the Kaiser's gift of the statue of Frederick the Great, which now stands in front of the Army War College here.

Representative Bartholdt of Missouri, author of the measure, asked prompt action, so that the statute might be ready by May, and be presented by Mr. Roosevelt on his visit to Germany.

Representative Sulzer of New York proposed to substitute a statue of Washington. This motion was ruled out of order by Speaker Cannon.

"Then," retorted Mr. Sulzer, "does the Speaker rule that George Washington is out of order?"

CUSTOMS POST FOR KRACKE.

Brooklyn Republican Is Named as Naval Officer of the Port.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—President Taft to-day sent to the Senate the nomination of Frederick J. H. Kracke, to be Naval Officer of Customs at New York, and it was confirmed.

Frederick J. H. Kracke, who was born in New York in 1868, was educated in the public schools and the Collegiate High School. He was for ten years Assistant Commissioner of Agriculture in this State. He is a member of the Republican State Executive Committee and General Committee, as well as of the Republican Executive Committee of Kings County. He has represented the State at various times at agricultural conventions.

LOW RATES FOR SEVEN LANDS.

Taft Issues Proclamations Extending Minimum Tariff Schedules.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—President Taft issued proclamations to-day stating that the following named countries do not unduly discriminate against goods imported from the United States, and therefore are entitled to the minimum rates of the new tariff: Argentina, Brazil, Uruguay, Paraguay, Mexico, Panama, and Liberia.

These proclamations make a total of about twenty that have been issued within the last month and still leave undetermined what treatment shall be accorded the seventy-five or eighty remaining countries. In cases where it is found that discriminations are made against American goods the maximum tariff will go into operation on March 31. It is assumed that the entire list will be disposed of before that time.

DROP TAX DELAY RESOLUTION.

Senate Will Not Act to Allow Corporations Sixty Days' Grace.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—It is now evident that the resolution introduced by Senator Overman of North Carolina postponing until sixty days after its passage the time for corporations to make their returns pending the decision by the Supreme Court of the constitutionality of the corporation tax will not be acted on in the Senate. Mr. Overman has so advised his constituents and suggested that their only hope was to have the matter brought up in the House.

PRINCETON STUDENTS' VIEW.

College Organ Gives Undergraduate Feeling on Procter Dispute.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 9.—The Daily Princetonian, an undergraduate publication of Princeton University, will publish an editorial to-morrow morning voicing sentiment of the undergraduates in the graduate school controversy. This comes before an important meeting of the Board of Trustees in the afternoon. The editorial writer conferred with both Dean West and President Wilson in reaching his conclusions, so what he says may be considered authoritative. The editorial says in part:

"Dean West believes in a college entirely composed of graduates. He sees the matter primarily from the graduate student's standpoint. President Wilson, after the experience gained in watching developments at Merwick since its foundation, has changed his ideas on this point, and now thinks that upper classmen should be allowed to live in the same buildings with the graduates. This does not mean that they should in any sense dominate the college, but that the few undergraduates who might so desire might be allowed to live there.

"A fair-minded observer would say that Dean West's report had the sanction of the Trustees, whether or not they have ever adopted it as a body. Mr. Proctor's ideas upon what the proposed college should embody are gained from this report. He overlooked the fact that central location was as essential in the plan as first outlined, and that subsequent experience at Merwick has convinced President Wilson and a majority of the committees of both Faculty and Trustees that it is, more than ever, necessary.

"Rumors of resignation have been plentiful, but we sincerely hope that there is no need for even a thought of such a thing on the part of any one."

Faculty, alumni, and undergraduates of this institution are aroused to a high pitch of interest and are somewhat apprehensive as to the outcome of the meeting to-morrow. It is not thought likely that President Wilson's resignation will be dis-

A number of Trustees of Princeton arrived to-night for the special meeting to-morrow, which promises to be one of the most interesting in the history of the institution. A final adjustment is expected of the differences of opinion between President Woodrow Wilson and Dean Andrew F. West.

The special committee of five appointed to mage a report on the case will present only a non-partisan statement, it has been learned.

DARES POLICEMAN TO HIT HIM.

Whereupon Youth Is Asked If He Has a "Gaynor Fit."

Patrolman Theodore Weidann of the Arsenal Squad saw a young man and girl sitting on a rock in Central Park, near East Sixty-fifth Street, at 12:15 o'clock yesterday morning. He told them to "beat it," as no one was allowed in the Park after midnight. They showed no inclination to go, and, according to the youth, James Mulcahy of 223 East Forty-third Street, who was taken to the Night Court, the policeman threatened to club him. The young man dared him to Thereupon, said Mulcahy, Weidann asked gruffly:

"What's eating you? Have you a Gaynor fit?"

At this point a pretty girl came into court.

"Is she your companion?" asked the Magistrate.

"She is," said Mulcahy.

She said she was Bessie Moore, 18, a model, living with her parents at 1,477 Madison Avenue. They knew she was with Mulcahy. She corroborated the prisoner's story of the altercation with Weidann.

Magistrate O'Connor decided that Mulcahy had been guilty of disorderly conduct in daring the policeman to assault him, and fined him $2. The young man had no money, and the girl came to the rescue with a two-dollar bill. The two left court arm in arm.

MALONEY SUCCEEDS WILLIS.

Mayor Appoints Newspaper Reporter as His Executive Secretary.

The Mayor appointed William B. Maloney, a newspaper man and magazine writer, as his executive secretary yesterday, to succeed William A. Willis, whom he recently removed on charges of having changed the names of newspapers in which city advertising was to appear after they had been designated by the Board of City Record. The position pays a salary of $6,000 a year.

One of the most important of the Mayor's callers during the day was Supreme Court Justice Betts of Kingston, who has appointed many of the Condemnation Commissioners on the Catskill water works. He called by appointment, and discussed at length with the Mayor the present system of condemnation of land to be acquired by the city for this and similar purposes.

Peacock, Pittsburg Millionaire, Beat the Men Who Robbed Him.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 9.—Alexander R. Peacock, one of Andrew Carnegie's thirty "young partners," has again astonished Pittsburg. Finding that some of his employes had, as alleged, squandered about $25,000 of his money he is said to have locked himself in a room with each of these men, one at a time, and beat them soundly with his fists. Then he drove them from his office. He declines to prosecute them.

The discharged employes of Peacock for a year have been living extravagantly. Some months ago Mr. Peacock became fearful that something was wrong, and he employed detectives to trail his employes. It required only a few days of investigation by Mr. Peacock to find that from the particular branch of his business in which these men were employed there had been $250,000 in profits in the last year which he had never seen.

One of these employes, on his escape from Peacock's office, declared he had been knocked down nine times.

Becomes President of $10,000,000 Cotton Corporation.

John Hays Hammond, formerly consulting engineer of the Guggenheim properties, has been elected President of the General Cotton Securities Company, a $10,000,000 Delaware corporation, recently organized by Daniel J. Sully and some of his friends.

Mr. Sully, whose failure after carrying cotton to 17½ cents per pound in 1904 is still a record smash in the New York cotton trade, has been elected Vice President of the company. The corporation's avowed object is the improvement of ginning, farming, and warehousing methods.

TO MAKE PEARY A REAR ADMIRAL

Senate Passes Bill Conferring Rank as Recognition of North Pole Discovery

IDENTICAL BILL IN HOUSE

Expected to Pass Promptly and Receive President's Signature with Navy Department's Indorsement.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The Hale bill making Commander Peary, the discoverer of the north pole, a Rear Admiral, and retiring him with that rank in recognition of his great achievement, passed the Senate to-day by a unanimous vote, and will probably go through the House without much delay. A committee amendment to the original resolution specifies that Mr. Peary shall receive the highest pay of the retired rank conferred upon him. This means that Mr. Peary will draw for life an annual salary of $5,625.

In order not to retard the advancement of other naval officers over whose heads Mr. Peary will be raised, the bill provides that he shall receive a special number in the grade of Rear Admirals so that promotion by seniority can go on unimpeded.

From the telegram sent by President Taft to the New York meeting last night it is expected that the President will be ready to sign the measure as soon as it is presented to him. The Navy Department is giving its indorsement to the proposition.

There has been some informal discussion among the members of the Board of Managers of the National Geographic Society to-day of the best means of raising the $50,000 fund which the society has undertaken to procure for the south polar expedition in Peary's ship the Roosevelt. A special meeting of the Board of Managers will be held very soon for consideration of the method to be adopted.

The society now has a membership exceeding 55,000, and the feeling among the managers is that there will be no difficulty in raising the $50,000 among the members of the society. It is the expectation that the $10,000 presented to Commander Peary at the New York meeting last night and by him devoted to the south polar expedition will not be taken as part of the society's $50,000 fund, but will be devoted to expenses in excess of that sum.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 9.—"It is a great honor to myself and my family," said Commander Robert E. Peary this evening when he alighted from the Knickerbocker Limited, and was informed that a bill making him a Rear Admiral had been passed by the United States Senate to-day.

Peary passed through the crowd at the Union station unrecognized.

The Board of Trade gave him a reception following his lecture, which was delivered in Infantry Hall.

CHAUFFEUR GOT BLACKMAIL.

Harlem Police Searching for Man Concerned in Double Extortion Case.

At the request of Detective Meyers of the Harlem Detective Bureau, the examination of Bennett C. Silver of 328 East Fifty-seventh Street, who is charged with attempting to extort $2,000 from Henry C. Cohen, a rich commission merchant of 212 West 137th Street, was adjourned by Magistrate Butts in the Harlem Court yesterday until Friday. Another alleged victim of the man has been found in the person of Harris Cohen, a real estate dealer, who lives at 21 West Sixty-ninth Street.

Harris Cohen was in court to-day, but was not called upon to testify. Detective Meyers told Magistrate Butts that Mr. Cohen had received a number of letters previous to Dec. 23 last, threatening that his little son would be killed and his house wrecked by a bomb unless he sent $2,000 to the writer of the letters.

As in the case of Henry C. Cohen, Harris Cohen was directed to deliver the money in five-dollar notes to a chauffeur who would call for it in a taxicab. Mr. Cohen, Meyers said, did as he was directed, fearing that harm would come to his son. The chauffeur to whom the money was delivered was followed by private detectives to the Hotel Albany, where he was seen to turn the package over to a man and a woman. They did not make any arrests, having been ordered not to do so.

The detective told the Magistrate that the letters written to Harris Cohen were identical with those sent to Henry C. Cohen. He asked for the further adjournment of the case so that he could have the chauffeur who received the money from Harris Cohen and paid it over to the persons at the hotel in court. Bail was fixed at $3,000.

PLOTTED TO STEAL $1,600,000

Crazy Sailor After Bullion on Board Ship—Dime Novel Scheme Thwarted.

The Hamburg-American line steamship Galicia got here from Rio de Janeiro a few days ago. While in that port Peter Nieman, who shipped here, and whom some of the crew believe to have been a cowboy, was arrested, charged with plotting to steal $1,600,000 in gold which the vessel carried, kill the officers, and then run the vessel ashore and divide the tresure.

The Galicia sailed from here on Nov. 10. She carried $1,600,000, most of which was shipped by the banking firm of G. Amsinck & Co. of 6 Hanover Street. This gold was locked in a strong room near the quarters of Capt. Albert Bormeister. When the vessel was about a week on her way south Nieman began to sound the crew as to their willingness to kill the officers and scuttle the ship.

When the vessel was nearing Pernambuco one of the crew told the skipper. Nieman was at once put in irons, and when the vessel reached Rio Janeiro he was turned over to the German Consul to be sent to Germany. He will either be tried for violation of the law in inciting to mutiny or he will be adjudged insane.

A LITTLE GIRL STRANGLED.

A Tailor, Friend of Her Family, Is Arrested in Newark.

The body of a five-year-old girl, Sadie Tishowitz, who had been missing from her parents' home in Newark, N. J., for twelve hours, was found yesterday in an old barn at the rear of 27 Jones Street, Newark. The child had been strangled to death with part of her dress. Clutched tightly in her hand was a penny, which is thought to have been used to lure her to the spot.

While the neighborhood was in a frenzy of excitement and bands of men in lynching spirit were searching, the Newark police made a quiet arrest of a neighbor and friend of the dead child's family. The arrest was made after a general alarm had been sent out to all police precincts in Newark and a score of detectives were at work on the case. The man arrested was Stefan Mycgefm, a tailor.

SPARROWS
The Story of an Unprotected Girl
by HORACE W. C. NEWTE
ABOUT three months ago a novel by Horace W. C. Newte was published in London which, from the very hour of its publication, caused a profound sensation. It was called "Sparrows: The Story of an Unprotected Girl," and it created as great a sensation in noveldom as Eugene Walter's "The Easiest Way" ever did among plays. Here is a story so absorbing that, although it is 533 pages long, the reader cannot bring himself to skip a word of it. Nearly fifty characters appear in it, and yet each one is limned and carved in such a vital way that it stands out as clear as a silhouette. Here in America, where this book has only been on the market for a month, its success has been remarkable and it is growing greater every day.—Acton Davies in The Evening Sun.

POISON KILLED SWOPE IS JURY'S VERDICT

Decides at Inquest That Strychnine Given at Hyde's Instance Ended His Life.

REFUSES TO IMPUTE INTENT

Hyde Declines to Testify and Prosecutor Will Not Say Whether He Will Seek to Indict Physician.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 9.—Col. Thomas H. Swope came to his death by reason of strychnine administered in a capsule at the instance of Dr. B. C. Hyde, husband of the dead millionaire's niece, according to the verdict of the Coroner's jury in Independence to-day. Whether the drug was administered with felonious intent the jury said in its verdict it was unable to determine. The jury was out little more than an hour. One ballot only was necessary to agreement.

Dr. Hyde was present when the verdict was returned. After hearing it read he turned to his attorney and asked: "What does it mean?"

Mr. Cleary explained the verdict.

"I see," he said simply.

Then he asked his attorneys to go to luncheon with him, and a moment later they left the building.

Dr. Hyde had refused to testify or even be sworn during the inquest. The eyes of jurymen, spectators, witnesses, and even the official stenographers were riveted on the physician, who had been with Col. Swope the day he died, when Coroner Zwart looked at a piece of paper containing the list of witnesses. His lips were just beginning to frame the name of Dr. Hyde when Frank P. Walsh, Dr. Hyde's attorney, rose and said:

"The attorneys for Dr. Hyde have advised him not to testify. We do not care to have him testify here, and therefore, at our suggestion, he must decline to be sworn."

Presecutor Conkling and Coroner Zwart insisted, but Attorney Walsh refused to let Hyde testify.

Dr. Hyde was then excused and Miss Pearl Kellar, the nurse, was recalled.

At the request of the Coroner Miss Kellar again detailed that part of her story of yesterday, in which she described the condition of Col. Swope between the time of his death and his taking the capsule prescribed by Dr. Hyde. Miss Kellar also described Col. Swope's first convulsion.

There were numerous and hurried consultations between attorneys for the State and Dr. Hyde and his legal advisers, and rumors regarding probable prosecution were plentiful to-night, but the case stands just as it did when the Coroner's jury returned its verdict.

Prosecutor Virgil Conkling refused to discuss his plans for the future. He and Henry L. Jost, First Assistant Circuit Attorney, who has done most of the investigating for the State Attorney's office in the Swope mystery, will confer to-morrow.

It is said to-night that Coroner B. H. Zwart will begin an inquest over Christman Swope's body as soon as the official report of the physicians who are examining the stomach and liver is received. J. E. Trogden, the Coroner's attorney, would not commit himself on this rumor.

Dr. Hyde and his attorneys, John M. Cleary and Frank P. Walsh, spent the evening together at the physician's home. They made no statement. Mrs. Hyde is seriously ill, and Dr. Hyde is devoting all his spare time to her.

Dr. Hyde's suit, pending against Attorney John G. Paxton, Dr. Frank Hall, and Dr. Edward L. Stewart for damages for $600,000 for alleged libel, will be dismissed if Dr. Hyde is pressed for depositions in the case now, it is reported to-night. It is expected that the deposition contest, which waged so fiercely last week, will begin anew now that the Coroner's inquest is over.

Attorney Walsh, explaining why he had not allowed Dr. Hyde to testify to-day, made this statement before the verdict:

"The evidence in the investigation before the Coroner's jury was not such as to impress counsel for Dr. Hyde with the belief that anything of a substantial nature has been shown to discredit his statement that he is not responsible by accident nor design for the death of Col. Swope, or that the death resulted from other than natural causes."

MRS. LUSTIG DIED OF POISON.

Physician So Testifies Before Coroner, Who Holds Lustig Prisoner.

A searching inquiry concerning the death of Rhoda Irene Lustig began yesterday before Coroner Feinberg in the Coroners' Court, where Maurice Lustig, husband of the dead woman, who is a prisoner, charged with poisoning his wife with strychnine, sat unmoved. Lustig was arrested on Jan. 3 after an anonymous letter informed the Coroners' office that Lustig had attempted to buy strychnine from several druggists, and had also attempted to collect $3,000 insurance money on his wife's life.

Mrs. Lustig died on Oct. 28 last. Dr. Charles Phillips, who had been in attendance, issued a certificate of death from spinal meningitis. But on receipt of the first anonymous letter the funeral was held up by Coroner Dooley. After questioning the doctor and Lustig, Coroner Dooley permitted the body to be buried in Milroy, Penn., on Nov. 1. But the anonymous letters kept on coming to the Coroners' office. Recently Dr. E. E. Smith was sent to Milroy, the body was exhumed, and an examination disclosed strychnine in the woman's liver and spleen.

Dr. Smith, who is a pathologist, living at 26 East Twenty-ninth Street, testified yesterday that nothing else than strychnine could have caused the woman's death. Dr. Isaac I. Platz of 1,722 Madison Avenue said that he was called to attend Mrs. Lustig before Dr. Phillips got there, and that he prescribed no medicine which contained strychnine.

Dr. Phillips told yesterday of the scene in Lustig's house when Mrs. Lustig died. He said that Lustig appeared to be deeply affected and threw himself on the death bed, calling to his dead wife to speak to him.

PLANS NIGHT TENEMENT TOUR.

Commissioner Murphy Has a Surprise for Violators of the Law.

For the first time on record the 100 or more Tenement House Inspectors under Commissioner John J. Murphy started out from Headquarters at 44 East Twenty-third Street at 10:30 o'clock last night on a surprise inspection throughout the Manhattan districts, to investigate with a view to prosecutions for failure to maintain night hall lights and for blocking egress to the roof by locked scuttle and doors.

Many complaints have been received by the department showing a lax observance of these provisions of the tenement house laws, but Commissioner Murphy in line with his reform activity since accepting office under Mayor Gaynor, plans to bring about a strict compliance to the end of the public safety.

The Commissioner called his Inspectors into conference yesterday, told them of his scheme for making periodical night inspections throughout his administration, and asked for volunteers for the first night's work. Practically every Inspector volunteered, and as a reward for his night services, for which he will not receive extra pay, each man will get a day off at convenient times.

Particular attention to-night will be given to the east side districts. Commissioner Murphy will personally direct the investigations, and will meet his men at 12:30 o'clock at Grand and Allen Streets to receive reports and confer regarding further work.

PINCHOT ATTACKS SOLICITOR M'CABE

Declares His Order Withdrawing Funds from Forestry Schools Was Done in Secret.

CRITICISES BALLINGER BILLS

Fears a Decided Check to Conservation Movement If They Are Passed —Arts Club Cheers Him.

Gifford Pinchot, who was dismissed as Chief Forester early last month at the direction of President Taft at the height of what has come to be known as the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy, said last night that the movement looking toward the conservation of the natural resources of the United States was at a critical and not encouraging moment now, since it has arrayed against it organized wealth and organized politics. He declared also that the stories printed in the middle of January to the effect that under his administration a number of forestry students were being illegally maintained at college were untrue. In doing so he attacked Solicitor McCabe's motives in withdrawing Government funds from the universities where these young foresters studied.

Mr. Pinchot was the guest of honor at a dinner given by the members of the National Arts Club at 14 Gramercy Park. He spoke as the President of the National Conservation Association.

Walter H. Page, presiding, traced the history of the conservation movement from its beginning under President Roosevelt. He said it was the greatest policy that has come from a President's mind since Lincoln. He quoted Roosevelt as saying that the conservation plan could not have been conceived, could not have been put into working order without Mr. Pinchot.

"We are here to pay our respects to a great leader," said Mr. Page. Mr. Pinchot's health was drunk by the guests standing.

Dr. Lyman D. Abbott said that Mr. Pinchot had taught the people of this country three things: (1) That the land belongs to the people, and that it cannot be transferred unless the people themselves give it; (2) that there is great virtue in National energy, thrift, and enterprise, as well as individual energy, thrift, and enterprise, and (3) that the beauty that God has given the people of the country is as valuable and as worthy of saving and treasuring as man-made beauty, represented, for instance, by the paintings which the speaker found all around him.

Mr. Pinchot paid a tribute to the men in the service under him, who, he said, were just as much entitled to credit for what his bureau had accomplished as he had been himself.

He believed the conservation movement had reached a most critical and discouraging moment. It has now arrayed against it organized wealth and organized politics. There are nine bills already introduced in the Senate, known as the Ballinger bills, he went on, and three of them were very bad. If the bad bills weren't robbed of their evil parts, he said, the movement would receive a decided check. He wanted the country to arouse to the importance of getting through Congress the Nelson amendment to one of the Ballinger bills. He ran through all of them.

The idea of conservation as a good thing, he said, had won its victory; the fight now was to see who was to get the benefit of the conservation, the people or a privileged few. He was for the people.

Referring to the allegation that under him students had illegally been maintained at colleges at the public expense, he said:

"Money is appropriated in the Agricultural bill for 'all expenses necessary for the administration, protection, and improvement of the National forests.' The expenditure of public funds for ranger schools conducted, attended, and taught wholly at Government expense is recognized as clearly within the law. Money spent for ranger schools at State universities is in precisely the same legal position. The only difference is that such schools cost the Government less for teaching.

"Under this state of facts, suddenly the law was invoked to stop the training of the rangers. It happened thus: Upon my dismissal Solicitor McCabe of the Department of Agriculture, pending the arrival of another officer from the field, was made Acting Forester for three or four days. It appears that he learned then of the ranger schools at the four State universities, and sent telegrams to the disbursing officers in the field to pay no expenses connected with them.

"These telegrams were kept secret from every member of the service in Washington, except the stenographer who wrote them. With equal concealment from all the men in the Forest Service a letter was prepared and sent to Controller Tracewell of the Treasury Department, asking for 'a speedy advance decision' as to the legality of the ranger schools. This letter was clearly intended, and was so framed as to secure a decision against the schools, and it was successful in doing so.

"I am not concerned with the motive behind this indefensible sacrifice of the public welfare. It is a typical illustration of a certain way to 'obey the law.' Of course, it is not obedience to the law at all, but the prostitution of the law. It is the method so effectively used by the special interests against the people, and there is nothing to be said in its favor.

"If the spirit of the Forest Service, and especially of the rangers, were less admirable, the harm done to the National forests by the decision so obtained would be incalculable. But the fine loyalty of these rangers to their work is shown by the fact that about half of them have stayed on at the ranger schools at their own expense in order the better to learn their public duties. [Applause.]

"It would be hard to find a better or a more bitter illustration of the use of the law as a cover for not doing what a public officer has a right to do, and what the public interests demands that he shall do. I submit the two points of view to your judgment, and am content to abide by your decision."

Charge Untrue, Says Mr. McCabe.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—"Absolutely untrue," is the manner in which George P. McCabe, Solicitor for the Department of Agriculture, characterized the charge made by former Chief Forester Pinchot in New York to-night that he, McCabe, had shut off the instruction of forest rangers without consulting any one in the forest service.

STEPHEN WHITE HAS COUNSEL

Tried to be Own Lawyer in Suit by Customer, but Misdrew Papers.

Stephen V. White of the brokerage house of S. V. White & Co and Deacon of Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, is sorry now he tried to act as his own attorney in the $6,000 suit brought against his firm by Mrs. Frances H. Sands. He discovered just before the suit came to trial that the papers he had drawn in his own behalf cut the grounds of a defense from beneath his own feet. He came into court yesterday with Blair & Rudd, his eleventh-hour attorneys, and asked Judge Platzek for permission to submit an amended answer. The permission was granted.

The suit is for moneys deposited with the firm for a margin account April 1, 1901. The account was sold out, the firm alleges, on May 10, 1901, with a $2,160 loss, because the stock was falling and Mrs. Sands's margins were wiped out. Mrs. Sands brought suit before for $15,050 which, she claimed, would have been her profits if the firm had held the stock for a rise which followed later in the month. She lost this action and has brought suit this time on the allegation that White & Co. had guaranteed her against loss.

Buy a Hardman Piano Before the Prices are Advanced

On March first, a higher scale of prices will take effect. Until then you can buy a new Hardman Grand or a new Hardman Upright Piano at a lower price than it can ever be bought for again.

If you want to buy a piano that possesses a tonal quality which has won for it the unqualified praise of the leading musicians of the world, you will take advantage of this opportunity.

Why the Price of the Hardman is Advanced The advance in price of the Hardman Piano is attributable wholly to the fact that the price at which it has been sold is too low to cover the cost of production of an instrument which requires in its making such exacting care and attention.

If you have read advertisements which offer you Pianos at very low prices, and have been influenced to purchase instruments because they are cheap, bear this in mind:—a Piano that sells at a low price must be made entirely by workmen whose labor is paid for by contract.

Labor bought in this way encourages speed, rather than care, and in the finished product it is always possible to demonstrate how by these methods the artistic value that belongs to a Piano is sacrificed.

The Production of the Hardman Piano Every vital part of a Hardman Piano, on the other hand, is produced by skilled craftsmen, who are paid by the day to do during the day the best that their skill permits. There is no advantage to the workman who is engaged in his part of the production of a Hardman Piano to hurry or to slight any detail.

His one thought and object, his every instruction from us, the makers, is that what we shall produce must be of its kind the very best obtainable.

This kind of labor is costly; so costly that we have found it impossible to continue to produce and sell Hardman Pianos at present prices, and keep them up to the standard which has made the Hardman world famous since 1842.

Those Who Need a Grand Piano Those whose musical development has reached the point where an Upright Piano will no longer give the fullest latitude for their interpretation of classical masterpieces are particularly urged to consider how important this sale is to them, for it presents an opportunity to secure New York's finest Art Product in Grand Pianos at a remarkably reasonable price.

To Prospective Purchasers of New Pianos The purchase of a piano is a matter of importance. Consider carefully what we have said in this advertisement.

The Hardman Piano,—New York's finest Art Product—has been selected for their own use, by practically all the Artists of both The Metropolitan and Manhattan Opera Companies. There is no instrument of higher Art Value. It is impossible to get a piano of anything like the same type—of anything like equal quality at so little as the Hardman at its present price, and you can never buy a Hardman for these prices after March 1st.

Hardman Prices are FIXED. Every instrument is marked in plain figures and the price is never varied on any pretext whatever.

A Liberal Allowance for Your Old Piano If you own an old Piano we will make a liberal allowance if you exchange it for a Hardman.

Here are the prices at which you can buy a Hardman Piano today. The Lowest Price at which a piano of the highest type has ever been sold. Lower by far than Hardman prices will ever be again.

STOCK PRICES RALLY TO FORMER LEVEL

Recovery Brings Them Back to Where They Were Before Monday's Slump Set In.

STRONG FROM THE OPENING

Market Crowded with Buying Orders and Advance Sustained Despite Bear Attacks.

A recovery in yesterday's stock market was correspondingly as sharp as the slump which ushered in the week's trading, and the closing levels, which were about the highest of the day, showed gains from the low levels of Monday which were only, on an average a trifle less than the slump of that day. Some stocks, however, such as United States Steel, American Smelting, Amalgamated Copper, Southern Pacific, and Union Pacific, failed to rally to the full, although their net gains ranged from 2 to 3⅛ points.

The strength of the market began with the opening. The London market had seen substantial gains before the opening here, and when the trading began on the Stock Exchange quotations were from 1½ to 2 points higher in leading stocks. The market seemed crowded with buying orders, and the advance was sustained with only small recessions, as profit taking and attempts of the bear interests to resist the advance became factors.

The strength of the opening was shown in advances such as 2⅝ in Amalgamated Copper, 2½ in Great Northern preferred, 2⅝ in Chesapeake & Ohio, 2¼ in Southern Pacific, Reading, and American Smelting, 2 in Union Pacific, Rock Island, and New York Central, and 1¾ in Consolidated Gas and Atchison.

United States Steel, which had sold as low as 75 on Tuesday and closed on that day at 75¼, opened yesterday with 10,000 shares reported on the ticker at 76½ to 76⅞, with following sales at 77.

Before noon the advances had reached 3 points and over in such stocks as Union Pacific, and when small declines came the market promptly fell off in activity. Business was light after the noon hour, but when advances set in again at the close trading again became active.

This table compares the high levels yesterday, which were practically identical with the closing prices, with the lowest points touched in the slump of Monday:

| | Monday's Lowest. | Yesterday's High. | Recovery from Mon. Low. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Amalgamated Copper.. | 71⅛ | 74¼ | +3⅛ |
| American Smelting ... | 76½ | 80½ | +4 |

| Chesapeake & Ohio.... | 77¼ | 81⅝ | [illegible] |
| Chi., Mil. & St. Paul.. | 144⅝ | 147¼ | +2⅝ |
| Consolidated Gas ..... | 139 | 143 | +4 |
| Interborough-Met. pf.. | 45½ | 49 | +3½ |
| New York Central..... | 115½ | 118⅝ | +3⅛ |
| Pennsylvania ......... | 129⅝ | 132 | +2⅜ |
| Reading ............. | 155¼ | 160¼ | +5 |
| Rock Island .......... | 41 | 45⅛ | +4⅛ |
| Southern Pacific ...... | 120⅝ | 124 | +3⅜ |
| Union Pacific ......... | 179½ | 182⅜ | +2⅞ |
| United States Steel.... | 75½ | 78¼ | +2¾ |
| United States Steel pf. | 116½ | 119⅛ | +2⅝ |
| Utah Copper .......... | 44¼ | 49 | +4¾ |

EXPECT POOL PUNISHMENTS.

The Exchange Likely to Inflict Hocking Penalties—Levi Tells of Pool.

The Governors of the Stock Exchange met yesterday and took no further action on the report of the Special Committee of Five on the collapse of the Hocking pool, which was accepted at the special meeting of Tuesday. The hearing on the report of the Committee of Insolvencies on the failure of J. M. Fiske & Co., carried down by the Hocking smash, was postponed for two weeks, a similar postponement having been given last week to the Exchange member of Lathrop, Haskins & Co.

No definite intimation as to whether the acceptance of the Special Committee report with its "severe condemnation" of Hugh F. Criss, the specialist in Hocking, for his "offensive language" when he accused members of the pool of "welching" on their contracts, and of the several pool members who carried Hocking for the account of Lathrop, Haskins & Co., was final, could be obtained from the Exchange authorities yesterday.

The belief was general, however, among those in touch with the Governing Committee's intentions that means would be found through the action yet to be taken on the report of the Committee on Admissions, which will pass up the Fiske and Lathrop-Haskins failure findings to the governing body, of disciplining some one for the happenings on Jan. 19.

The examination in the bankruptcy proceedings of J. M. Fiske & Co. was continued before Commissioner Alexander yesterday with Berthold Levi of Berthold, Levi & Co. of 82 Pearl Street as a witness. He was examined by Ralph Wolf of counsel for Receiver Ernst as to accounts in Hocking which he carried with Lathrop, Haskins & Co. and J. M. Fiske & Co.

He said that he had not checked up his statement from the receiver and could not say that the debit charge of $103,735 shown on his holdings of 1,800 shares of Columbus & Hocking Coal and Iron stock was correct or not. He said if the account was correct, he would take up the 1,800 shares and pay the receiver $103,735. He had started with $10,000 margin. He explained that he had joined the pool at the request of friends and had assumed 2,000 shares, or 10 per cent. of the 20,000-share pool.

The hearing was adjourned until next Monday afternoon, when James R. Keene is scheduled to appear for examination.

MISS SKIDMORE TO WED.

New York Woman to be the Bride of Henry S. Mann of Boston.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Mass., Feb. 9.—The approaching marriage of a Boston club man, Henry Sanford Mann, to Miss May Nash Skidmore of New York, has become known through the application by the prospective bridegroom for a marriage license. Miss Skidmore is the daughter of William L. Skidmore of 39 West Fifty-second Street, where the wedding is soon to take place.

Mr. Mann, who has maintained a bachelor apartment in The Royal, at 297 Beacon Street, is a member of the Somerset, the Country, the Eastern Yacht, and other clubs. He was born in Boston and always has lived here, and is well known in business life. In his application for a license Mr. Mann stated his own age to be 55 years and that of Miss Skidmore as 47 years. They first met some years ago at Newport, where the Skidmores spend the Summer seasons.

THREE MEN DEAD OF GAS.

Brothers and Their Night's Guest, Ship Carpenters, the Victims.

William and Alexander Robertson, brothers, and a friend, William Thompson, all three ship's carpenters, were found dead yesterday morning in a furnished room occupied by the brothers at 147 Seventeenth Street, Brooklyn. Gas was escaping from an open cock in the chandelier.

The men spent Tuesday evening together, and as a room which Thompson had rented would not be ready for occupancy until to-day, the brothers took him home with them. The gas was turned on, evidently, by accident.

Third Bristol Building Fire in a Year.

A fire on the third floor of the Bristol Building, at Fifth Avenue and Forty-second Street, caused a lot of excitement yesterday afternoon and incidentally did $500 damage to the offices of S. B. Eisendrath, architect. Grace Rosenberg, Eisendrath's secretary, made a hasty exit and watched while the firemen extinguished the blaze. It was the third fire in the building within a year.

THIEF A JUDGE OF FEATHERS.

Only the Best Ostrich Plumes, $12,000 Worth, Taken from Two Stores.

Thieves, headed apparently by some one able to judge valuable feathers, have alarmed Broadway dealers in ostrich and other feathers by two successful raids on establishments in the last two weeks. The showrooms of Selz & Lewine, at 771 Broadway, were entered Saturday night or Sunday morning, when feathers valued at $5,000 were taken, and on the night of the same day a week previous the showrooms of the African Feather Company, at 781 Broadway, were entered and $7,500 worth stolen. The thieves left no clue.

The place of Selz & Lewine was entered from the floor above. A small opening had been cut through the ceiling and an umbrella let through. The umbrella was evidently used to catch the falling plaster of the ceiling while the hole was being enlarged that the delicate feathers might not be damaged. Letting themselves through the opening, the thieves opened every box and show case in the store, selecting only the most valuable feathers.

At the place of the African Feather Company thieves, finding the lock on the door unbreakable, swung themselves down from the roof of the building to a sign outside the window. Then the window was forced open. Here, too, only the cream of the stock was taken.

The police say a man called at the two establishments several weeks before the robberies with the request that he be allowed to take pictures of the interiors. He was from a commercial publication, he said. In both cases the request was refused.

Some time later another man appeared, saying he was an agent of a ventilating concern, and must have measurements of the rooms that his chief might make an intelligent bid. In both cases permission was given to take measurements.

NEW HEARING FOR THAW.

Justice Tompkins Appoints a Referee to Consider Asylum Transfer Question.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Feb. 9.—By a decision of Supreme Court Justice Tompkins, handed down to-day, the charges that Harry K. Thaw, the slayer of Stanford White, has been improperly treated at Matteawan Asylum for State Insane Criminals, and the application of his mother, Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, to transfer her son to some other asylum, will be aired before a referee. Judge Tompkins appoints William Vanamee, an Orange County lawyer, as referee to take the testimony, and he will report back to the court his findings.

This is the seventh proceeding brought by the Thaws in the Supreme Court.

DROP WABASH-WHEELING PLAN

Found to be Unworkable Owing to Legal Difficulties.

The plan for the reorganization of the Wheeling & Lake Erie and the Wabash Pittsburg Terminal Railway, recently under consideration by the bankers interested in these properties and by the committees representing the security holders, has been abandoned as unworkable. Legal difficulties involved in the plan were reported yesterday as the cause of its abandonment.

The bankers and the committees are still at work on a scheme of reorganization, but as matters now stand there is no plan yet formulated. The bankers interested are known to be desirous of bringing about the rehabilitation of these companies as soon as possible, and they with the representatives of the security holders are directing their efforts toward this end.

FOUND A WOMAN'S PURSE.

Dr. Persons of Governors Island Asks The Times to Seek the Owner.

Some one hurrying along Thirty-fourth Street, near Fifth Avenue, dropped a pocketbook containing three new crisp one-dollar bills and a few other things yesterday. It was picked up a little later by Dr. Elbert E. Persons of Governors Island, and now the doctor is trying to find the owner, probably a woman, through the lost and found column of THE TIMES. In the pocketbook besides the new bills, was a latch key, some change, and a sales ticket calling for a piece of jewelry purchased yesterday. Dr. Persons has asked THE TIMES to find the owner, who upon identifying the contents of the purse can have it. The purse and its contents are now at THE TIMES office.

OHIO LEADERS MAY FIGHT ELLIS'S RULE

Taft's Peacemaker Will Face Bitter Fights Over the Governorship and the Senatorship.

HE WAS ONCE A DEMOCRAT

Old-Line Republicans Resent His Designation as Chairman—Cox, Once His Sponsor, May Oppose Him.

Special to The New York Times.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Feb. 9.—Republican politicians here are freely predicting that President Taft's plan of settling differences within the party in Ohio by making Assistant Attorney General Wade H. Ellis, Chairman of the State Committee will have the opposite effect. It is declared that Ellis will face one of the worst tangles within the history of the party, and that he will be found to have a hard fight on his hands from the first. Fully half the leaders in the State are expected to resent his intrusion into State politics in this fashion, and to make open war upon him.

Ellis at the outset will have a hard time in making headway, because his Republicanism is a growth of recent years. He was formerly a Democratic leader in this city and changed to the other party over night. There was much feeling because George B. Cox took him up and made him City Solicitor. It took all the strength of that powerful boss to subdue the resentment among the old-timers, who thought that they had been ill-used in favor of a convert. This matter is the more complicated in that Cox will probably demand that Ellis be loyal to him and will be disappointed. After Cox had placed him in line for the honors that have since come to him, he took himself out from under the boss's wing and showed independence that was not pleasing and is likely to continue to do so.

But the chief cause of dissension lies in the heated fights for the Gubernatorial nomination and the Senatorship, which were under way before the President undertook to bring harmony. Warren G. Harding, James R. Garfield, and Judge Orrin Britt Brown had already started their canvass for the Governorship. Mr. Harding and Mr. Garfield have their county delegations solidly pledged to their candidacy, and Judge Brown has been formally put forward by Cox. It is expected that Cox will stand by his candidate, for it is a generally accepted theory that he named Judge Brown because of an obligation of long standing, due to the loss of money by the jurist in an investment into which he was drawn by Cox.

It is understood here that after Mr. Ellis has been made Chairman he will put forward another candidate for the Gubernatorial nomination who has been chosen at Washington as the one on whom all factions can unite. Should he do so, it is believed that he will find his candidate the one whom all the factions will fight bitterly. It is not likely that any one of the three now in the field will withdraw.

Mr. Ellis is also bound to find himself in trouble over the Senatorship. It is not believed to be likely that the President will assent to the re-election of Senator Dick, and he will not retire without a fight. He is now demanding a primary on the Senatorship, and it will take much diplomacy to avert open warfare on this point. Other Senatorial candidates also, who fear that Charles P. Taft will seek the place again, will prove factors in the tangle.

Mr. Ellis is believed to be rather a fighter than a diplomatist, and so it is felt that he may stir up the situation instead of smoothing it.

LABORITES ARE DISSATISFIED.

Liberal Programme Not Radical Enough—Irish Also Criticised.

NEWPORT, Eng., Feb. 9.—In his address opening the tenth annual meeting of the Independent Labor Party to-day, President James Keir Hardie threw cold water on all suggestions that the Laborites in the forthcoming Parliament should be blind followers of the Government. He said:

"I confidently assert that those who hope to see us bring about our own undoing by entering into some agreement or understanding with the Government are doomed to disappointment. At all costs and hazards we must maintain a complete freedom of action both in the House of Commons and in our constituencies. The treatment meted out to our candidates by the Liberals in the recent contest was not the kind to predispose us in favor of any friendly relationship."

President Hardie declared that the policy of the Liberals toward the peers, as outlined, did not inspire the Laborites with confidence. To talk of weakening the veto power of the Lords was toying with democracy, he said. Any second chamber must, in the nature of things, be reactionary and could be intended only as a check to progress. He said the policy of the Labor Party remained unchanged and was to sweep the House of Lords into oblivion. The same unsullied independence which had produced so many Labor measures in the past must continue to work for ends yet to be gained.

Mr. Hardie called attention to the fact that the Irish had failed to support the Labor candidates and reminded the Nationalists that Irish aspirations were not to be attained without the aid of the English Labor vote.

DUBLIN, Feb. 9.—John Redmond was re-elected Chairman of the Nationalist Party at a meeting at Mansion House to-day. Fifty-four members were present. Timothy Healy and William O'Brien and their followers, who had not been invited, did not attempt to participate in the election.

Resolutions were adopted refusing representation in the party to any Nationalist who had opposed the decisions of conventions officially called to select candidates, or who had opposed the official candidates.

To-day's meeting was private, but an official report of the proceedings set forth that the political situation had been discussed fully and that Mr. Redmond had been authorized to act on behalf of the party pending another meeting.

FOUND NO CONCERT AT ASTOR.

People Who Held the Marquis de Corvera's Tickets Disappointed.

The appearance of some seventy-five persons in evening dress at the Hotel Astor last night with tickets for a concert which, they said, was to be given under the auspices of the Marquis de Corvera, caused William C. Muschenheim, proprietor of the Astor, to issue a statement.

"There has been no concert booked for to-night," it says, "by the Marquis de Corvera. All that we know about it is that he called here some time in December and asked for the terms under which he could engage our concert hall. He was told the price and was asked for references. He asked us about other open dates, and that is all we ever heard of him until it came to our notice that tickets were in circulation for a concert to be given here. We immediately wrote him a letter at the address which he had given us, 128 West Forty-first Street, and asked for an explanation. Since then we have received no reply from him."

The purchasers said they had paid $5 for ordinary tickets, according to the hotel management, and from $20 to $25 for boxes.

ROSPIGLIOSIS NOT SEPARATED

Prince and Princess Indignantly Deny Story of Her Elopement.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, Feb. 9.—Prince and Princess Giuseppe Rospigliosi are very indignant over reports of marital differences between them, which have even gone so far as to say not only that they were separated, but that the Princess had eloped with T. F. Spanier, a well-known and respected resident of Naples, who was married recently.

Both the Prince and Princess told THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent to-day that there was not a word of truth in the reports. They are co-operating with Mr. Spanier in consulting lawyers as to the best method of seeking redress from those who circulated the reports.

As a matter of fact, the Princess returned to Rome yesterday after a shopping tour in London and Paris. She is living very happily with her husband and two children. Only last night she gave a dinner to her brother-in-law, Prince Giulio Rospigliosi, who came from Florence. Mr. Spanier is an old friend of the family.

Possibly the report originated through a confusion of names, as it is common gossip that Prince Ludovic Rospigliosi, a nephew of Prince Giuseppe, and his wife, who was Miss Mildred Hazeltine, daughter of the late well-known painter, are victims of matrimonial differences. Lately serious trouble seems to have arisen between them. Their difficulties, however, have been settled temporarily through the intervention of the husband's mother, Princess Elena, and every effort has been made to hush the matter up, especially as after a short seperation they are now reunited.

BERLIN, Feb. 9.—Duke Ernst Gunther of Schleswig-Holstein, brother of Empress Augusta Victoria, has begun another legal action to establish his right to rank as a member of a ruling house. The decision will have a bearing on the rights of the Empress's children when marrying or receiving inheritances.

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 9.—A monopoly for the manufacture of spirits in Sweden was organized to-day with a capital approximating $4,000,000.

PEKING, Feb. 9.—The Governments of China and Japan signed a postal working agreement to-day on the basis of the Postal Union rules. The agreement affects Manchuria chiefly. By its terms China recovers its monopoly of mail carrying on its own railway, together with equal rights over the Japanese railroad.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 9.—Nicholas Tschaikovsky and Catherine Breshkovskaya, who are charged with being members of the revolutionary organization, will be placed on trial on March 8.

FIGHT PLAN TO TAG COLD STORAGE MEAT

Butchers and Fish Dealers Predict Injury to Their Business If City Ordinance Passes.

DEFEND REFRIGERATION

Expensive to City for Inspectors, an Injury to Retailers, and Increase in Cost Some of the Objections.

Founding their objection to the tagging of cold-storage meats, fish, and other food, as required by the proposed ordinance of Alderman Dowling, on the ground that they can now sell untagged refrigerated goods to persons who would refuse them if they knew the meats had been preserved, the spokesmen for the butchers and fish dealers made a strong fight yesterday against the ordinance in the hearing before the Aldermen's Committee on Laws.

Jacob Bloch, at one time connected with the New York Butchers' Dressed Meat Company at Fortieth Street and Eleventh Avenue, was one of the principal opponents of the ordinance. He spoke of the expense to the city of creating a new staff of Inspectors to enforce such a regulation and argued that the presumption was all in favor of cold-storage meat being good, because it took two or three days to freeze properly, and must be in good condition when it was placed in the warehouse.

Alderman Dowling suddenly attacked him about the Dressed Meat Company.

"Were you at one time the head of a very fine independent slaughter house on Eleventh Avenue?" he asked.

"I was," replied Mr. Bloch, "but it was bought out by some concern, I don't know who."

"There's no accusation against you," said Chairman Levine soothingly.

"Well Standard Oil and the United Cigar Stores go around buying up all the small plants they can," said Mr. Bloch. "I believe the National Packing Company bought us up in an underhand way."

Mr. Bloch declared that it would be impossible to buy fresh-killed chicken and turkey in the Summer fit to roast. This brought out a question from one of the committee as to kosher chicken.

"Kosher chicken," replied Mr. Bloch, "must be eaten within five days, but I don't think any of you Aldermen would like to eat it. There is only one month in the year when it is really good."

The next speaker, A. F. Grimm, a butcher, dwelt on the necessity of putting meat away in good condition and declared that then it might be kept with safety for two years.

Mr. Grimm insisted that tagging would injure the retailers' trade till the prejudice of the public against cold-storage food passed away. At the same time he expressed the opinion that frozen chicken is better than fresh, as it is less tough.

Alderman Schloss, who is a butcher, was then heard. He asked Alderman Dowling if his ordinance was to include fish.

"Of course," answered the author of the ordinance. "I want the box in which the fish are to show if they were caught in 1876."

Alderman Schloss argued that the ordinance would drive the cold-storage plants to New Jersey and asked how the Board of Aldermen could force the meat from them to be tagged.

Representing the wholesale fish trade, Frank H. Steel, a lawyer, maintained that storage had made fish cheaper, as only an infinitesimal quantity is produced in Winter.

"Tags," he declared, "will be to the average family just like the yellow flag of the Department of Health. If you try to tag the smaller fish, you will put it beyond the reach of all but millionaires."

Mrs. Sophia Loebinger, the suffragette, appeared on behalf of her association to support the ordinance. She spoke, she declared, on behalf of the housekeepers of the city, who had definite opinions with regard to fresh and cold-storage meat, whatever the butchers might think.

The hearing was adjourned till next Wednesday afternoon.

How your property would be divided if you should die without a will? My book, "Probate Proceedings and Administration of Estates," gives this and other information. Mailed on receipt of twenty-five cents.

GUSTAV GOODMANN, 346 Broadway, N. Y.

This book is issued in the hope that it will prove of real service as a contribution to the study of the "Social Evil." It contains some strangely vivid stories, making clearer the characters and separate tragedies of those who live upon the wages of moral death.

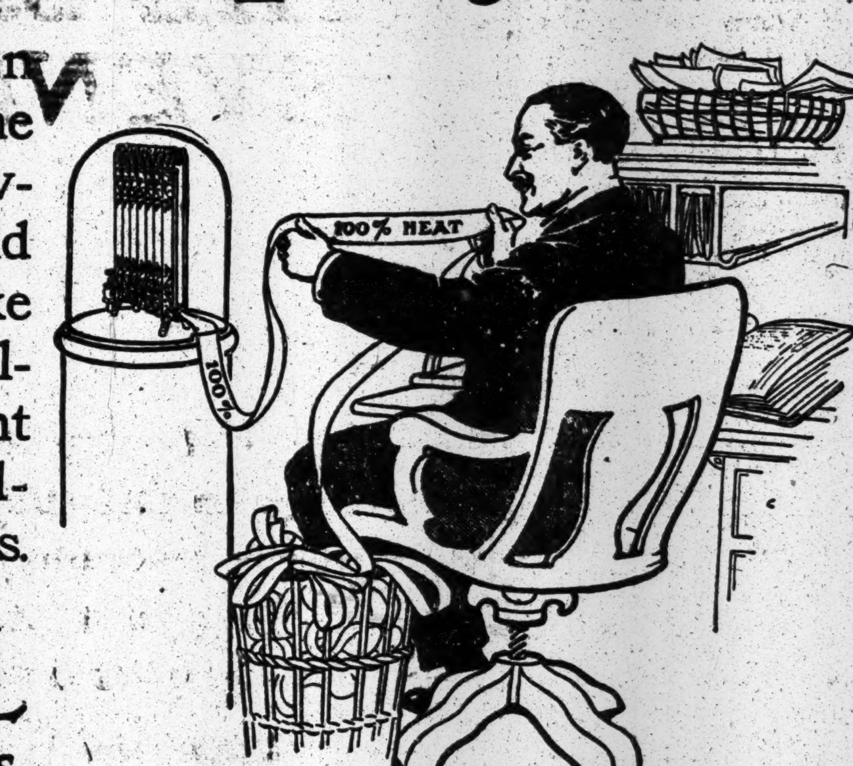
Everybody is interested in how to make money, and one of the best ways yet discovered is to follow that good old maxim: "The way to make money is to save it." It's almost wickedly extravagant to go on using ruinous old-fashioned heating methods.



AMERICAN & IDEAL

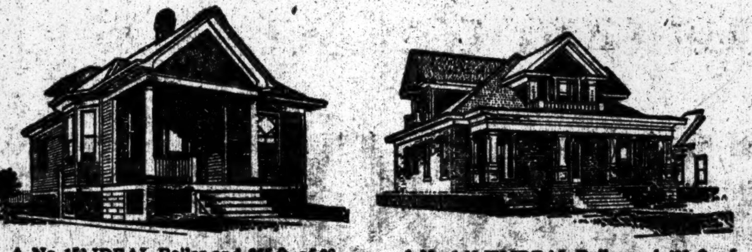
for Hot-Water and Low-Pressure Steam heating will quickly pay for themselves in their large fuel economies and absence of repair bills. They do not stop saving money for you at that stage, but continue as long as your house lasts. Your full 100% investment is returned, yet the savings-dividends keep right on. Can you ask for a better, safer, more sensible investment than that? Buildings so equipped bring 10 to 15% higher rentals—or when sold, command the full higher price. IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators also pay other good dividends—their soft, even warmth protects the family health, their cleanliness reduces one-half the drudgery of house-cleaning by banishing ash-dust and soot from the living-rooms, and save much wear on furnishings and decorations.



A No. 152 IDEAL Boiler and 325 ft. of 38-in. AMERICAN RADIATORS, costing the owner $132, were used to Hot-Water heat this cottage.

A No. 1-22-W IDEAL Boiler and 422 ft. of 38-in. AMERICAN Radiators, costing the owner $220, were used to Hot-Water heat this cottage.

At these prices the goods can be bought of any reputable, competent Fitter. This did not include cost of labor, pipe, valves, freight, etc., which installation is extra and varies according to climatic and other conditions.

Tell us of building you wish to heat. Our information and catalog (free) put you under no obligations to buy. Write to-day. Prices are now most favorable.

ADVANTAGE 17: The joints of an IDEAL Boiler do not come in contact with the fire nor with fly rust. Hence, an IDEAL Boiler outlasts the building—yet because built in sections it is easily increased or decreased in size if building is later altered.

Dentistry Revolutionized

For nearly a century there had been no great change in the science of dentistry. Dentists filled teeth that showed signs of decay and pulled out loose ones.

Many times they pulled out whole rows of loose teeth, so they could make room for a plate—think of that!

Or they would cut down sound teeth to build a bridge—another crime against the unfortunate patient, for these bridges—so-called—were temporary affairs, and only put in as a makeshift. "They will do until such a time as you have to have a set of plates," was what the patient was told.

Three or four months, or a year or two, and then a set of plates. Nice outlook that was. A fine prospect for the future.

Six years ago the Martinolar method was announced to the public—a revolution in the old method of dentistry. It created a sensation.

The Martinolar method must have been right—for within six years this company has risen to a point where it now does the largest dental business in the world, having magnificent suites of offices in New York, Minneapolis, Chicago and Kansas City.

Over twenty thousand happy people scattered over this country singing the praises of the Martinolar method, and the number being added to daily.

Surely we have a right to claim that we have brought about a revolution in dental methods.

Briefly the method is this:—

If you have two or more teeth left in either jaw, whether tight or loose, we will supply all that have been lost, and you can use these teeth with as much comfort and satisfaction as you ever enjoyed when you had your natural teeth.

They will be firm and tight.

We use no surgery, don't bore or cut into the gums, cause you no pain or discomfort while the work is being done.

Patents on the process have been granted this company by the United States Government and six of the foreign governments of the world.

Martinolar teeth cannot be had in any office outside of ours. There is nothing like the method, nothing just as good.

The Martinolar method is our great specialty, but we are general practitioners, and because of the skill required to put in Martinolar teeth the operators in our offices are all men of superior ability—careful, skillful, sympathetic men, who will make you comfortable even though the work to be done be most intricate.

We make a careful examination and diagnosis of the teeth free of charge or obligation to have any work done.

Call at our offices and let us look your teeth over thoroughly. If you are wearing a partial plate or bridge—we can give you new teeth—and let you throw the other make-shifts away. Isn't this important enough to investigate?

If you cannot call, send for our free book, "Martinolar Dentistry" which explains the method in detail. It is sent free upon request.

GAYNOR DEFENDS CITY AT JESUP UNVEILING

New York the "Most Intelligent and Moral Large City," He Asserts, Accepting the Statue.

PEARY SENDS A TRIBUTE

Joseph H. Choate Finds One Good Deed of Tweed, and Tells of the Troubles of Art Collectors.

With J. Pierpont Morgan and Joseph H. Choate, the only surviving founders of the American Museum of Natural History, as guests of honor, and Mr. Choate the principal speaker, a life-size statue of the late Morris K. Jesup, a founder and for many years President of the Museum, was unveiled in the foyer of the museum yesterday afternoon. The ceremonies, taking also the form of a celebration of the museum's fortieth anniversary, drew together a large company of the old friends of Mr. Jesup and of prominent people to whom the work of the museum appeals.

Speeches were made by President Henry Fairfield Osborn, who succeeded Mr. Jesup; Mr. Choate, and Mayor Gaynor, while an orchestra of sixty-five pieces, conducted by Nahan Franko, played before and after the exercises.

"If youth is measured by energy, by productiveness, by patriotism," said Mr. Osborn, "the two surviving founders who sit beside me on this platform are two of the youngest men in the great City of New York. Each day brings fresh and ever surprising and welcome proofs of their youth.

"Who among the so-called younger generation can equal Mr. Morgan, who has quietly and almost unknown to the public sustained the successive administrations of Wolfe, Stuart, and Jesup with his loyalty, his time, his advice, and his noble gifts; who stands behind the present administration with undiminished force and generosity?"

This reference to Mr. Morgan was applauded.

Joseph H. Choate, after a tribute to his associates of the past in the museum, told of Tweed's efforts for the museum.

"I well remember," he said, "our visit to Albany to wait upon the magnates of the Legislature and to ask for a charter. William M. Tweed was then in absolute command of that body, and I will say to his credit, as one white mark against the terrible array of black ones under which his memory has long since been buried, that he received us most courteously and seemed to recognise the importance of the project which we had in hand, and the charter was quickly obtained and signed by the Governor.

"From the first we met with the usual fate of all, whether individuals or corporations, who become known as collectors. Miscellaneous collections of every description crowded in upon us much faster than our narrow quarters and limited means could possibly provide for them. Nobody can testify from personal experience more truly than Mr. Morgan of the unhappy predicament of a recognized collector. He does not have to seek his collections, but collections seek him from all quarters of the world with voracious appetites and open maw, and would bury even him out of sight if he had not learned to say no. So it was with our young museum, which would have been bankrupt from the start if it had not learned to say no."

Mr. Choate spoke with enthusiasm of Mr. Jesup's work for the museum of almost half a century.

After the prolonged applause which greeted Mr. Choate's words, Mayor Gaynor, who is an ex-officio member of the Museum's board, received the statue. Of the Museum's work and the efforts for good of the best citizens, the Mayor said:

"The result is that this is the most intelligent, decent, and moral large city in the world. But while many noble men and women like Mr. Jesup have been doing this work, others in recent years, aided and abetted by a few newspapers, of which we are all ashamed, have been decrying the city and its people, and spreading throughout the world that they are sunk in vices and sin. I would that they were here this day. They might imbibe some sense of shame. They have also spread throughout the world the wholly false notion that this city is in a doubtful financial condition. The result is that recently our 4 per cent. bonds sold at 100.14, while the similar bonds of the comparatively small City of Baltimore sold at the same time for 106.17.

"It is time that the decent men of the city put an end to this. There is no safer security in the world than the bonds of this city, and yet they have been cried down until they sell for less than railroad securities, which are safe, but not absolutely safe like them. I hope those who love this city, and work to uplift it, and are so worthily represented on this occasion, will make their voices heard against all this detraction and reassert the moral and financial soundness and superiority of this city."

Commander Peary could not be present, but paid a warm tribute to Mr. Jesup in his letter of regret, saying the United States possessed the north pole as a trophy more through Mr. Jesup than any other person.

The statue, of fine Carrara marble, represents Mr. Jesup seated in a chair, with his elbows resting on its arms, while his left hand holds a scroll. It was the work of William Couper, the sculptor, who was present yesterday.

Among the guests were Andrew Carnegie, John Bigelow, Cleveland H. Dodge, State Controller Clark Williams, representing Gov. Hughes; Controller Prendergast, President Mitchel of the Board of Aldermen, Park Commissioner Stover, John L. Billings, Jacob H. Schiff, President Arthur Twining Hadley of Yale, Chancellor Henry M. MacCracken of New York University, President Butler of Columbia, John Cadwalader, Robert S. Woodward, President of the Carnegie Institution; Charles D. Walcott, Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution; Henry S. Pritchett of the Carnegie Foundation, President Finley of City College, J. Pierpont Morgan, Jr., Arthur Curtiss James, Archer M. Huntington, ex-Mayor Seth Low, Egerton L. Winthrop, Jr., Mrs. Morris K. Jesup, Mrs. Morgan, Mrs. Choate, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Satterlee, Miss Anne T. Morgan, Mrs. Morgan Dix, Mrs. William Couper, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius N. Bliss, Mrs. H. O. Havemeyer, Mr. and Mrs. Frank K. Sturgis, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jesup, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jesup, Mrs. William J. Gaynor, Mrs. Jacob H. Schiff, and the Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott.

THE MAYOR STARTS CITY RECORD INQUIRY

Appoints a Commission with Instructions to Report "Abuses and Dishonesties."

LENIENT TO SUPERVISOR

John A. Hennessy, William J. Ellis, and James E. Sullivan Are Named to Make the Investigation.

Mayor Gaynor appointed a commission, consisting of John A. Hennessy, William J. Ellis, and James E. Sullivan, yesterday to investigate and report to him on the methods of administration of The City Record. In his letter appointing them the Mayor casts some reflection upon the present Supervisor, Patrick J. Tracy, who is a Tammany man. He is the active head of The City Record, which controls the purchase of all stationery for the city departments, the publication of the daily official organ of the city government, and all city advertising.

The budget appropriation for The Record for this year is $1,331,450. When the regular city advertising is added to this it will reach $1,750,000.

The actual Board of City Record is composed of the Mayor, the Controller, and the Corporation Counsel. It was through the city advertising patronage during the last administration that William A. Willis, the Executive Secretary of Mayor McClellan, got into trouble.

This is the Mayor's letter appointing the commission:

CITY OF NEW YORK.
OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.
Feb. 9, 1910.

Sirs: I hereby appoint you a commission to examine into the management of The City Record and into the contract for printing it and furnishing the city with stationery and printers' supplies, and report the abuses, extravagances, and dishonesties which have grown up therein, and how to do away with them. When you have finished your work I shall be ready to assist you in framing a few short rules for the future guidance of the Supervisor of The City Record. After a somewhat careful consideration of the whole case I am not inclined to blame the present incumbent of that office, but that I leave to you. He has acted under orders and precedents.

Yours very truly,
W. J. GAYNOR, Mayor.

JOHN A. HENNESSY, Esq.,
WILLIAM J. ELLIS, Esq.,
JAMES E. SULLIVAN, Esq.

Mr. Hennessy is managing editor of The New York Press, which supported the Mayor consistently during the campaign, and is President of the New York Press Club.

Mr. Ellis is a former newspaper man at present in the automobile business. Mr. Sullivan is one of the largest sporting publishers in the city and is Secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union. He managed the American team at the last Olympic games in England.

The New Foulards Main Floor.

Foulard Silks. They are not a mere caprice of Fashion—not a transient whim. Their stability gives designers fresh inspiration. You may see the daintier strokes of the folds of these new Foulards for Spring. You know the broad, bold freedom of old-time figures—all-over patterns and scrolls and scrawls. Bizarre. A quieter note has struck Foulards. They are toned down. Refined. Simple taste will now see much to admire in them. However, they are still distinctively Foulardy—unmistakably and consistently Foulardy—but softened and lightened by a more conservative art than formerly.

We don't think our display of Foulards made in this country and abroad is surpassed anywhere. The diversity will gratify you. Where so much beauty and novelty is to be seen choosing may be done at random without risk.

Shower Proof Foulards—Delft, navy, cadet, peacock, tan, gray, brown and red inch-wide stripes alternating with white stripes of same width, thickly covered with self-colored sprigs, relieved by small ring dots rimmed with black. Another design: Grounds of strong solid colors—clear, brilliant blues, browns, greens, grays, purples, reds, also black and white, cut by narrow stripes in contrasting tints two inches apart. The stripes are intersected at regular distances by white half-moon-crescent figures, 23 inches wide; sold elsewhere at 85c a yard; our price.................................. 79c

Shower Proof Foulards—designs that must be seen. Too intricate to describe. Among the modest sorts are very narrow two-toned stripes, broken by splotches of white that are made to stand out by bits of bars in contrasting colors. Another pattern is detached medallions—brooch-like design—on striped grounds. The medallions are enriched with touches of the richest Persian tints—gold, rose, coral, green, lavender, mauve, reseda, apricot, wistaria. And there are strange swirls in self and contrasting colors on grounds showered with tiny white seeds and dots, 23 inches wide; sold elsewhere at $1.25; our price.................. 94c

Satin Faconne Foulards—made in France. The literal meaning of "faconne" is fancy or novel. These foulards are both fancy and novel—white, tan, brown, gray, purple, helio, rose, reseda and peacock grounds, covered with dots and spots and bars, and hexagons, in contrasting colors, 43 inches wide; sold elsewhere at $2.00; our price... 1.49

The Bordered Foulards, 48 inches wide, at $1.98 are sold elsewhere at $3.00, and our Imported Diagonal Faconne Satin Foulards, 43 inches, at $2.79, are $3.50 elsewhere. We are silent concerning colorings and patterns. You don't wish all the beauty of the Foulards to be anticipated for you.

Flannels at Reduced Prices
Main Floor.

To do justice to our Flannel family, we'd have to describe practically all the weaves, textures and finishes that are made from coarse threaded, loosely-woven stuff for commonplace needs up to the fine, close, silky French and English novelties enlivened with such exquisite color-work. Every Flannel teaseling—every quality of nap—may be found here—and always less to pay. Here are the just-reduced:

Scotch Flannels, wool-and-cotton, black checks on gray ground, suitable for waists, children's dresses, men's shirts and pajamas, 27 inches wide, reduced from 24c a yard to.................................... 14c

27c for 35c white cotton-and-wool Flannel, medium weight, linen finish. We know of no Flannel at anything like the price that has better wearing qualities, 32 inches wide.

"Amana" Flannels, all-wool, mostly cadet blue stripes and checks—28 inches wide; special at...... 39c

Fancy Wool Blousings—they belong to the Flannel group—imported and domestic—27 inches wide—were 69c to $1.09 yard; reduced to.................. 49c

Unshrinkable English Flannels, 30 and 31 inches wide, and Silk-and-wool and All-wool Taffeta Flannels—a broad assortment of stripes; formerly 98c and $1.09; special at.............................. 69c

Fancy All-Wool Silk-embroidered French Flannel, 27 inches wide, white, light blue, helio and black on [illegible]; special at.......... 89c

That Postal Deficit

Postmaster-General Hitchcock reports that the Post-Office Department loses $64,000,000 a year in the business of carrying second-class mail (magazines and periodicals).

There is not a deficit of $17,000,000, as the department alleges, but actually a surplus of more than $10,000,000, when the specific loss on free rural delivery is taken into consideration, and the department's figures of $64,000,000 loss on second-class matter are wrong by more than $60,000,000.

THE SATURDAY EVENING POST

for February 12th devotes its editorial page to this subject, showing the injustice of the recommendation to raise the rate on all magazines and periodicals—but not on daily papers or the country weeklies.

☛ One fact: In the year ended June 30th, 1908, the weight of second-class matter compared to 1907 *de*creased 18,000,000 pounds. The postal expenditures *in*creased $18,000,000. There is something in it besides second-class matter.

THE ULTIMATE BUYER.

It is some years since Mr. Blaine smashed his silk hat upon the table of the Committee of Ways and Means and asked what there was in the tariff bill of that day to help the farmer to sell a barrel of pork. The echo of that question is embarrassing the Republicans to-day, and Mr. Taft's National incorporation tax raises a like embarrassing question. The trouble of the moment for every man is how he shall meet his cost of living, and Mr. Taft produces a bill, which some persons still think will make life easier for the trusts, but which promises no relief for the ultimate consumer. Also Mr. Taft's bill looks out for the investors. They are to be assured, not what their stock is worth to-day, but what it was worth when issued. The assurance may deteriorate with lapse of time, but on the date of issue the securities of the Federally vouched trusts are to have a par value. There is nothing to guarantee the worth of what the trusts sell besides their securities.

Now comparatively few buy securities, and none have to buy them. But all of us have to buy the commodities of the various trusts, and we all want to buy cheap. The securities are to be inspected and guaranteed in some respects, but the ultimate general consumer—the man who buys to eat or wear—is abandoned to the mercies of the market which is to be so mercifully tempered to the needs of the man who buys and sells shares. This is a lame conclusion to a stupendous reform. The price of commodities is the burning question of the very minute, and we are to get a reform of great interest to the speculator and the investor, but of slightest interest to the man in the streets and the shops. The speculator or investor is in no such need of guardianship as the man who must eat or clothe himself, and who has to take what the shops offer. He cares little whether he buys of a holding company or a partnership, or a trust or an individual. He wants some relief from the cost of living, and Mr. Taft tenders him a statute, which is Chapter II. of the infuriated crusade against the forms in which business is done.

GENUINE TAX REFORM.

In the report prepared by David A. Wells for a New York Tax Commission more than a generation ago the suggestions of tax reform made in Mayor Gaynor's letter to Mr. Lawson Purdy are examined, recommended, and supported by clear and convincing reasoning. For more than three decades the principles of that Commission's report have been accepted and advocated by the soundest writers on the theory and the just laws of taxation. The Mayor's letter to Mr. Purdy indicates that his Honor has given enlightened study to the subject.

Mr. Gaynor asks the President of the Tax Board to inform him what decimal would be added to the tax rate on real estate if the personal taxes were wholly done away with. It is time that the farce of the personal tax were ended. The assessed valuation of the real property in all the boroughs of the City of New York was last year $6,700,000,000. The personal property, after the swearing-off process, was assessed at $440,000,000. These figures in themselves demonstrate the failure of the personal property tax. There is reason to believe that in a community like this the actual value of personal holdings is not much below that of the real estate. On that basis it appears that the assessors reach only about one-fifteenth of the personal property. Experience demonstrates the futility of persisting in the attempts to assess and collect personal taxes.

The Mayor is probably correctly informed that the abolition of the personal tax would not materially raise the tax rate on real estate. The burden of taxation upon the community would be no greater, and it would be more evenly distributed. Everybody uses real estate, and as a general rule the use made of real estate is in proportion to the means of the owner or occupier. Moreover, the value of real estate is directly related to, it is in a very real sense created by, local improvements, for which the money collected through taxation is spent. There would be some distribution of the slight additional burden on real property, but no general shifting is to be apprehended. It is not often the case that rents can be raised because of higher taxes. Rental value depends upon the location, and upon the use the tenant can make of the premises, not upon the taxes the landlord has to pay. The ultimate consumer does, of course, pay all costs. But rent payers under a reformed system of taxation would in general pay only their fair share of any increase devolving upon real estate.

It should be made clear in the beginning that what the Mayor proposes is not at all the single tax advocated by Henry George. Taxes under the Mayor's plan would be imposed to provide revenue, not as a means of enforcing certain social reforms. There is not the slightest suggestion of confiscating lands by taking their entire rental value. It is of good augury that Mayor Gaynor has brought this subject to the attention of the public.

PEARY, VICTOR.

There is no tragedy like that of alienation from the sympathies of mankind, no joy and triumph like their victorious possession. Commander Peary suffered this alienation, he has achieved this victory.

The man who stood before the cheering thousands in this city Tuesday night, his face and jaws still reddened by exposure to the arctic skies, stood there as the type of humanity. He had dared and endured, fought, suffered, and conquered. They cheered him. It was not that he had overcome physical obstacles alone; that he had led expedition after expedition penetrating the cold solitudes of the earth; that he was the discoverer of Melville Land and of Heilprin Land, and had found Greenland to be a great island; that he had civilized and enriched the simple Highlanders of the Arctic; that he had brought back with him the greatest of known meteorites; that, after the quest of a lifetime, he had touched his lips to the frozen grail of the North. Because of these, indeed, he typified those strange and peculiar attributes of man, hailed by the olden chorus:

> He has gotten him speech, and fancy breeze-betost;
> And for the state instinct of order meet;
> He has found him shelter from the chilling frost
> Of a clear sky, and from the arrowy sleet;
> Illimitable in cunning, unprepared
> He meets no change of fortune that can come;
> He has found escape from pain and helplessness;
> Only he knows no refuge from the tomb.

The utmost rigors of nature he and his brave band had subdued. But more than this is to his credit. He knew, as no other man could know, that in the mystery of the northern wastes lay the possibilities of human treachery and deceit. Before he had started upon his last great voyage he was made aware of this peril, and prepared himself to meet it. He had braved the cold and the physical darkness; he now nerved himself to meet them in their alliance with dark malice, envy, and imposture. Immediately upon his return to civilization The Times published a letter which it had received from Commander Peary on the eve of his departure North, showing clearly his foreknowledge of Cook's designs.

The whole world now knows how it was deceived, tricked into garlanding the impostor and denouncing the man of great and worthy achievement. Commander Peary has met and overcome the world's prejudice in the final test of man's endurance and faith. He has accomplished his life-work. But his explorer's soul goes marching on. Another great geographical story must be told. The south pole is not yet reached. For such work his will is strong, his heart is stout, but his body is too far tried. To younger men, men of his own country, Peary surrenders his purse of honor, and bids them Godspeed "to enter the Stars and Stripes in a manly race for the discovery of the south pole against our British cousins."

A foreign court garlanded the impostor. The President of this Republic suggests that Congress thank the hero.

POLITICAL MANNERS AGAIN.

We cited the other day an example of the rude manners of a Conservative crowd toward Mr. Lloyd-George. We venture now to call attention to a different form of rudeness indulged in by that severe critic of everything American, The Saturday Review of London. This journal has frequently lamented the progress of American habits of thought and speech among Englishmen of the Liberal or Radical type, and particularly bemoans the bombast and passion which it imagines are imported into British politics from the United States.

In its latest issue it announced the gains of the Conservatives:

> The Liberal Government can now only exist by favor of the Labor and the Irish gangs. Beyond all shade of doubt England has broken the power of the Liberals to wreck the Constitution. * * * How splendidly we have done once more in the home counties. Out of Surrey and Sussex and Hampshire we have clean swept the whole tribe of Radical and Socialist and disloyalist. Huge Unionist majorities in these important, enlightened seats everywhere replace small Radical majorities.

Now, what really happened? Certain voters who voted with the Liberals in 1906 this year voted with the Conservatives. That is all. Four years ago they were "disloyalists," according to The Review's classification. If at the next election they should again change their votes, they would again fall into that terrible category. It all sounds to American ears like the echo of a past generation, when Horace Greeley explained, with fine discrimination, that "if all Democrats were not horse thieves, all horse thieves were probably Democrats." But we have got pretty well out of that primitive stage of political civilization. It remains for our lofty critic on the other side of the ocean to show that it still survives "in the best circles."

"A GAME FOR FAT BOYS."

Mr. Julian W. Curtiss, the Yale coach, characterizes the forward pass as the "vermiform appendix of football, a totally useless and highly dangerous play." It is not essentially a dangerous play, but Mr. Curtiss will have none of it. Mr. Walter Camp, too, although in his Century article he appears to wish the forward pass preserved in its attractiveness, agrees substantially with Mr. Curtiss. To eliminate the forward pass without compensatory changes would be to make the game stupid, slow, and lumbering as of yore. This is precisely what Mr. Camp wishes. For he says:

> Perhaps one point has not received its full emphasis. The game has furnished an opportunity not offered in any other sport for the big, overgrown fat boy, who before the introduction of the game had no field in which he could shine, and hence too little incentive to exercise. The type of man who for the last twenty years has found in the football positions of centre and guard a chance particularly designed for him was before the introduction of our modern game only a joke to himself and to others.

Mr. Camp's interest in the overgrown fat boy, expressed while the rules are undergoing revision, is pathetic. There is the English Rugby, to be sure, which finds a heavy-weight wrestler like Mr. Herring, Rhodes scholar from Princeton, agile enough to "make" the best of the English teams. But Mr. Camp is not enthusiastic for the dashing and scientific Rugby game. Mr. Tracy H. Harris, in a letter to the Princeton Alumni Weekly, observes:

> It appears clear that Princeton should strongly advocate a radical departure from the present rules, not only for the reasons that are being generally urged, but for the special reason that such a result would give her an opportunity to win her share of games, whereas under the present rules, requiring such specialized material, she is at a distinct disadvantage compared with Yale and Harvard, on account of the lack of sufficient elephantine candidates.

Not to be more frank than the case demands, we should say that Mr. Camp seems to have much solicitude for fat boys and perhaps he has an underlying concern for the principle of crude selection.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Mysteries Piled on Mystery.

After Dr. Cook returned from his mysterious seclusion in the remote but not uttermost parts of the North he was carefully observed by a not inconsiderable fraction of two large populations, those of Denmark first and then of the United States. His picture was published at least once in every newspaper and in most magazines all over the world that print pictures at all, and most of them did it several times. For several months he was the object of what it is not much of an exaggeration to call a universal interest, and the discussion that raged as to the validity of his claims filled all of the more or less civilized nations with its clamor.

Yet one day, while eager attention was still fixed upon him, while the questions he had raised were still unsettled, Dr. Cook quietly walked from a suburban hotel to a suburban railway station, took a train for this city, and—vanished! His is, we think, quite the most remarkable disappearance of modern times. Petty criminals, known at most to a score or two of inarticulate people, have, of course, often changed one obscurity for another, and every year not a few persons not criminals leave for parts unknown and are never heard of more. But they are folks to whom nobody ever paid any attention—folks whose discovery is of mild and narrowly limited interest.

Dr. Cook is different. It might be said that everybody knew him by sight, and had a prediction been made that he could remain hidden anywhere for a week the prophet would have been called mad. Hidden he has remained, however, not weeks but months. Rumors as to his whereabouts have been numerous, but instant and careful investigation has proved every one of them baseless, and to-day there is no more reason for believing that he is in Europe than that he is in the United States, Asia, or Africa.

The queer part of it is that there is no particular need for him to remain in concealment. Using the audacity with which he is well supplied, and utilizing the credulity which he is so skillful in inspiring, he could still make something of a fight against the Copenhagen decision—could still make a colorable plea for a suspension of judgment. But the man remains what he has always been—inexplicable—obviously mad, but most methodical. That in all these months he has nowhere been recognized is the culminating mystery of his strange career. It is to be hoped that he will be found at last, if only that the psychologists may investigate him.

"A Martyr to the Cause."

When the Hon. Stephen Coleridge was introduced to New York's little band of anti-vivisectionists it was as "a martyr to the cause in England." Being as ill-supplied with the sense of humor as were those who cheered him, Mr. Coleridge accepted the description with a straight face and proceeded to make the remarkable argument that doctors all lie about what they do to animals in their laboratories, because, however fast he himself might have been running his automobile, he would always swear that he had kept within the legal speed limits!

If, after so doing, Mr. Coleridge were convicted of breaking the law and fined or imprisoned, he would have another claim, quite as good as the first, to the name of martyr. What happened to Mr. Coleridge in England was this: Two emotional young women, seeking ammunition to use against the British vivisectors, attended a course of lectures which had some incidental demonstrations of anatomy, and afterward printed a wild tale of torture. Mr. Coleridge accepted the tale as true and gave it further publicity. As it happened, the tale was false from beginning to end, so the lecturer sued for libel and obtained and collected a judgment for $10,000.

The story of this libel suit does not appear in anti-vivisection literature, but there still stands in one of London's public squares a statue of the brown dog that wasn't tortured, and under it is an inscription telling as true various dreadful things that he didn't suffer. Neither Mr. Coleridge nor any other anti-vivisectionist would dream of taking down the statue merely because it perpetuates a falsehood. It tends to create antagonism to vivisection, and therefore in their eyes is fully justified.

In the same way the local society continues its exhibition of imaginary horrors, regardless of the fact that Prof. Lee has revealed that many of the exhibits are not only mendacious but absurd. They are a queer people—the anti-vivisectionists. Unhappy victims of what Dr. Dana called the zoophil-neurosis, their love of animals seems to involve an actual hatred of human beings. The sight of a child dying of diphtheria or spinal meningitis leaves them cold, but the killing of a chloroformed guinea pig throws them into hysterics of indignation.

Give the New Law a Chance.

That there were only 80,000 marriages in this State last year, compared with 88,000 in 1907, is taken by some as proof that the new license law has had the effect of diminishing the number of marriages. Probably it has had some such effect, but as almost the only marriages it could prevent were those which should not take place there need be no grief on that account.

The subject is an extremely complex one, however, and the chances are that the license law is in small part responsible for the observed decrease. The panic of 1907 had long-continuing consequences upon the financial resources of many people, and not all of these have been removed by two prosperous years. Moreover, the record of 1909, though bad in comparison with that of 1907, exceeds by 7,000 that of 1908—a fact that indicates a rapid readjustment to the new conditions.

There has been real objection to only one feature of the license law—that requiring the presence in the County Clerk's office of both parties to the purposed union. It is said that young women find it embarrassing thus to make public display of their intentions. Some of them do, no doubt, and yet the courage which carries young women so calmly through church weddings, where most young men suffer such cruel pangs, might be expected to sustain them during the lesser ceremony in the License Bureau. Indeed, frequenters of that place say that as a rule the young women there are quite undisturbed by the kindly smiles they receive, while the young men not infrequently are pallid and shaky.

Wild Marriages.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I saw in a newspaper this week a notice of a girl only 14 years old being married. Of course, she had the consent of her parents, otherwise the law would have prevented such a catastrophe, because the laws of our various States put the age of children at 18 or 21 as the legal age, except in Tennessee, where a child of 16 may marry whether the parents consent or not. But is parents' consent a sufficient excuse for marriage at this immature age? Shouldn't there be a law making marriage before an age determined upon as mature, say, 18 for girls and 21 for boys, a crime? Isn't it a crime for children to marry? Is there any tenable argument against a law fixing the age of marriage? If there is, I should like to hear some advocate of baby marriages advance it. Scarcely a day passes that somewhere in the country some foolish girl too young to think seriously, or some fool of a boy thinking he is a man, contracts a marriage which means not only trouble for the high contracting parties, but more for their parents. As before stated, if there is any argument against a law for the protection of children I should like to hear it.

The Philanthropic Nerve.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Zero weather has touched the philanthropic nerve of a Times reader, who sent us a discarded suit of clothes and an overcoat. We at once put the clothing to work on the back of a worthy man who had been sick, and who, without it, could not have faced his job. It is hard to tell who is most pleased, your reader or the man to whom he gave a lift.

Our trained visitors know intimately hundreds of homes and can tell at once just the man, woman, or child that will be most benefited by any garments sent in. Those who may not feel able to contribute money can very greatly help by sending clothing addressed to Mrs. H. Ingram, Superintendent of Relief, 105 East Twenty-second Street, Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor.

"Part of the Charter."

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Much favorable comment is made on the provision in the proposed Federal incorporation law prohibiting corporations organized thereunder from owning stock in other corporations. This is supposed to be the strong "anti-trust" provision. The proposed act also provides:

> This act, and all amendments thereof, shall be a part of the charter of every corporation formed hereunder.

First will be the law permitting incorporation under National law but prohibiting ownership of stock in other corporations. Next, an amendment permitting the ownership of stock, not to exceed a certain per cent. of the total stock of other corporations, and gradually the combinations will obtain the coveted National authority and recognition.

Notes on Meteorology.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The weather conditions yesterday, with a sparkling sun, recalled the remark of Wordsworth's Idiot Boy about the sun shining "so cold." That line is a jewel and is enough to preserve the poem of "The Idiot Boy," at which critics look askance.

This morning at half past six, looking to the southeast, I saw the moon worn down to the sharpest sickle that I have ever seen it show. The new moon is only two days off.

One theory of the phoenix traces the origin of this magnificent allegory to the periodical destruction of the moon in the fire of the sun and its soaring onward to a new lease of its immortal youth. The period would be lengthened from four weeks to five centuries through dignity of treatment.

A Look Ahead.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In view of the terrible conditions now existing on surface, elevated, and subway lines during rush hours; in view of the fact that these conditions are getting worse every day; in view of the fact that no plan has anywhere been agreed upon by the Public Service Commission, Board of Estimate, and other bodies, and in view of the fact that it takes from three to four years to build a subway—it is reasonable to predict that before relief comes conditions will be so appalling as to make city travel so vile and dangerous that none but the most hardy and reckless may attempt it.

A great responsibility rests on our city officers, and a great opportunity awaits them. What are they going to do about it?

Germans Adopted the Melody.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Referring to a letter in this morning's Times, in which it is stated that the Germans have used the melody of "God Save the King," I would respectfully refer your correspondent to Erk's Deutscher Liederschatz. This collection of German songs and their origin states that the melody of "God Save the King" was written in 1743 in England by Henry Carey. In 1793 it first appeared in Berlin, the German text having been written in 1790 by Heinrich Harries. If this information is correct it should appear that the Germans had adopted the melody from the English.

BABSON PREDICTS A PANIC IN 1912

Economist, in a Talk to a Y. M. C. A. Class, Says One-fourth of Our Prosperity Has Gone.

SELIGMAN DEFENDS TRUSTS

Their Vast Aggregations of Capital Serve to Steady the Financial World in Time of a Crisis.

About one-quarter of the period of prosperity has gone and another financial crisis may be reached about 1912, according to the observations drawn from financial history which Roger W. Babson, the economist, expounded last night at the West Side Y. M. C. A. The high point of Stock Exchange prices usually comes after about one-third to one-half of the prosperous years have been enjoyed, said Mr. Babson. So he believes that there will be recovery from the present decline before a general trend downward sets in.

He founded his deductions first on the area theory of financial phenomena. When the composite curve of a large number of financial factors, such as imports, bank clearances, iron production, and immigration are plotted, it is seen that action and reaction are about the same, and that about as large an area is used to represent a depression as at a time of prosperity. The only thing, argued Mr. Babson, is that no man can tell how intense a movement one way or the other will be, and consequently he cannot say whether there will be a long period of moderate prosperity or a short period when everything booms.

Much the same result is arrived at by examining twenty-five of the great commercial factors, said Mr. Babson. It is found that at present eight factors point to continued prosperity—building statistics, bank clearings, imports, immigration, crops, railroad earnings, foreign money rates, and failures. Eight factors foretell lower stock prices, namely, commodity prices, money in circulation, Controllers' reports, exports, balances of trade, gold movements, new securities, and the production of gold. Six other subjects, including bank statements, are of a negative character. On the whole, contended the speaker, this system of prophesying the future appears to signify that the culmination of the stock market will be in the next three or four months.

The relation of the bank deposits to loans, it was pointed out, is also fairly satisfactory at present. The ratio of loans to deposits has increased greatly since last year, but the only danger in sight is the strain that might be imposed by a bumper harvest next Fall.

Mr. Babson then gave his audience some advice as to legitimate investments and speculation. If they wanted to invest he advised them not to buy a listed security, because they must pay for its listing, but to go to a reliable bond broker and invest in a first-class 5 per cent. non-listed, inactive bond. If they wished to speculate he declared in favor of playing the market; that is, the speculator's money should be used to buy outright as many shares as he could manage of ten of the leading stocks on the market. When they were high he should sell and put his money into short-time bills or into a bank. When stocks were low he should buy in again. In this way he would not be buying and selling a specific stock, but would be selling his money when money was in demand and securities when they were in demand.

Prof. Edwin R. A. Seligman of Columbia followed with a discussion of commercial crises as distinguished from the financial crises known as panics. He pointed out that commercial crises or depressions were unknown in this country till 1817, and had been becoming less severe on every recurrence since 1857. This he accounted for by the fact that they have been caused by capitalization of industry, and that modern industry is becoming better organized, and so better able to meet them.

His explanation of their recurrence was the natural tendency to overcapitalize enterprises, which was often done quite innocently. Man is generally optimistic, and so he overestimates the value of a business as a going concern and capitalizes it overmuch. Then ensues the painful process of squeezing the water out of the stocks.

In this connection Dr. Seligman spoke of one good feature in the so-called trusts. One reason for the short duration of the commercial crisis of 1907 was the steadying influence of these great aggregations of capital. The United States Steel Corporation would not raise its prices during the boom period before the crash, and tried not to lower them afterward, he said. Consequently it acted as a steadying influence on the business world.

The lecturer also touched on the continued increase in the output of gold, which tended to raise prices when other causes were at work to decrease them, and put in a strong plea for some kind of a central banking institution, denouncing the present system of decentralization and local self-government in financial affairs as a childish attempt to deal with a problem of ever-growing complexity.

CIVILIZATION "SOUSED."

The Facts About Alcoholism Ought Not to be Ignored.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have read your quotations from the address delivered recently by Dr. T. Alexander MacNichol, and am puzzled at the use of the word "pessimistic" in describing his sentiments. Has any one proved that Dr. MacNichol is wrong in his statements? There are any number of people who believe him to be right, and if he has merely stated a fact why should he be called pessimistic?

The word optimism seems, through common usage, to mean a whitewashed, rose-tinted, sugar-coated description of the bitter things of life which some men absolutely refuse to see, and pessimism, instead of standing for the distorted vision of a torpid liver, is utilized wherever a man observes actual conditions and describes them exactly as they are, with no attempt either to gloss or to darken them.

Apparently no two words in the English language are more abused than the two in question, and no intelligent thinker is more wronged by the public than when he is called a pessimist for merely being a truth teller. Dr. Lawrence F. Flick says in the fifth annual report of the Henry Phipps Institute:

> The mortality among those who admit a history of alcoholism is 100 per cent. higher than it is among those who deny it; and the mortality among those who admit a history of alcoholism in the preceding generation is about 80 per cent. higher than the mortality among those who deny it.

In view of these facts is it not possible that Dr. MacNichol's suggestion that the Government should use its police power for the destruction of alcoholism (to save future generations of school children) is something more than pessimism?

Regardless of the fact that the writer will also be called a pessimist I have no hesitation in saying that civilization is "soused" at the present time, and unless the Government soon reforms itself and its people there will be little vitality or longevity left for coming generations.

The Plutocrats of Hash.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Tips? Who said tips? A friend of mine reports that he dined the other evening at a Broadway Babylonian garden—it's a hanging garden, where they hang you up for all you have in sight, but it is the real kibosh—and when he came to get his coat and hat he handed the boy a dollar to have it changed so the poor lad might get his share. The boy brought two half dollars. The patron handed back one and told him to get smaller change for it. "Huh!" replied the boy, "we don't have no smaller change here than half a dollar." In this case we are pleased to report that such a condition of the change market was unfortunate for the boy. There come times in this Manhattan existence when the worm will turn. The spirit of sic semper tyrannis is not yet wholly trampled into the Persian rugs of that plutocratic Phoenix which rises from the hashes in this here town.

PERU TO LONDON IN 19 DAYS.

Mining Man Making the Trip—From a Liner to the Mauretania by Tug.

If the Cunard liner Mauretania, which sailed yesterday for Liverpool, is not delayed on her passage Howard Gahan, an English mining man, will have made the remarkably fast time of nineteen days from Lima, Peru, to London. Mr. Gahan arrived on the Atlas liner Prinz August Wilhelm from South America. The steamer came up the bay just as the Mauretania moved out from her North River pier. The mining man was transferred from steamer to steamer in a tug.

Mr. Gahan is interested in copper mining in Peru. While he was in Lima he received a cable from London announcing an important Directors' meeting, and he was urged to return. He knew it would be a close shave to get to London in twenty-one days, but he determined to try. He left Lima the day he received the cable and took a steamship up the west coast to Panama. He crossed the isthmus by railroad just in time to catch the Prinz August Wilhelm on Feb. 1.

The Atlas liner left Quarantine at 8 A. M. yesterday. There did not appear to be time for Mr. Gahan to land and reach the Cunard pier at 9 A. M., the sailing time of the Mauretania. A wireless message was sent for a tug. Two shore stations notified a towboat company that a tug was wanted. Another wireless message notified Capt. Turner to look out for a passenger.

The arrangements were all carried out and Mr. Gahan and his luggage were swung safely on the Mauretania just as she gathered headway for her journey.

UPSETS NOVEL WILL CLAUSE.

Court Sets Aside $500,000 Provision for Needy Relatives to the Sixth Degree.

When Emanuel Walter, a millionaire carpet and furniture dealer of San Francisco, died in October, 1905, he left a curious clause in his will, bequeathing more than half a million dollars of his estate in trust for fifty years as a provident fund for all needy relatives of his within the sixth degree of kinship. A decision just handed down by the Court of Appeals declares this trust clause of the will invalid, rendering the testator, in so far intestate, and making the entire residuary estate revert to his nearest heirs at law, to whom had already been bequeathed over $600,000 of the estate.

In his will Mr. Walter, who was unmarried, bequeathed about $190,000 to charities and art institutions in this city and San Francisco and some $600,000 to his nearest kin—brothers, sisters, and nephews and nieces. He directed his brothers, Moritz Walter of this city and Isaac N. Walter of San Francisco, as his executors, to hold the residuary estate, amounting to about half a million dollars, as a trust fund from the income of which they were to support at their discretion any needy relatives within the sixth degree that might seem worthy of help in the next fifty years. At the end of that time the residuary estate was to be divided among all his relatives within the sixth degree, of whom there were already about 600.

$604,304 BACK SUGAR DUTIES.

Penalties for Underweighing Paid by Three Concerns $3,434,304.

The negotiations which the Government has been carrying on with the National Sugar Refining Company for several months looking to a settlement of back duties on sugar underweighed at this port came to a definite result yesterday. Winfred T. Denison, who with Henry L. Stimson represents the Government in the suit, gave out a statement in which he said that the National had settled for $604,304, this settlement, however, not affecting any possible criminal prosecutions.

This makes a total of $3,434,304 recovered for the Government in back duties from the big sugar companies. Of this amount the American Sugar Refining Company has paid $2,135,000, Arbuckle Brothers $695,000, and the National the sum announced yesterday.

Home for Gentlewomen.

A meeting of the committee which proposes to obtain a fund for the erection of a non-sectarian home for Southern women of gentle birth will be held at 2:15 this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Leroy Broun, 148 West Seventy-seventh Street. The committee, known as the Pension Fund Committee, probably will be increased at this meeting, and all women in sympathy with the movement are invited to attend.

Eventually the general committee will be divided into numerous sub-committees, which will be charged with obtaining funds along different lines. The matter will be taken up with all of the Southern societies in New York and with some of the Southern States, which are expected to co-operate.

Mrs. Blossom Left $636,000.

The appraisal of the estate of Mrs. Minnie P. C. Blossom, who died on Jan. 26, 1909, at Pasadena, Cal., was filed yesterday. Mrs. Blossom left $553,687 in personal property and $83,000 in real estate. Her principal personal property consisted of stock to the amount of $116,840 and $40,000 in the scrip of the Eighth Avenue Railroad and $68,923 in the stock of the Central Railroad of New Jersey.

To her husband, Benjamin Blossom, she left $356,000; to her mother-in-law, Mary W. P. Blossom, $5,075, and to her daughter, Ellen Rowena Eliot, $7,000 in cash and the income of her residuary estate for life, with the power of testamentary disposition.

Lenten Services at Old Trinity.

Lenten observers filled old Trinity at the midday service yesterday. The Right Rev. J. B. Funsten, Bishop of Idaho, delivered the Ash Wednesday sermon in place of Bishop Greer, who was prevented by illness from opening the season's services. "This is not a time of self-abnegation or self-chastisement," Bishop Funsten said. "That is the mediaeval idea. In the twentieth century Lent has become in the Church a time for realization."

JUST U-S, US.

The U. S. is a braggart nation.—Prof. Goode of the Chicago University.

Great Scot,
What Rot!
We a braggart nation?
Come off, you're dishing dirt;
Perhaps we're somewhat gushy,
But not enough to hurt.
Of course we've got a country
That's second now to none,
And as a nifty people
We rather take the bun;
Old Glory is a banner
That tops all other flags,
And as a textile fabric
It is the first of rags;
Our ships of war, that circled
This big, round globe, have set
Some pegs of navigation
Nobody's followed yet;
The steel that's in our railways
Would reach the moon and back,
And we've got locomotives
To haul them down the track;
Our buildings scrape the heavens,
And when the stars get tired
They roost up on their ridge-poles
And shine by being wired;
Our farms are so extensive
That one of them alone
Could swallow up a kingdom
And hide its King and throne;
Our one and only Peary,
Through arctic storm and stress,
Went for the north pole trophy
And branded it "U. S.";
Our Trusts—but say,
Why get gay
Over our natural way?
By cripes,
If Uncle Sam swipes
Everything in sight,
Haven't we got a right
To refer in a modest manner
To the Star Spangled Banner?

RARE PAINTINGS IN NEW GALLERIES

Whistler, Tryon, Dewing, and Thayer Represented in the Exhibition at Montross's.

FINE GROUP OF LANDSCAPES

Tryon's "After Showers" and "Early Spring" Are Dainty in Color and Eloquent of Poetic Feeling.

N. E. Montross opens his new galleries to-day with an exhibition of the greatest distinction. There are only twenty-two pictures in the exhibition, which with one exception is made up of loans from the Freer collection of the National Gallery, Washington, and the collection of Col. Frank J. Hecker, but it yields to no exhibition in the city in beauty and dignity. Four painters are represented—T. W. Dewing, A. H. Thayer, D. W. Tryon, and J. A. McNeill Whistler.

The group of landscapes by Mr. Tryon, homogeneous in style and characteristic of a singularly personal point of view, is nevertheless rich in variety of interest. Col. Hecker's "After Showers: June" is full of the sweet greens of early Summer and drenched with moist atmosphere, delicate in tone and communicative of a blithe emotion. In a similar vein is the "Early Spring" on the same wall, no less dainty in color and eloquent of poetic feeling.

The central picture on this wall is, however, so impressive as to claim the particular attention of the observer. It is called "Autumn Morning," and its austerity and gravity both in color and composition are such as to awaken a deeper emotion than often is conveyed by modern landscape. Although it contains much rich and powerful color there is a curiously cold solemnity in the general effect—just such a suggestion of warmth withdrawn from air and sky as one receives from the Autumn landscape in northern regions.

Another Autumn scene on the opposite wall—a just completed picture called "Autumn Twilight"—repeats with a more opulent and vivid scheme of color the impression of nobility and power. The sunset fires in the sky mark a notable triumph over the artifice of the ordinary palette. In them is no taint of pigment, yet no denial of the honest medium. This canvas like the other is a convincing demonstration of the power of matter to express the intangible spirit of beauty.

Other paintings by Mr. Tryon are "The Sea: Evening," "Rising Moon," "Daybreak: May," "October," "Autumn Afternoon," "Autumn Day," each showing the painter's solicitude for the essential facts of nature—the weight of the ponderable earth, the dome of the sky above it, the fluent quality of the air enveloping it, the structure of the trees and their buoyant spring from the imbedded roots, each showing also the generalizing instinct of a painter whom no charm of detail can lure toward pettiness. The notation of atmospheric truths is, of course, one of the chief characteristics of Mr. Tryon's painting, and his vision is not likely to become less sensitive to such subtleties with time, but it may not be amiss to call attention to what seems to the present writer an increase of force in his later work, an increase of the power to hold in a unity of tone a larger number of phenomena, to introduce into his scheme a richer play of linear and color values. His art, in a word, has developed from the fragility of adolescence toward the deeper and more durable mood of the middle years.

Mr. Dewing's pictures, only six in number, range from the decorative panel called "The Garland," painted about ten years ago, to the "Yellow Tulips" of last year. The former is a composition of three graceful women in a landscape, two of them holding the garland of the title rôle. The green of the meadow in which they stand forms background and foreground alike, the color in the draperies passes from a rose-flushed violet at the left through a colder violet toward green. There are flowers in the meadow that strike delicate notes of pure color, a blue of Canterbury bells or larkspurs, a pale yellow, a faint pink chiming in the most fairylike of harmonies.

The four corners of the room hold four paintings of single figures, "The Lute Player," "The Brown Dress," the fine "Portrait of Elizabeth," a young girl in a black dress, as notable in characterization as in the vitality of the drawing and the distinguished color, and the "Yellow Tulips." On one of the side walls is a picture that has never been shown before in New York, a woman seated at a harpsichord, a tapestry of bold design forming the background.

It goes without saying that the pattern of line in all these compositions has a dainty yet vigorous distinction, that the color wraps the form like a garment, a diaphanous fabric of faint dyes; what escapes the casual observation is the sinewy character of the types and the answering wholesomeness of their realization. The painter's style is so individual and extraordinary—the sense of style in his pictures is so inexorably present to the consciousness, and the refinement of the craftsmanship is so notable that the intense significance of his work, the classic quality persisting through the nervous elegance of modern technique, frequently is overlooked.

Yet who can have seen the Tanagra figures or—to push the matter further—the Elgin marbles without recognizing a remote kinship between their muscular forms and large gestures and these deep-chested women with their small heads, their long arms, their rhythmic attitudes. With Mr. Dewing also, we seem to perceive a growing tendency toward greater freedom and a more ample treatment of form. The slight stiffness of his early models has become in his later work a flexible repose.

Mr. Thayer's part in the exhibition is limited to three examples, two characteristic heads and the powerful "Monadnock," which was shown at Philadelphia a few years ago.

The Whistler pictures are also three in number, two small examples which illustrate the extreme possibilities of "infinite riches in a little room," and one much larger—"Variations in Pink and Gray: Chelsea," limpid in color and light in touch, a delectable foretaste of the coming exhibition at the Metropolitan Museum.

The collection will remain on view until Feb. 26, and is one that should not be missed.

JOSEPH'S WHEAT SOLD FOR $2.

"The Standard Bearer," by Detti, Brings $1,150 at Picture Sale.

Joseph's wheat from the granaries of Pharaoh, found in what the Gizeh Museum of Cairo believes to be the original storehouses in Egypt of the days of the Children of Israel, was sold yesterday at the Fifth Avenue Art Galleries. The many people who have been visiting the galleries since the wheat has been on exhibition to see if it showed signs of sprouting, gave up at last, and the several little boxes of the wheat were auctioned off for only $2. It went to a buyer who called himself Mr. Hammar. It was said that he might be an agent of Luther Burbank.

The total for the sale, which will be concluded to-day, brought $3,123. There were excited bids all over the galleries for "The Standard Bearer," by Cesare Detti, in the picture sale of last evening, the highest bid being $1,150. H. D. G. Rohlfs paid [illegible] for Frederic Ede's "Landscape and [illegible]," "Waiting at the Ferry," [illegible] Perret, brought $400. "The Upper Thames," Watts, $160; "At the Window," [illegible], $125; "Harvest," John Lewis [illegible], $145; "On the [illegible] River," [illegible] "Girl in [illegible]" W. Freer, [illegible] "In the Park," James Tissot, [illegible] people were [illegible] on account of the storm.

HAMMERSTEIN OFFER TO METROPOLITAN

Says He's Willing to Sell His Philadelphia Opera House, Giving Rivals Control.

STILL DEMANDS GUARANTEE

Charges That Metropolitan Company Waived Guarantee to Influence Movement Against Security for Him.

Oscar Hammerstein made yesterday an addition to his former statement about opera in Philadelphia, in which he said that he would be willing to sell his Philadelphia Opera House to the Metropolitan Opera Company if that company would care to buy it. The complete statement follows:

"When I telephoned my views and decision to the Philadelphia newspapers yesterday I was not acquainted with the full text of the announcement made by the Metropolitan Opera House. I reiterate that the decision of the Metropolitan Opera Company to continue opera in Philadelphia for no more than twenty performances without a guarantee next season has not the slightest influence upon my decision to discontinue my performances in that city unless I obtain a guarantee such as has been given to the Metropolitan in all the past years.

"My Philadelphia Opera House is devoted to grand opera only; no other form of attraction is permitted by me; its dignity and devotion to this great purpose must not be invalidated. Therefore the edifice is unoccupied for seven months in the year; orchestra, chorus, and all attachés, numbering nearly 500, are all residents of Philadelphia, and all these are being paid by the week. There are but four performances a week in Philadelphia against five in New York, with the same expenditures, while the prices of admission are the same regardless of an expenditure of nearly $2,000 per week for transportation.

"It is evident that the intent and purpose of the Metropolitan Opera Company in waiving its guarantee for next season is to influence any movement against the guarantee which I am unable to do without. Why did they exact a guarantee when they had the field to themselves? With some trepidation I venture the expression of a thought that the sudden magnanimity of the Metropolitan Opera Directors in offering opera without a guarantee has been brought about by the certainty that Philadelphia would not have offered them any guarantee whatever in future. In November last the Metropolitan Opera Company announced that it was willing to purchase the Philadelphia Opera House if I withdrew. To prove once more that my labors in the field of grand opera are inspired by the loftiest of motives and uninfluenced by any thought of monetary gain I am willing to sell the Philadelphia Opera House to the Metropolitan Opera Company, giving it sole control of the operatic situation in Philadelphia. I will continue my life's labor in the cause of art and great music in New York only."

Directors of the Metropolitan Opera Company said that they had nothing to say in answer to Mr. Hammerstein's offer.

MISS ANGLIN AND LIEBLERS.

Tentative Contracts Signed for Her Appearance for Them Next Season.

Margaret Anglin again will go under the management of Liebler & Co. next season provided George C. Tyler of that firm is able to find a play to her liking before the last of November. Miss Anglin and Mr. Tyler have signed tentative contracts that provide for the actress's appearance under the direction of Liebler & Co. in a high comedy on the condition that Mr. Tyler and she are able to agree upon the choice of a play in time for a production about Christmas.

Ten years ago Miss Anglin appeared under Leibler & Co.'s direction, playing in James O'Neill's company in "Hamlet," "Monte Cristo," "Richelieu," and "Virginius." She was next with Richard Mansfield, and then again went under the Liebler management in "The Musketeers." At that time Mr. Tyler came to the conclusion that Miss Anglin's greatest possibilities lay in comedy rôles while Miss Anglin maintained that she was best in emotional parts. The actress adhered to her opinion, and has continued to play emotional rôles, although Mr. Tyler has persisted in believing she can play better in comedy.

Yesterday Mr. Tyler and Miss Anglin met and renewed the controversy. Finally Miss Anglin agreed to play a comedy next season if Mr. Tyler would provide a play that she likes. Otherwise, she will continue in emotional parts. In any event, Louis Nethersole, her present manager, will continue in that capacity.

MRS. FISKE IN THREE PLAYS.

To Produce "Pillars of Society," "Hannele", "Green Cockatoo" This Spring.

Plans for Mrs. Fiske's Spring season were announced yesterday. They include the production of three plays—Ibsen's "The Pillars of Society," Hauptmann's "Hannele," and Arthur Schnitzler's one-act drama, "The Green Cockatoo." Mrs. Fiske will appear in the first of these plays on Easter Monday, March 28. She will have one month in New York, and will then start on a Spring and Summer tour that will take her to the Pacific Coast as well as through the Eastern States.

All of these plays have been given in New York before, but never for regular production at a Broadway theatre. Some years ago Wilton Lackaye appeared for a few special performances in "Pillars of Society," last year "Hannele" was put on at the Fifty-ninth Street German Theatre, and Schnitzler's "The Green Cockatoo" has also been done here in German. Schnitzler's writings are known here in English through his three-act drama, "The Reckoning," played by Katherine Grey at the Berkeley Lyceum Theatre in February, 1907, and "The Literary Sense," a one-act piece put on at the Madison Square Theatre in 1908.

Mrs. Fiske's last appearance in "Salvation Nell" will be at the end of her Brooklyn engagement on Feb. 19. She has continued in this play for two consecutive seasons with scarcely any rest. Her coming tour will continue without break until the end of October.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

The New Theatre announces that it will give an extra matinee of "The Witch," which is to have its premier next Monday night, on Washington's Birthday, Feb. 22. This will be the first special matinee given on a holiday at the New Theatre.

A special feature of the matinee of the American Academy of Dramatic Arts at the Empire Theatre this afternoon will be the first performance of Henry Kirk's new play, "The Eye of the Needle." "The Last Visit," by Hermann Sudermann, will also be presented.

Burton Holmes will give an extra travelogue at the Lyceum Theatre to-morrow afternoon, speaking on "Italy." Beginning a week from Sunday a supplementary series of travelogues will be delivered by Wright Kramer, Mr. Holmes's associate lecturer, at the Lyceum Theatre.

Four hundred members of the National Pulp and Paper Manufacturers' Association attended the performance of "The Jolly Bachelors" at the Broadway Theatre last night.

Sothern and Marlowe have decided to give three extra performances at the Academy of Music during their engagement there. The first will take place on Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 16; the second on the afternoon of Washington's Birthday, and the third on the afternoon of March 2.

John Corbin, literary director of The New Theatre, has been invited to deliver an address on "The New Theatre, Its Aims and Appeal," before the Catholic Club on Thursday, Feb. 17.

Ben Greet has received enough subscriptions and applications for the ten weeks' season of his players at the Garden Theatre to formally announce the opening of the season on Feb. 21 with "She Stoops to Conquer" as the first play. The repertoire for the engagement has already been announced.

Keith & Proctor announced last night that Loie Fuller's Ballet in Light and [illegible] Symbolic Dances," has been engaged to appear in vaudeville to open on [illegible]

SOCIAL NOTES.

Mrs. Robert W. De Forest of 7 Washington Square North will give a musicale on Thursday evening, Feb. 10. Miss Amy Grant, assisted by Charles L. Safford, will give a lecture on the Strauss opera, "Elektra."

The date of the wedding of Miss Marie Louise Logan and Henri de Sincay of Belgium, which was originally set for Saturday afternoon, Feb. 26, has been changed to Wednesday, Feb. 23. The ceremony will be performed at 12 o'clock and there will be a wedding breakfast at the residence of Mrs. John A. Logan, 17 West Fifty-sixth Street. The bridegroom will arrive from abroad on Feb. 11.

Mrs. August Heckscher of 622 Fifth Avenue will give a dinner this evening at her residence.

Mrs. George Edward Wyeth will entertain on Tuesday evening, Feb. 15, with a dinner for Miss Charlotte Wyeth.

Mrs. James Speyer will give a dinner this evening at her home, 257 Madison Avenue, for the German Ambassador and Comtesse von Bernstorff.

Mrs. Henry G. Trevor will give a bridge on Feb. 17 for Mrs. J. Bruce Ismay.

Mrs. Charles E. Sampson will entertain at Sherry's this evening with a dinner.

Among those stopping at the St. Regis are Baron Hengelmuller, Minister Morgan, and Minister Portela.

Farewell to Italian Ambassador.

The Italian Ambassador and Baroness Mayor des Planches have postponed their departure from America in order to be present at the special performance of "La Gioconda" at the Metropolitan Opera House on the evening of Washington's Birthday for the Society for Italian Immigrants. As the Ambassador and Baroness have many friends in New York the committee hopes that they will take this opportunity to give them an adequate farewell, and express anew the friendly feeling which exists between the United States and Italy. Tickets for boxes and seats may be obtained from Miss Doane, 18 West Thirty-fourth Street, and from Tyson's Ticket Offices, and on and after Feb. 15 from the Metropolitan Opera House.

Joint Entertainment for Charity.

At a meeting of the Minerva Club and the New York Daughters of the Confederacy, held Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Simon Baruch, 51 West Seventieth Street, it was decided that the two clubs give a joint entertainment at the Waldorf-Astoria March 12, the proceeds to be devoted to the charity work of the two organizations. Tableaux and games will be arranged for the entertainment of the children during the afternoon, and a musical programme has been arranged for the night. Mrs. Simon Baruch was elected Chairman of the Entertainment Committee for the two clubs. Tickets for the entertainment may be had at the residence of Mrs. Frank E. Cutler, 344 West Seventy-second Street.

Ayres-King Engagement Severed.

The engagement of Fairfax Ayres and Miss Dorothy King, a daughter of David W. King, Jr., has been terminated by mutual consent. The engagement was never formally announced. Owing to the death of Mr. Ayres's father, Col. Charles G. Ayres, a short time since, Mr. Ayres's responsibilities had become so great as to preclude a marriage in the immediate future, and rather than have a long engagement it was decided by Miss King and her fiance to break it. This was done some time ago. There has been no breach between the two families, and Mr. Ayres and Miss King are on friendly terms.

Griffith Hughes's Song Recital.

Griffith Hughes, the young Welsh baritone, will give his third annual song recital at the Hotel Plaza on the afternoon of Feb. 23, assisted by Jan Munkacsy, the Hungarian violinist. Charles Gilbert Spross will be at the piano. The programme will consist of selections of Brahms, Debussy, Strauss, Schubert, Schuman, Grieg, Wolf, and other well-known composers.

Among the patronesses are Mrs. Mackay, Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, Mrs. Henry Dimock, Mrs. W. C. Story, Mrs. James Lees Laidlaw, and Mrs. Edwin Gould.

Mrs. William Salomon's Dance.

Through an error in Tuesday's TIMES the list of guests at the dance of Mrs. Blackstone Taylor was added to the report of the dance given by Mrs. William Salomon last Monday evening. Mrs. William Salomon did not furnish the names of any of her guests.

Miss Sutherland to Wed A. R. Elmore.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Senator and Mrs. George Sutherland of Utah announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Edith Lee Sutherland, to A. Robert Elmore of New York City, the wedding to take place in this city May 3. Miss Sutherland made her debut less than two years ago.

Actresses to Receive President Taft.

The twelve actresses who are to receive President Taft at the opening of the Actors' Fund fair in May are to be selected by ballot by a committee of electors made up of prominent critics and playwrights. The twenty-eight actresses nominated are Grace George, Henrietta Crosman, Mary Mannering, Charlotte Walker, Hattie Williams, Blanche Bates, Helen Ware, Marie Doro, Rose Stahl, Elsie Janis, Maude Adams, Julia Marlowe, Mrs. Fiske, Billie Burke, Margaret Anglin, Eleanor Robson, Ethel Barrymore, Maxine Elliott, Lillian Russell, Elsie Ferguson, Julie Opp, Viola Allen, Frances Starr, Edith Wynne Mathison, Alla Nazimova, Annie Russell, Mabel Taliaferro, and Blanche Ring. The twelve selected will be announced when all of the votes have been sent in.

Actors Want Postal Savings Bank.

A petition has been put in circulation among actors and other theatrical folk advocating the establishment of a postal savings bank in the United States. The petition is directed to Congress and reads: "We, the undersigned, engaged in the theatrical business, desire to express our interest in the passage of a bill establishing a postal savings bank as an adjunct to the United States postal service. Such a department would be of the greatest service, not only to several hundred thousand people connected in some capacity with the acting business, but to every one compelled by business to travel continually."

Suffragettes See "Just a Wife."

A party of Suffragettes occupied many of the orchestra seats and boxes at the Belasco Theatre last night and applauded the "equal rights" sentiments expressed in Eugene Walter's play, "Just a Wife." A large floral piece, shaped like a Suffragette button and made of jonquils and white carnations, with "Votes for Women" in blue, occupied a prominent place in the lobby. It was inscribed to Charlotte Walker, the star of the play.

Prosperity Parade of Commercial Men.

The United Commercial Travelers, a society organized by eight traveling salesmen on Jan. 8, 1888, and since become a National secret fraternity with a lodge system throughout the country, will hold a grand council in this city on June 11, 12, and 13. The travelers will also hold a prosperity parade in which every branch of trade will be represented. The order is said to be the only secret fraternity in the world composed of one craft of men, and has grown to a membership of 55,000.

"ELEKTRA" DEFAMES CLASSICS, SAY GREEKS

In Church Meeting Denounce the Opera as Presented at the Manhattan.

SCHOOL FOR HELLENIC MUSIC

Mrs. Duncan, Who Sang in the Greek Language, May Be Teacher—The Course Will Be Open to All Free.

Greeks of the city to the number of about 1,000 met last night in the Greek, otherwise known as the Evangelismos, Church, in West Thirtieth Street, between Eighth and Ninth Avenues, and vigorously protested against the present production of the opera "Elektra" at the Manhattan Opera House. The principal speakers were Raymond Duncan, brother of Isadora Duncan, the dancer, who still clings to the traditional Greek manner of dress; Pope Lazaris, the priest of the church, and Michael F. Theodoropolas, L.L. D., editor of the Thermopylae, the Greek paper published in New York.

The objection to the opera as set forth by all the speakers is that it violates all the accepted canons of Greek dramatic structure, defames the Greek classics, and gives the American people an entirely erroneous idea of Greek literature and art. After the meeting a project was formed to teach Hellenic music in this city.

A school for this purpose will be started Monday evening in the basement of the Greek Church. It will be free, and people of any nationality may join. Penelope Duncan, wife of Raymond Duncan, may be the teacher. Last night Mrs. Duncan sang several Greek songs in the original language, just to give an idea of the beauty of Hellenic music. Next Saturday afternoon, as a further protest to the American method of presenting ancient Greek dramas, the Greek colony in the city will give scenes from the original "Elektra" of Sophocles and from other ancient Greek dramas at Carnegie Lyceum.

The scene last night was picturesque. Dressed in flowing robes and sandals, with his long hair streaming over his shoulders, Mr. Duncan stirred his audience in the gas and candle lighted church to enthusiasm. The speaker said it was his purpose to show that the beauty of the original Greek dramas was infinitely more interesting than the garbled versions. In the present opera, he said, Elektra was represented as a shrieking, howling maniac, while in the original she was just the opposite.

"Everything that is good, beautiful, and true in the drama to-day," said Mr. Duncan, "has its foundation in the Greek drama of centuries ago. The same is true in regard to modern music. All the present musical terms and technical knowledge has been handed down through the writings of Greek dramatists and philosophers. 'Elektra,' which is one of the most wonderful and beautiful of the Greek works, has been mutilated and molded into one of the most vile and immodest plays ever put on the American stage. It is our plan to devise a way to put real Greek plays and music into the hands of the people. That is the only way in which we can hope to win the sympathy of the American public.

"If the original works of the famous Greek authors could be put on the American stage the people would enjoy them more than they do the bad plays or the mutilation of the Greek plays. Why, the present managers take a beautiful Greek play and put into the mouths of the characters cheap Bowery language."

The speaker told the audience to try and spread the knowledge in America of what real Grecian art and literature meant.

When he had finished several hundred excited Greeks announced their intention of attending the school of music as soon as it is started.

MR. BONCI AS FAUST.

His First Appearance in the Part at the Metropolitan Opera House.

Another performance of "Faust" was given at the Metropolitan Opera House last evening. The participants in it were the same as have been heard this year before except Mr. Bonci, who sang Faust for the first time at the Metropolitan Opera House. In his singing Mr. Bonci gave a beautiful performance—a performance which for beauty and style, for the exquisite way in which he treated Gounod's cantabile in finish and purity of phrasing, operagoers must go far back in their memories to find an equal. Mr. Bonci is not a heroic or a romantic figure in the part, but he is agreeable and wholly competent to represent the significance of the part. And at any rate there is so much to delight the lovers of the best kind of singing in what he does that there can be little but admiration for his performance.

Miss Farrar's Marguerite and Mr. Gilly's Valentine were also much admired, and the representation called forth much enthusiasm.

SHERIFFS VISIT LOIE FULLER.

Have Executions Against Dancer, but Accept Promises to Pay.

Two Deputy Sheriffs yesterday visited Loie Fuller, the dancer, in Suite 413 of the Hoffman House armed with two property executions and seeking what they could find of value.

The first judgment was obtained by Lawyer Taylor Moore, representing Grant Squires, the executor of the estate of the late Catharine Donovan, a New York modiste. Miss Fuller, according to a judgment granted against her in the City Court, owes the estate $713.

The second judgment was in favor of Edward Bosanquet, an artist engaged by Miss Fuller to assist her in the production of one of her dances. M. Bosanquet sued for $384 salary due.

Miss Fuller had planned, she told the Sheriffs, to leave at once for Boston, where she expected to shortly take out on the road a company in vaudeville and make a lot of money and pay the two judgments. The Sheriffs left empty handed.

Mr. Busoni's Recital.

Mr. Ferruccio Busoni did give a second piano recital after all. It was in Carnegie Hall yesterday afternoon, and those who were there had the opportunity to admire and enjoy some rarely beautiful playing of the pianoforte. He played first four transcriptions of the sort that he industriously makes of the works of all sorts of composers—of Bach, Beethoven, Mozart, and Paganini. He then gave in their entirety the twenty-four preludes of Chopin in a manner to delight and bewilder the listener, with a wonderful variety of tone and color, intensity of expression, emotion, passion, gloom, exaltation—all the amazing contents of these pieces that together contain a whole epitome of Chopin's musical nature. His programme ended with Liszt's sonata.

MUSIC NOTES.

Joseph Weiss, the pianist who recently had an encounter with Gustav Mahler which ended in his not appearing at a Philharmonic concert at which he had been announced, will give a piano recital this afternoon in the Gainsborough Studios, 222 Central Park South, at 3 o'clock.

Mme. Tetrazzini, who has been absent from the local stage for some time, made her reappearance last night at the Manhattan Opera House in "Traviata." The cast included Messrs. McCormack and Sammarco. The house was packed to the doors.

George S. Madden, baritone, gave a song recital last evening in Mendelssohn Hall, assisted by Otto L. Fisher, pianist. The programme included songs by Schumann, Schubert, Debussy, Faure, Grieg, Strauss, Elgar, and others.

LOSE $38,600 CHECK.

S. L. Blood & Co. Messenger Dropped It Going to the Bank.

S. L. Blood & Co., brokers, of 66 Broadway, are hoping that a certified check for $38,600 which was lost by one of their messenger boys somewhere between the National Bank of Commerce and their office will not be found and presented for payment. They have given bond insuring the bank against all loss resulting from such a contingency, and on this assurance only were they able to secure from the bank a duplicate certified check for the amount.

The first check, which was made payable to S. L. Blood & Co. by Edward B. Smith & Co., bankers, of 27 Pine Street, in payment of a stock delivery, was sent to the bank, together with another check, for certification, through a messenger employed by the brokerage firm on Jan. 24. When the boy returned he had only one check. That for $38,600 was missing, and he insisted that the cashier must have failed to return it to him.

Mr. Blood at once notified the bank and asked that payment on the check be stopped. The bank records showed, however, that the check had been certified, and Mr. Blood was told that therefore the bank could not stop payment on it or issue a duplicate. The check must have been lost amid the great crowd of messengers at the cashier's window or on the street between the bank and the brokers' office.

The checks returned through the Clearing House were eagerly watched by Mr. Blood after that, in fear that the missing one might be cashed among them. Two weeks passed, however, and as the lost check failed to turn up Mr. Blood finally secured permission from the bank to have a duplicate check issued by Smith & Co. and certified, on condition that he would give bond to indemnify the bank against all possible loss in the transaction.

NEW ITALIAN LINER.

Fabre Company to Run Her on New York-Mediterranean Service.

The Fabre Steamship Company received yesterday an announcement of its new twin-screw steamer Sant' Anna. The vessel, of 15,000 tons, was built in the yards of Forges et Chantiers, Toulon, France. She is one of the most modern samples of the shipbuilders' craft and will be run in the company's Mediterranean-New York service. The vessel has a speed of nearly eighteen knots, and will make the voyage from here to Naples in about ten days. She is 500 feet long and has a beam of fifty-five feet.

The Sant' Anna will carry 100 first-class passengers and all the rooms for their accommodation are outside rooms. The public rooms include an immense dining room, a ballroom, a smoking room. The novelties will be an American bar, where nothing but distinctly American drinks will be served, and a Parisian out-of-doors café.

The vessel has accommodations for 900 steerage passengers. Their quarters were built to conform with the exacting demands of the Italian law.

The Fabre line pier at Thirty-fifth Street, Brooklyn, is nearing completion. It is one of the largest in the world, the officials say, and cost $2,000,000. It is a third of a mile long and 150 feet wide. It will accommodate a vessel 900 feet long.

O'DAY'S ESTATE A SCHOOL.

J. C. Groff Buys Kildysart, on Which More Than $1,000,000 Has Been Spent.

The McVickar-Gaillard Realty Company announces that it has sold Kildysart, at Deal Beach, N. J., the country estate of the late Daniel O'Day, Vice President of the Standard Oil Company. The property includes about fifty acres, with buildings, about one-quarter of a mile from the ocean and is bounded by Deal Lake on one side.

The purchaser is Joseph C. Groff, owner and Principal of the Groff School, in West Seventy-second Street. He has acquired the property for a school.

It is understood that more than a million dollars has been expended on the place, all of the contents of which are included in the sale. The contract was executed by the Trust Company of America as trustee under the will of the late Mr. O'Day.

DEAD AT 103.

Oldest Woman in New York Was Happy and Loved Life Until the End.

The oldest person in New York, so far as known, died on Tuesday night in an upper east side apartment. She was Mrs. Pauline Brooks, and she would have been 103 years old on March 10 next.

Her neighbors said yesterday that while she did not fear death in the least, her love of life was as strong as ever toward the end, and with six prosperous sons and daughters to leave after her, she was contented and happy. She had thirty-five grandchildren and twelve great-grandchildren. She was strong and well and about the house until two days before her death, dressing herself and going from room to room without effort.

"I guess I'll stay abed to-day. I feel a little tired," she said last Sunday morning to Mrs. Fannie Stearn, a married daughter, with whom she lived at 161 East 109th Street.

After the doctor had whispered to the sons and daughters, all of whom are approaching the allotted threescore and ten, that their mother's life was nearly done, they still believed that she was "just tired because of the cold," and they brought her flowers and dainty things to eat.

Mrs. Brooks was born in a small village in Prussia, three years after that kingdom's humiliation by Napoleon in the Jena campaign, and just at the time of its national awakening. When she was still a young girl she married a furrier, who afterward became well to do and had a business of his own. They continued to live there until about the time of the Franco-Prussian war. Their four sons at this time had emigrated to this city and were doing well in the shoe business. These four sons are Lippman, Louis, Ferdinand, and Theodore Brooks. They retired with a competence many years ago. Her daughters, Mrs. Stearn and Mrs. Bertha Marks, married Harlem business men. Mrs. Brooks's husband died a year after he came here. She was able to go about the streets until her ninety-eighth year, and became a well-known figure of the east side of Harlem. Her funeral, at the Bay Side Cemetery, this morning, will be attended by children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren to the number of fifty.

"KING OF THE BOWERY" DEAD.

Friend of the Sullivans and Other Politicians Expires in Hospital.

"Al" Russell, the "King of the Bowery," died yesterday in St. Luke's Hospital of heart disease. He had been failing for a year. He leaves a widow but no children.

Russell, whose real name was Albert, was born in Chrystie Street, near Bayard, and as a boy blacked boots for a living at the corner of Bayard Street and the Bowery, where his Cob Dock Hotel now stands. He got what education he could and prospered rapidly. He was only 43 when he died.

He was a friend of "Big Tim" Sullivan and of "Big Florrie" as well, besides being a friend of nearly every other politician of Bowery fame. He persistently declined to accept office, although the Sullivans frequently offered him various nominations which practically assured his election.

He was intensely interested in sports of all kinds. In his youth he attained some fame as a heavyweight fighter, and toured the country, meeting all comers. He was an enthusiastic oarsman as well, and was President of the Metropolitan Rowing Club at the time of his death.

Russell promoted some of the first go-as-you-please six-day walking matches held here years ago, and later organized the Long Acre Athletic Club. He was a member of this club, of the Bohemian Rowing Club, the Harlem Rowing Association, the Larry Mulligan Association, the Sullivan Association, and besides had a club of his own.

Russell had a reputation as a philanthropist. Several years ago he instituted a custom of giving turkeys to the poor on Thanksgiving, and once he entered a lodging house adjoining his hotel and distributed $500 worth of overcoats.

In Memory of Richard Watson Gilder.

OLD PHILANTHROPIST DEAD.

Peter Wyckoff Was Millionaire Farmer and Banker of Bushwick.

Peter Wyckoff, who was known as the "millionaire farmer-philanthropist of Bushwick," died yesterday in the old family homestead, where he was born, at 1,325 Flushing Avenue, Williamsburg, at the age of 82. He was the last of the descendants of old Dutch stock who settled in that section of Williamsburg more than 100 years ago. He was the fourth generation of Wyckoffs to own and operate the farm on which he died.

The original Wyckoffs settled in Williamsburg toward the close of the eighteenth century, and the farm passed down from one generation to the other, Mr. Wyckoff never consenting as the city expanded to have the farm cut up into building lots. The homestead he died in was erected in 1791, and its appearance was never changed. When Mr. Wyckoff's father died he succeeded to the farm, and worked it until thirty years ago, when he retired from farm life and devoted himself to charitable work and to affairs his father was interested in.

He was actively identified with the Williamsburg Savings Bank, the First National Bank of Brooklyn, and the old Williamsburg City Fire Insurance Company. He was at one time the owner of the old Grand Street and Newtown Railroad. During the last five years he contributed thousands of dollars to hospitals, churches, and Young Men's Christian Associations.

JOHN S. OGILVIE DEAD.

Founder of New York Publishing House Dies After Long Illness.

John S. Ogilvie, head of the New York publishing house of that name, died yesterday in his home, 331 Jefferson Avenue, Brooklyn. Mr. Ogilvie had been ill for the last two and a half years with paralysis, and had been seriously ill for the last five months. He leaves three sons, Frank B., Donald, and John S., Jr., as well as a daughter, Mrs. Fred Taylor Pusey of Philadelphia. Mr. Ogilvie was essentially a manufacturer of books, and for many years his imprint was a familiar one on handy volumes dispensed by the newsstands, stores, and on the railroads.

For many years Mr. Ogilvie was active in the Republican Association of the Twenty-fourth Ward, and in 1892 was a candidate for Alderman at Large.

Mr. Ogilvie was born in Kerriemuir, Scotland, in 1843, the same town in which J. M. Barrie, the author, was born. The Ogilvies came to this country in 1847. Mr. Ogilvie attended the public schools in Brooklyn until he was 10 years old. Then he obtained a job as errand boy in a drug store and later in a shoe store run by his uncle. Later he obtained employment in the shipyard of William H. Webb. After working in the ship yard all day he would attend Cooper Institute in the evenings and was graduated as a mechanic. While still employed as a mechanic he obtained a situation as teacher in one of the night schools of New York, and when 25 years old entered the employ of the National Temperance Society and Publishing House, where he learned the publishing business.

Ten years later Mr. Ogilvie went into business for himself and hired a corner about 10 by 12 feet in the fourth loft of 29 Rose Street. That was the beginning of the extensive publishing business owned and conducted by Mr. Ogilvie.

Mr. Ogilvie was a member of the Union League Club of Brooklyn, the Manufacturers' Association, the Order of Scottish Clans, the Knights of Honor, Knights and Ladies of Honor, and the Publishers and Booksellers' Association.

Joseph F. McGill.

Joseph F. McGill, for forty years a member of the volunteer and organized Fire Departments in this city, died of heart failure on Tuesday at his home, 126 Waverley Place. Mr. McGill gained a wide reputation as a fire fighter. He was an intimate friend of John Kelly and Richard Croker, besides other men prominent in the city. In 1895 Mr. McGill retired from the Fire Department, holding at the time the position of Battalion Chief. He was born in downtown New York on Nov. 14, 1843, and received his education in the public schools. He first enlisted in the volunteer department in 1864 with the old Hudson River Engine Company. When the Metropolitan Fire Department was organized in 1866 Mr. McGill was attached to Engine Company 18, with headquarters in Wooster Street. He made several rescues of human life at fires, and his name was inscribed on the roll of merit.

Amelia Glover.

Amelia Glover, at one time a popular dancer, when she was known as "The Little Fawn," died at the home of her sister, Mrs. H. A. Ludlam, 62 West Sixty-sixth Street, early yesterday morning. For many years she was the chief of the John Russell Comedians in "The City Directory," in which David Warfield, William Collier, May Irwin, and others appeared. Her first husband was John Russell, the manager. When he died about ten years ago she married Al Lawrence and retired from the stage.

Mrs. Charles E. Harrington.

Mrs. Charles E. Harrington died at her residence, 129 West Seventy-eighth Street, late Monday night after a long illness. She was Miss Glassbrook of Chicago, and came to New York thirty years ago at the time of her marriage to Mr. Harrington, one of the old-time newspaper men of Chicago and this city.

FALSE ECONOMY
To consider price alone is to have hold of the wrong end of the stick.
That sort of economy costs some owners a barrel of money.
We know of owners who are as scared of the average low bid as a woman is of a mouse.
No owner should be deceived by a bid that is less than his building should actually cost.
For no matter what The Lowest Bidder may offer to do, this much is incontestable:
An owner is better advised to agree to pay a proper price at the start, or he may wind up by paying a great deal more.

BANNER DOG SHOW BENCHED AT GARDEN

Large Crowds View and Admire Various Breeds of High-Class Animals.

2,000 ENTRIES EXHIBITED

West Highland White Terriers a New Attraction Which Is Pleasing—Women Visitors Numerous.

The aristocracy of dogdom was on exhibition yesterday at Madison Square Garden, when the doors were thrown open for the thirty-fourth annual bench show of the Westminster Kennel Club. From the tiny Pomeranians, the pet of the women, to the huge Great Danes there was every other type of dog in the exhibition which can boast a pedigree, and there were a few whose lineage, according to the books, was somewhat limited, but they were the exception rather than the rule, and it was truly a gathering of the elite.

More than two thousand dogs are on view, which exceeds in point of numbers any bench show ever given by the organization. Then, too, the entries claim more in the way of variety, for the breeds offered in the exhibition total to sixty-three. The most notable addition to the classes was the entry of the West Highland white terriers. They have never before been on show in this city, and the lovers of dogs were caught by their attractive appearance. During all of yesterday they probably attracted more attention than any other breed on the benches.

The opening yesterday went down as a record-breaker in point of attendance. From early in the morning to late at night there were lines of spectators moving between the rows of dogs. Fashionably gowned women were more in evidence even than the men, and they were by far more demonstrative in their appreciation over some types which appealed to them as they passed by on the tour of inspection. For the most part the dogs took it all good-naturedly, and there was little indication to resent the kindly caresses which greeted them.

The judging rings attracted a large part of attention in the afternoon, and they were a busy sight, with dogs huddled here and there, waiting for their turn on the block. The awards made yesterday were in the following classifications: Pointers, bloodhounds, Russian wolfhounds, English and American fox hounds, Clumber spaniels, Great Danes, collies, bulldogs, bull terriers, Boston terriers, Pomeranians, and St. Bernards.

Several new Pomeranians made their appearance, the most noteworthy arrival being Mrs. William C. Wiederseim's Afon Gem, which has a record of nearly two hundred prizes to its credit in exhibitions abroad. Miss Anna Sands's Pom Patch, which, it is said, was purchased abroad at a high figure, was not equal to winning out in its class. The principal awards were:

PRINCETON'S NEW TRAINER.

Keene Fitzpatrick to Have Charge of All the Tiger Athletes.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 9.—The announcement of Keene Fitzpatrick's resignation as athletic trainer at the University of Michigan and his acceptance of a similar position at Princeton University was officially confirmed here tonight. Fitzpatrick is to begin his work at Princeton next September, and he will have charge of the physical condition of the athletes on all the athletic teams. His principal efforts will, of course, be devoted to the care of the men in football, baseball, basket ball, track, and hockey.

Fitzpatrick is to occupy a position of similar capacity to that filled by the late Jim Robinson. Since Robinson's death two men have acted in the capacity of trainer, one for football, the other for track, and although no criticism of the condition of Princeton teams has been made by the Tiger authorities, it was decided after the resignation of Val Flood that the old system of placing all training in the hands of one man should be restored.

Fitzpatrick has a notable record as trainer. In addition to his work at Ann Arbor he was also the trainer of a championship football team at Yale.

Archibald Brothers Win Curling Cup.

The Utica Cup, one of the handsomest prizes which the curlers of New York and vicinity play for during the season, will be in possession of Caledonian Team No. 1 this year. The final round was played at Van Cortlandt Park Lake yesterday by the Caledonian teams, Nos. 1 and 3, the former composed of four Archibald brothers and the latter skipped by I. Frasier. The ice was in excellent shape, and the play keen and accurate. The Archibalds finished in the lead by a score of 16 to 11. The teams were:

Caledonian No. 1—R. Archibald, W. Archibald, H. Archibald; T. T. Archibald, skip. Total points, 16.

Caledonian No. 3—H. S. Greig, J. Sterling, A. F. Gilmartin; I. Frasier, skip. Total points, 11.

Spanish Fencing Masters in Bouts.

Julio Martinez Castello, sabre champion of Spain, and his colleague, Jose Martinez Asencio, appeared last night at the New York Turn Verein in exhibition bouts. Both masters are assistants to the fencing instructor of the King of Spain, who takes a keen delight in swordsmanship. On Tuesday evening Herr Fritz Flesch, amateur sabre champion of Austria-Hungary and Germany, was a guest of the Turn Verein, and fenced four bouts with John Allaire and Mr. Strauss.

De Palma to Drive Fiat Car.

Arrangements have been made for Ralph De Palma to pilot the 200 horse power Fiat car owned by E. W. C. Arnold, which was recently driven with such record-breaking success by Lewis Strang. The news has been confirmed in a telegram from Mr. Arnold's representative to F. E. Moscovics, general manager of the Los Angeles Motordrome, and also by De Palma himself. The next appearance of the car in contests with De Palma at the wheel will be at the inaugural meet of the new board motordrome at Playa del Rey, Los Angeles, in April.

HORSEMEN TO BAR HOPPLES AFTER 1914

National Trotting Association to Gradually Eliminate "Under Harness."

UNIFORM RULES ARE NEEDED

Several Changes Discussed, but No Radical Code Will Govern Sport—Election of Officers.

The National Trotting Association held its twenty-fifth Congress at the Murray Hill Hotel yesterday, representatives of 381 tracks being in attendance, several of the delegates holding numerous proxies of members who were unable to be present. Peter P. Johnstone of Lexington, Ky., who has served twenty-two years as President, called the congress to order, and later in the session he was re-elected as head of the association. This year's meeting show that the National and American Trotting organizations are working more in harmony than ever before, and instead of making rules to suit themselves as heretofore, the two bodies got together and adopted uniform rules as far as possible to govern light harness racing. The changes in rules that were adopted were not as radical or sweeping as was anticipated, although a new rule was adopted which will eventually bar the use of hopples on pacers.

The election of officers and Board of Review to serve for two years resulted as follows:

President—Peter P. Johnstone, Lexington, Ky.; First Vice President—Morgan G. Bulkeley, Hartford, Conn.; Second Vice President—E. P. Heald, San Francisco; Third Vice President—Alexander Maclaren, Buckingham, Quebec, Canada. The Board of Review, Eastern District—F. O. Bill, Bangor, Me.; J. M. Johnson, Calais, Me.; Patrick Henry Wall, Ottawa, Canada. Atlantic District—W. P. Taylor, Buffalo; H. N. Bain, Poughkeepsie; De Forest Settle, Syracuse. Central District—W. R. Allen, St. Louis; H. W. Brehn, Baltimore; George C. Brown, Spring Hill, Tenn. Western District—John C. Welty, Canton, Ohio; United States Senator J. W. Bailey, Gainsville, Texas; A. P. Sandles, Ottawa, Ohio. Pacific District—Milo M. Barlow, San Francisco; John C. Kirkpatrick, San Francisco, and Benjamin F. Rush, Suisun, Cal.

The rule which the congress adopted concerning hopples worn by pacers provides that they shall be abolished at the beginning of the season of 1915. Up to that time there will be a gradual elimination of this "under harness" as follows:

Hopples shall not be used in races or performances against time on two-year-olds or younger in 1910; on three-year-olds or younger in 1911; on four-year-olds or younger in 1912; on five-year-olds or younger in 1913, and on six-year-olds or younger in 1914, after which time they will be barred.

A proposed rule to allow horses to start on half-mile tracks in classes four seconds slower than on mile tracks was discussed at some length, but no change was made in the present rule. The effort to make uniform a rule which places the distance flag at a certain distance from the wire was discussed, but no change was adopted. The trotting associations of Ohio received the privilege of joining either the National or American Trotting Associations. Heretofore, on account of the controversy between these bodies, they were compelled to join both organizations. A new rule provides that in all purses there shall be five entries, two to start. Several other rules were revised.

A new rule was adopted prohibiting a driver from using a timing watch during a race without the consent of the judges. Violation of this rule is punishable by a fine of $50 or suspension.

Lake Erie Trotting Circuit Dates.

TITUSVILLE, Penn., Feb. 9.—Six new towns were admitted and three were dropped in the make-up of the Lake Erie Trotting Circuit by the Stewards here to-day. Oil City, Meadville, and Edinboro were stricken off, while the new towns added are Newcastle, Akron, Canton, Rockport, Edinboro, Penn., and Wheeling, West Va. The schedule follows:

Newcastle, June 28-July 1; Canton, July 4-7; Rockport, July 12-15; Erie, July 19-22; Corry, July 26-29; Titusville, Aug. 2-5; Bradford, Aug. 9-12; Rockport, Aug. 16-19; Conneaut Lake, Aug. 30-Sept. 2; Canton, Sept. 5-8; Wheeling, Sept. 12-15, and Edinboro, Penn., Sept. 19-22.

Results of Billiard Games.

Thomas Hueston played two games of three-cushion billiards yesterday at Doyle's Academy, Broadway and Forty-second Street. In the afternoon he defeated Robert Fisher by a score of 40 to 18, and in the evening game he won from E. Gilmore by a score of 40 to 23.

In the amateur pool tournament in progress at the Broadway Billiard Academy, E. Reynolds (80) defeated C. Edwards (100) by a score of 80 to 68. Reynolds had a high run of 19 and Edward 24. To-night Dr. Howe (100) will meet R. Vincent (100).

A three-cornered billiard match, three-cushion carom, for the championship of the Muscogee Club and a one-hundred-dollar gold loving cup will be played at McGraw's Billiard Academy this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The contestants will be Charles F. Cathrine, Jacob Harris, and Sol Weil.

The play-off of the triple tie in the amateur billiard tournament at the Knickerbocker Billiard Academy, in Brooklyn, last night resulted in another triple tie, St. John, Boyd, and Scheidig sharing first honors. Last night's match was between St. John (300) and Boyd (215). St. John won by a score of 280 to 192. He had an average of 4 52-57 and a high run of 28. Boyd's average was 3 25-57 and his high run 15. Another effort will be made to play off the tie, to-night's game being between Scheidig (285) and Boyd (215).

Hoppe Wins Twice from Morningstar.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Feb. 9.—Willie Hoppe defeated Ora Morningstar twice here to-day at 18.2 balkline billiards. In the afternoon the score was 300 to 243. Hoppe's high run was 69 and Morningstar's 41. In the evening Hoppe won a 400-point game, Morningstar making 106.

Berkeley School Beat Irving.

The Berkeley School basket ball team yesterday defeated the Irving School team on the former's court by the score of 30 to 22. Rothstein and Sumner played a fine game for Berkeley. Gould and O'Neil played the best for Irving. The line-up:

| Berkeley, (30.) | Position. | Irving, (22.) |
|---|---|---|
| Sumner | Right forward | Blackwell |
| Rothstein | Left forward | Smith |
| Stein | Centre | O'Neil |
| Jimenis | Left guard | McIntyre |

Goals—Rothstein, (7,) Sumner, (4,) Gould, (4,) O'Neil, (4,) Jimenis, (3,) Smith, (3,) Stein. Referee—R. F. Williams, University of Pennsylvania. Timer—Mr. Ferguson, Columbia. Scorer—W. W. Smith.

Berkeley third team defeated the Hamilton third team 18 to 9 between the halves of the main contest.

Cigarette Race at Durland's.

A large crowd filled every corner of Durland's Riding Academy last night for the music ride, in which forty-seven couples participated. It was followed by a game of polo, a cigarette race, and high jumping. The polo game went to the Durland Specials, composed of A. Kinney, J. Breen, and E. Hopping, who triumphed by a score of 8 to 2 over the Foxhunter Polo Club trio, made up of John Wilmerding, Lawrence Ottinger, and H. W. Rose. The cigarette race, which consisted of having the men lined up on horseback with cigarettes in mouth and their women partners on the opposite side of the ring with match boxes in hand, the women riding to the men, lighting their cigarettes, and pairs then riding once around the ring, was won by Mrs. Irwin Gordon and Mr. Judd. Mrs. C. Cushman and Mr. Crossman were second, with Mrs. A. Keyes and M. Weingarten third. The high jump went to Mrs. Gunney's mare, Miss English, with four feet eight inches. Snowflake, the property of Senator Gordon Smith, was second.

Central Park Music Ride.

The regular public Wednesday night music ride of the Central Park Riding Academy was followed last night by a game of polo between the Central Park Polo Team and the Woodmere polo trio. Members of the Saddle and Bridle Club gave an exhibition of rough riding between the halves of the polo game.

Lawrenceville Downs Haverford.

Special to The New York Times.

LAWRENCEVILLE, N. J., Feb. 9.—Lawrenceville School to-day defeated Haverford Grammar School in basket ball by the score of 65 to 23.

THREE FLIGHTS IN 'PLANE.

Triaca Successfully Navigates Air at Garden City, L. I.

Special to The New York Times.

GARDEN CITY, L. I., Feb. 9.—Albert Triaca, the Italian aviator, has had three trial flights on the grounds of the International School for Aeronautics here between last evening and noon to-day, but so quietly were they made that the fact did not become generally known until they were over. Triaca is founder and manager of the International School for Aeronautics, which was first established in New York City before being brought to Garden City.

No attempt was made to leave the ground on these preliminary runs, with J. E. Smith, designer of the motor, in the aviator's seat. The enormous 'plane was run out of the shed at Ninth Street, Garden City, last evening and started down the mile track toward Mineola, on the Hempstead Plains. It held true to its course, giving every evidence of being under perfect control. When midway of the distance Smith turned, and as a gull skims along the surface of the water the big-winged apparatus came swiftly back to the starting point. So far as it went the performance would have been a perfect one but for the fact that in stopping the motor the chassis was slightly bent. This, M. Triaca explained, was due to the rigid construction, and that the apparatus has a tendency to gyroscopic motion, especially because the vertical rudder is too small. The damage was not so serious as to deter another trip this morning, which was put through without mishap.

PRINCETON BEATS JACK FROST

Dual Ice Yacht Race Big Feature on South Shrewsbury River.

Special to The New York Times.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Feb. 9.—Four interesting races were sailed to-day by the South Shrewsbury River ice yachtsmen, two for the Irwin Cup, the finals for the Robert Wilson trophy, and a match between the Princeton and Jack Frost. All the races were at 15 miles.

The race between the Jack Frost and Princeton was the big attraction. The Princeton won by a margin of 2 minutes and 11 seconds. The Jack Frost won the final race for the Wilson trophy from the Drub and Blanche handily, while Charles P. Irwin's Georgie finished twice, first for the Irwin Cup, but was disqualified in the second race for pushing when the wind died away. The summary:

Match Race.—Princeton, H. H. Munro, elapsed time, 39:55; Jack Frost, Capt. James O'Brien, elapsed time, 42:06.

Wilson Cup.—Jack Frost, Capt. James O'Brien, elapsed time, 46:08. Drub, Edwin Fiedler, elapsed time, 49:12; Blanche, Walter Content, elapsed time, 50:33.

Irwin Cup.—First Race—Georgie, Charles P. Irwin, elapsed time, 43:02; Hazel, J. William R. Joline, elapsed time, 43:37; Princeton, H. H. Munro, elapsed time, 44:13. The Eagle, Mimattie, and Mildred did not finish.

Irwin Cup.—Second Race—Georgie led Princeton 6 minutes at finish, but was disqualified.

Gold Racquet Championship Entries.

Special to The New York Times.

TUXEDO PARK, N. Y., Feb. 9.—The seventh annual tournament for the gold racquet championship in racquets held under the management of the Tuxedo Tennis and Racquet Club will open here on Friday. The entry is the largest in the history of the event, and nearly all the crack players of the country have entered. Harold F. McCormick of Chicago, winner last year, has entered and will be on hand to challenge the runner-up. Among other entries are Charles Pike and George Thorne of the Chicago Athletic Club; George Clark, Jr., Robert D. Wrenn, G. M. Heckscher, Payne Whitney, Lawrence Waterbury, and A. C. Osborne of the New York Racquet and Tennis Club, and William B. Dinsmore, Jr., Stanley G. Mortimer, J. Gordon Douglas, and Erskine Hewitt of the Tuxedo Tennis and Racquet Club.

ACCEPTS SPANISH CHALLENGE

Eastern Yacht Club Formally Plans for International Sonder Races.

Formal announcement of the challenge received by the Eastern Yacht Club of Marblehead, Mass., from the Federacion Esparola des Clubs Nauticus of Bilboa, Spain, for a series of sonder class races next Summer was made at the annual meeting of the club held in Boston on Tuesday night.

The Federacion Esparola is comprised of the yacht clubs of Bilboa, San Sebastian, and Santander. It has asked that the first of the races be sailed on Sept. 5, which happens to be Labor Day, and every other day thereafter until one nation or the other is evolved victor. The elimination trials to select the defending trio will be held off Marblehead commencing on or about Aug. 15.

As has already been announced former Commodore W. H. Childs of the Bensonhurst Yacht Club will put his Joyette, the international winner last Summer, in commission, with Mr. Swain again in command of her. Commodore Frederic Thompson of the Bensonhurst organization has said that it is quite likely that he will have a new boat built for the trials. Charles D. Mower, the designer of the Joyette, has received orders for two sonder boats, one for a Boston and the other for a Philadelphia man, which will also compete in the eliminations.

Besides these four boats, two are now being built at Lawley's yards; one from designs by Frederick D. Lawley for H. E. Converse and the other from designs by E. A. Boardman for Charles Francis Adams, 2d.

Football Results in England.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Three tie games in the second round of the association football championship series were played off to-day with the following results: Queen's Park 3, Southend 2; Notts Forest 1, Northampton 0; Westrouswich 4, Bristol City 2. The third round will be played Feb. 19.

Skating Cracks Invited to Compete.

At the skating races next Monday night one of the special events will be a one-mile invitation race open to all the winners of races on the championship circuit—Cleveland, Pittsburg, Montreal, Saranac Lake, and Newburg. There will also be a half and one-mile open handicap, and a quarter-mile novice race, entries for which close to-day with S. C. Austin, 69 West Sixty-sixth Street.

Another Chess Victory for Marshall.

Frank J. Marshall wound up his series of games with Herbert Rosenfeld at the rooms of the Manhattan Chess Club yesterday by winning the seventh game, a double Ruy Lopez, in which Rosenfeld had the white pieces, after thirty moves.

Mango and Hyland at Long Acre.

Willie Mango will take up his brother's cause to-night, when he fights Joe Hyland. Frankie Mango received a beating at the hands of Hyland three weeks ago, and that was said to be the greatest fight ever seen at the Long Acre. Mike Newman wanted them to fight a return bout, but Frankie Mango said that he could not give away so much weight to Hyland. Then brother Willie decided to go in against Hyland.

American Spruce for Italian Aeroplanes

The Italian Government has requested President Cortlandt Field Bishop of the Aero Club of America to ship to Italy a cargo of American spruce to be used in the construction of aeroplanes for the Italian Army. Several Italian woods have been tried for aeroplane building, but none is equal to American spruce for strength and durability.

Barnard School's Annual Meet.

The track and field meet of Barnard School will be held on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 19, starting promptly at 2 P. M., in the Twenty-second Regiment Armory. The entries of relay teams from Pawling School, Pennington Seminary, Prospect School, Bridgeport, Conn., and Trinity School of Garden City have been received.

SPORTING NEWS IN BRIEF.

Jim Flynn won a ten-round fight from Sam Langford at Los Angeles on Tuesday night.

"Tex" Rickard and Jack Gleason, promoters of the Jeffries-Johnson fight, declare that the location of the fight is still unsettled, but that announcement of the battle ground will be made not later than Feb. 20.

The life of Eddie Smith, who will referee the Nelson-Wolgast fight, has been insured for $10,000. In the event Smith dies before the fight comes off each contestant will receive $5,000.

Cathedral College basket-ball team yesterday scored 103 points to 11 against Bryant High School Midgets.

An indictment was returned by the Grand Jury of Kenton County, Ky., yesterday against the Latonia Racing Association on the charge of holding races without a license from the Kentucky Racing Association.

The Bridgeport Baseball Club has been incorporated, with a capitalization of $6,500. H. Eugene McCann of Jersey City and G. Harrave and W. W. Hoppin, Jr., of New York are the incorporators.

The Harrisburg Club has sold Infielder Owens to the Quincy (Ill.) Club.

Manhattan [illegible] School defeated Irving School of Tarrytown at [illegible] in basket ball yesterday by the score of 23 to 8.

WILL NOT GIVE UP CUP.

Swiss Aero Club Refuses to Turn Over Trophy Won by E. W. Mix.

The Aero Club of America, through President Cortlandt Field Bishop, is trying to secure possession of the International Aeronautic Cup, which was won by Edward W. Mix, Oct. 5, 1909. The trophy is in possession of the Swiss Aero Club, which has refused all demands for it.

The contest for the cup was held at Zurich, Switzerland, and Mix, who represented the United States, beat his nearest competitor by nearly 150 miles. His balloon landed in a remote part of Poland. He was detained by the Polish police for some time. The victory was clean-cut and decisive.

According to the rules of the competition thirty days are allowed the club to reach a final decision, and a second thirty days for an appeal. This time expired Dec. 2, and more than two months have elapsed since that time.

President Bishop wrote several letters requesting that the cup be forwarded to the club, but none of the letters was answered. He then cabled a demand for the cup. The Swiss Club replied that the trophy was held pending an appeal to the International Federation. President Bishop has, however, ascertained from the federation, of which he is a Vice President, that no protest or appeal had been filed by a competitor club, and it is at a loss to understand the action of the Swiss Club.

The race for the cup will be held in the United States next Fall, and four countries—France, Germany, Denmark, and Switzerland—have sent entries, but all negotiations for the meet are held up on account of the refusal of the Swiss Club to turn over the cup.

The cup is wanted for the fourth annual banquet of the Aero Club of America, which will be held at the Hotel St. Regis March 24, when Glenn H. Curtiss and Edward W. Mix, the winners of the two world's championships, will be the guests of honor.

Five Cycle Teams Tied.

Score at 11 P. M.

| | Miles. | Laps. |
|---|---|---|
| Kramer and Fenn | 635 | 1 |
| Foran and Lawson | 635 | 1 |
| Bedell and Bedell | 635 | 1 |
| Pye and Hehir | 635 | 1 |
| Wiley and Lawrence | 635 | 1 |

| Collins and Bardgett | 635 | 0 |
| Anderson and Krebs | 635 | 0 |
| West and Galvin | 635 | 0 |
| Smith and Hill | 634 | 9 |

Excitement was provided at the Newark six-day race in the First Regiment Armory last night when the tail-end team, Hill and Smith, by a burst of speed, caught the second division men, regaining one of their two lost laps. Less than a half hour later there was another sprint, and before it was finished Hill and Smith had lost the ground gained, falling back to last place again.

Shrubb Striving to Get in Shape.

The announcement that Alfred Shrubb has retired from the cinder path and will not be a starter in the world's championship fifteen-mile race at Madison Square Garden, next Monday night, is premature, according to a letter received from the Englishman himself. While training for this event Shrubb had trouble with his leg and had to lay off for a time. He started work again Saturday and found that the lameness had not entirely disappeared. He is at it again, however, and writes that he will wire to-morrow and state definitely whether he will be able to start in Monday's race. Shrubb is anxious to be a contestant in what promises to be a record-breaking event, but he says in his letter that he thoroughly realizes that in meeting such men as Meadows, who last Saturday night hung up a new record for the distance, 1 hour 21 minutes and 15 seconds; Bjungstrom, who finished only a few feet back of Meadows; Hans Holmer, and Accose, the Indian marvel, that he will have to be at his best to stand any sort of a chance.

Rainier in the Selden Fold.

The Rainier Motor Car Company was admitted to the Selden patent fold yesterday, making a total of seventy-two makes of American and foreign cars now licensed as members of the Association of Licensed Automobile Manufacturers. The Rainier was one of the last to hold out in the fight against the Selden patent syndicate, but with the upholding of the patent by the courts the Rainier Company decided to apply for a license. Among the latest automobile firms to be licensed under the Selden patent are the Grabowsky Power Wagon Company, Reliance Motor Truck Company, Oakland Motor Car Company, and Randolph Motor Car Company.

Changes in College Hockey Dates.

Yale and Harvard will play off their game of hockey in the intercollegiate championship series at the St. Nicholas Rink on Feb. 19. This was decided on yesterday, at a meeting of the Intercollegiate Committee, when it was learned that the new Boston arena would not be completed in time to play any of the games scheduled there. Other games in the intercollegiate series which have been transferred here, are Yale and Dartmouth on Feb. 16, Columbia and Dartmouth on Feb. 17, and Cornell and Columbia on Feb. 26.

Columbia will play Yale to-night in their regularly scheduled game at the St. Nicholas Rink.

English Rugby at Princeton.

That Princeton should favor English Rugby rather than the present college brand of football is the statement made by Tracy H. Harris, Chairman of the Graduate Advisory Committee of Princeton University, in a letter to The Princeton Alumni Weekly. He gives as his reason for this statement the fact that the New Jersey institution has not in its undergraduate body a sufficient number of large, heavy men—such as he says are demanded by the college game to-day—wherefrom to pick an eleven that can cope adequately and successfully with the teams of Yale, Harvard, and other universities.

Wants Alumni Football Coaching.

The Athletic Advisory Board of Hamilton College, Clinton, N. Y., has appointed a committee to formulate plans for an alumni football coaching system. It is the general idea to make one of the recent alumni head coach, William Moore, '08, being the probable selection, and to hold in September a conference of old players who will adopt the system to be carried out. Several of the alumni have been requested to spend at least one week with the squad. For the support of athletics at the college a general tax of $15 is to be levied on every man in college, with payments to be made in three installments.

Records of American Athletes.

Spalding's athletic almanac for 1910 credits George V. Bonhag of the Irish-American Athletic Club, New York, with no less than thirty-one American running records, thirty of which were made during the season of 1909.

A remarkable coincidence is the fact that C. M. Daniels of the New York Athletic Club holds practically all the swimming records where an individual alone figures in the competition, and was a member in other instances of record holding relay teams. Daniels holds forty-three records, made at various times during the past few years.

Moore and Delmont Matched.

The Olympic Athletic Club will hold a special show to-morrow night, with Pat Moore and Al Delmont as the principal attraction. Kid Murphy and Joe Fleming of Toronto will go on before the main event.

Sammy Smith Wins from Cy.

Sammy Smith of this city defeated Cy Smith last night in a ten-round bout at the Sharkey Athletic Club. Sammy had the best of the fight all the way, and in the first round brought his opponent to the mat. Cy was groggy when the final bell sounded.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

B. SIMON & SON.—Schedules in bankruptcy of B. Simon & Son, cloak manufacturers, 16 East Broadway, show liabilities of $6,803 and assets of $1,736, consisting of stock, $1,100; machines, $400; cash in bank, $130, and notes, $106. All outstanding accounts have been assigned to the Public Bank.

CULLINANE, INC.—Schedules in bankruptcy of Cullinane, Incorporated, dealer in millinery, at 378 Fifth Avenue, show liabilities of $9,783 and assets, consisting of accounts, $99; stock and fixtures in the hands of the receiver, amount not given. The largest creditors are Laura J. Coates, $7,266, money loaned, and Judkins & McCormick, $1,084.

JOSEPH GINSBURG.—Joseph Ginsburg, clerk, of 182 West 113th Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities of $13,686 and no assets. Among the creditors are the Fourteenth Street Bank, $3,000; John Bohnet, $3,500; Louis C. Hecht, Jr., trustee, $3,500. Some of the debts are partnership liability with S. Rosenthal. He was formerly a clothing manufacturer.

DR. NATHAN GOODFRIEND.—Dr. Nathan Goodfriend of 243 East Seventy-second Street has filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities of $25,300 and assets of $176 in outstanding accounts. He filed the petition to get rid of a suit pending against him in the Supreme Court by Adele Scheimer, who lived in 108th Street, between Park and Madison Avenues, for $25,000 damages for breach of contract in 1908. There are two other creditors for legal services, $150, and a loan, $150.

HEUSNER BAKING COMPANY.—Schedules in bankruptcy of the Heusner Baking Company, 1,200 Lind Avenue, the Bronx, show liabilities of $30,398, of which $12,360 are secured, and nominal assets of $38,638, consisting of real estate, bakery, and stables, $26,700, mortgaged for $12,000; machinery, $3,368; ten horses and wagons, $3,420, and accounts, $150. Among the creditors are Jacob H. Semel, $10,300, secured; Neustadt & Co., $5,247; United States Mortgage and Trust Company, $3,000; Durkoff Oven Company, $1,500, and E. H. Dare & Co., $1,500.

FAHID & CO.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Shakir Fahid and George Mahoob, who compose the firm of Fahid & Co., dealers in shirtwaists and importers of general merchandise at 40 West Street, by these creditors: Ernest Machenbach, doing business as the Machenbach Importing Company, $402; Campbell, Metzger & Jacobson, $457, and M. H. Frank & Co., $227. It was alleged that they are insolvent and transferred part of their assets. Judge Holt appointed George S. Kekabian receiver on application of William C. Rosenberg, attorney for the petitioning creditors, who said that the liabilities are from $20,000 to $25,000 and nominal assets of $16,000, consisting of stock $3,000 and accounts $13,000, and the trouble was caused by merchants cutting off credit on account of so many failures in the Syrian colony a few months ago.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The disturbance reported Tuesday as developing over the lower Mississippi Valley moved rapidly northeastward with increasing intensity, and Wednesday night its centre was over the lake region.

Within the last twenty-four hours this storm caused unsettled weather and rain or snow to the Atlantic Coast. This disturbance will move rapidly northeastward down the St. Lawrence Valley, and it will be followed by fair weather or lower temperature on Thursday throughout the Eastern States.

Winds along the New England Coast will be brisk west to northwest; Middle Atlantic Coast, brisk west; South Atlantic Coast, moderate west to northwest.

Steamships departing Thursday for European ports will have brisk, possibly high, west winds and fair weather to the Grand Banks.

FORECAST FOR TO-DAY AND FRIDAY.

Eastern New York—Much colder, with clearing on the coast and rain or snow in the interior Thursday. Friday, fair; brisk west to northwest winds.

Eastern Pennsylvania—Clearing and much colder Thursday. Friday, fair; brisk west to northwest winds.

New Jersey—Partly cloudy and colder Thursday. Friday, fair; brisk west winds.

New England—Rain or snow, followed by clearing and much colder Thursday. Friday, fair; brisk west to northwest winds.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

| | 1909. | 1910. | | 1909. | 1910. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 3 A. M. | 32 | 36 | 4 P. M. | 31 | 38 |

Short Covering and Investment Purchases Affect Entire Market—Foreign Exchange Low—London Cheerful.

Yesterday's stock market, in contradistinction with practically every session of the Exchange for at least three weeks past, was practically free from liquidating sales of securities. There were signs that selling of this kind was waning fast in Tuesday's market, but its complete disappearance was marked yesterday by sharp advances in American securities on the London Exchange before our own opening and by the differences of from 1 to 2 points between the closing quotations in the local market on Tuesday night and the opening prices yesterday morning, the differences in all cases representing advances. With selling pressure of a liquidating nature at least suspended, the speculators who have been so successfully attacking the market in the recent past deemed it the part of wisdom to cover outstanding commitments, and their attempts to do so, coupled with genuine investment buying, both for home and foreign account, led to a general and practically uninterrupted rise, extending from the opening to the close of business. Extreme advances here and there through the list simply measure the anxiety of frightened speculators. This was true of Reading, and in a very large degree of the rise in United States Steel, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, and American Smelting. It is fairly obvious from this resumé of the main movement of the market and the course of certain specific stocks that what went on on the Stock Exchange yesterday was almost the exact opposite of the trading witnessed during those sessions in which the market broke violently. If precedent amounts to anything, some further advances may be expected, not without cost to the late "bears," to be followed by inactivity, in the course of which securities will be influenced by the rapidity and degree with which affairs at Washington come to be more soberly and sanely appraised. The figures of The Iron Age on January pig iron production, published yesterday, made it clear that, so far at least nothing more than seasonable hesitation has been felt in this great industry. The output in tons for January was 2,608,000, against 2,635,000 for the month of December. The United States Steel Corporation is reported to be negotiating for large deliveries of pig iron for March, April, and May, and the conclusion of contracts is expected to favorably affect the pig iron position. Other items of interest from the business world included the announcement that the General Electric Company was about to undertake the construction of great plants at Erie, Penn., and the December earnings statement of the New York Central lines, which, combined, indicate an increase of $2,406,000 over the same month in the preceding year, the gross increase for the calendar year amounting to $9,244,000 for the New York Central proper.

Outside of a shading of bids for certain near-by maturities in time money and the continued holding of demand sterling in the foreign exchange market around 4.86, yesterday's money market was without feature. The banks increased their loss to the Sub-Treasury on routine transactions, bringing the total since Friday last up to $3,105,000, a showing poorer than any made within recent weeks. In London the Stock Exchange was almost buoyant and hopes, as repeated over the cables, ran high that the Bank of England might reduce its discount rate to-day.

Copper Stocks Make Substantial Advances in Day of Active Trading on Curb.

SEVERAL UP OVER 1 POINT

Miami Gains 1⅝ on Active Trading, Ray Consolidated 1¼, Chino Copper 1⅝, and Others Fractionally.

Sharp gains were the rule among the Curb coppers yesterday, and trading was in increased volume on the rise. Advances of over 1 point were common, and few issues failed to advance fractionally. Miami rose from 22 to 23⅝, on transactions of 9,020 shares, Nevada Consolidated from 20⅞ to 21⅜, Ray Consolidated from 20 to 21¼, and Chino Copper from 11 to 12⅝ on transactions reported at 12,000 shares. Butte Coalition also made a substantial gain, advancing from the opening at 24½ to 25 at the close, after selling as low as 24. Boston Copper sold 1,000 shares from 17⅞ to 18½. Greene-Cananea gained ⅜ on the day's transactions, closing at 9⅝.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

The Rally in Steel.

The trading in Steel common yesterday amounted in volume to about two-thirds of the transactions on Tuesday. That day, in trading of more than 300,000 shares, Steel declined ¼. Yesterday, on sales of about 225,000 shares, it rose 3 points. On the rally about 10,000 shares were traded in for each eighth of the day's net gain. The previous day the sales for each eighth of the decline in the stock there were sales of more than 150,000 shares. From information in brokerage circles yesterday regarding the number of orders which were in the market on Tuesday to buy Steel at 75 and at slight fractions under that figure, it was made plain that the bears would have encountered very powerful resistance in any effort to force the price below 75 on Tuesday. It was reported yesterday that large foreign orders to buy Steel have been placed during the last few days, and these orders were said to have been at least in part responsible for the resistance which Steel showed on Tuesday.

English Bank Rate Lowering.

Predictions cabled from London that the English Bank rate would again be reduced, this time from 3½ per cent. to 3 per cent. were referred to yesterday as cumulative evidence of the easing tendency in the European money market. In our own market yesterday call money loaned up to 3 per cent., with a minimum of 2¼ per cent. and with 2¾ per cent. the ruling rate. Time money was not very freely offered, and some advances in rates were recorded, although the increased firmness was not marked enough to bring about a general advance in the quoted rates for time loans of the various maturities. The movement of cash from the Clearing House banks to the trust companies which was partially revealed in last Saturday's statements does not affect the total supply of reserve funds at this centre, and hence this shifting from one class of institutions to another has been a minor factor in the money market.

West Indifferent to Stocks' Decline.

According to former President A. P. Stickney of the Chicago Great Western, Wall Street and the decline in security values is not bothering the West any just now. Mr. Stickney, who is just on from his Minnesota home, says that the West is doing too much business and making too much money to pay attention to Wall Street, and that the Street has no more interest for the men who are doing big things than Canfield's, or any other big gambling house. "The West has its own money, its own men, and its own resources," he said. "Luckily, Wall Street happenings do not harm them." Mr. Stickney, however, reports a lively interest in the recent scandals of the Street, and says that there is a growing feeling that something should be done to curb stock manipulation.

New Securities Large in Total.

January's issue of new securities of railroad, industrial, and miscellaneous corporations totaled $166,066,000, according to figures compiled by The Journal of Commerce, or $21,386,000 more than in January, 1900. The railroads were responsible for only $63,095,800 of the new securities, according to the same authority, or $12,984,200 less than in the same month last year. The industrial corporations issued $102,970,200 of the total, a gain of $34,370,200 over January, 1909. Authorizations of new securities which have not been immediately floated show a still larger increase during January over those of the same month last year. The total of $217,230,000 compares with $166,066,000 last year, an increase of $85,780,000.

Adverse Comment on Hocking Report

The failure of the Stock Exchange authorities to indicate whether any further punishment of those concerned in the Hocking pool smash would follow the "severe condemnation" contained in the committee's report was the subject of a good deal of adverse criticism yesterday among the commission house element, who fear that drastic legislation will result from the Exchange's failure to get away from technicalities. A sample of the legislation apprehended came over the wires from Albany in an account of a bill introduced in the Assembly to make margin trading a misdemeanor. Another possibility discussed yesterday was a revival of the proposal made last year to require a memorandum of the numbers of stock certificates on all purchase or sale slips as they are executed on the floor.

Southern Pacific Wins.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 9.—The Southern Pacific Railroad to-day won its suit in the Kentucky Court of Appeals against having its taxable property assessed at $50,000,000 in Jefferson County, Ky., for the year 1906.

The effect of the decision is to assess the property at $500,000.

METAL MARKET REPORTS.

On the Metal Exchange yesterday a generally steady tone was shown, with trading quiet. Copper was unchanged. Tin improved a small fraction, but spelter declined 5 points in the bid.

On the Metal Exchange yesterday a generally copper, for both spot and future deliveries, at the close showed an advance of 8s 9d from the initial prices of the day, but of 10s from the final figures of Tuesday for both. The market finished firm, closing prices ruling at: Spot, £59 8s 9d; futures, £60 6s, 3d. Spanish pig lead was steady and unchanged at £13 7s 6d. Pig tin ended steady, with spot deliveries up 12s 6d, to £147 17s 6d, and future deliveries 15s higher, to £149 10s. Cleveland warrants were quoted at 51s 4½d. Spelter was steady and unchanged at £23 5s.

The closing bid and asked prices for copper and other metals for spot delivery on the New York Metal Exchange yesterday compares as follows with those of Tuesday:

| | Wednesday. | | Tuesday. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Standard copper: | Bid. | Asked. | Bid. | Asked. |
| Spot | 13.00 | 13.20 | 13.00 | 13.20 |

| March | 13.00 | 13.20 | 13.00 | 13.20 |
| April | 13.00 | 13.20 | 13.00 | 13.20 |
| Spelter | 5.70 | 6.10 | 5.75 | 6.10 |
| Lead | 4.67½ | 4.72½ | 4.67½ | 4.72½ |
| Tin | 32.55 | 32.65 | 32.45 | 32.60 |

FINANCIAL NOTES.

Herbert D. Clearman has applied for membership on the Cotton Exchange.

Adolph Lewisohn has resigned from the Board of Directors of the British Columbia Copper Company.

The Wilkesbarre Coal Company was incorporated at Trenton yesterday, with a capitalization of $2,500,000.

Edwin R. A. Seligman, Professor of Political Economy at Columbia University, spoke on "Financial Crises," and Roger W. Rabson of Boston on "The Present Stock Market Reaction," before the Finance Forum, West Side Young Men's Christian Association, 318 West Fifty-seventh Street, last night.

John C. Burns, who has been Assistant Secretary of the New York Stock Exchange since 1906, resigned yesterday because of continued ill health, and was succeeded by H. S. Martin, Second Assistant Secretary. Mr. Burns has been at Colorado Springs for six months, and had been away about nine months seeking to recover his health during 1907.

Edwin M. Farrier was elected President of the Lincoln Trust Company of Jersey City yesterday to succeed the late Harry Louderbaugh. He started as a messenger in the Hudson County National Bank twenty-five years ago, and in 1891 was made assistant paying teller. When the Lincoln Trust Company was organized, on Jan 1, 1892, he became secretary and treasurer.

BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Feb. 9.—The local market opened steady this morning, with prices slightly above yesterday's close. Commission houses had numerous buying orders, and a further advance was soon recorded. The Lake stocks were the leaders in the rise. Lake Copper advanced to 79, a gain of 5 points. Indiana, Hancock, and North Lake sold up a couple of points each. Amalgamated, Isle Royale, Franklin, and Old Dominion were also prominent in the trading. The general list closed strong and at very nearly the highest prices for the day.

THE EUROPEAN MARKETS.

American Securities Active and Strong on London Exchange.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Money and discount rates were easy to-day.

On the Stock Exchange gilt-edged securities and home rails continued firm on cheap money and expectations of a reduction in the Bank of England's rate of discount to-morrow. Foreigners were steadily supported, especially Russian and Japanese bonds; rubber shares were buoyant, while Kaffirs closed steady after early weakness.

American securities opened firm and higher on New York buying and Continental support. The higher level was maintained throughout the early session, and in the afternoon New York bid up the leading issues 1 to 2 points further. Trading was active, and the market closed strong.

Bar silver steady, 23 1-16d per ounce.

Money, 1¼@1½ per cent.

The rate of discount in the open market for short bills is 2¼@2 5-16 per cent.; for three months' bills, 2¼@2 5-16 per cent.

PARIS, Feb. 9.—Trading was dull, but prices were firm on the Bourse to-day.

Three per cent. rentes, 98 francs 97½ centimes for the account.

Exchange on London, 25 francs 18 centimes for checks.

BERLIN, Feb. 9.—Prices recovered moderately on the Boerse to-day.

Bank of Germany.

BERLIN, Feb. 9.—The weekly statement of the Imperial Bank of Germany shows the following changes: Cash in hand increased 3,738,000 marks; loans decreased 26,708,000 marks, discounts decreased 68,341,000 marks, Treasury bills increased 18,316,000 marks, notes in circulation decreased 59,897,000 marks, deposits decreased 37,786,000 marks, gold in hand decreased 3,875,000 marks.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

Wednesday.

Commission houses on the Consolidated Stock Exchange found a good market on the floor to buy in supplied by the room traders, who offered stocks freely in sufficient volume to impart relative softness to prices compared with quotations on the New York Stock Exchange. The differences between the two boards were quite wide at times. Several hundred shares of United States Steel common changed hands at the opening at from 75⅝ to 76⅝, compared with an opening price on the other Exchange of 76½. A little later, when the price on the other board was 77, there was a sale on the Consolidated of 1,000 shares in one block at 76½. Dealings were on a heavy scale throughout the day, with the sales of all stocks totaling 149,400 shares, with the list of different stocks dealt in numbering 58.

PHILADELPHIA PRICES.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 9.—Investment buying was more in evidence in the local stock market to-day than for some time past, but the aggregate dealings were not on a large scale. Commission houses commented on the presence of bargain hunters in the person of odd-lot buyers, who paid cash for their purchases and took them out of the market. This is always seen after a severe decline in prices, such as has occurred in the last month. Speculative trading was of small volume. The market shared in the vigorous burst of activity seen in the closing moments in New York trading, and final prices here were near the best of the day. Lehigh Valley shares were bid up 2 points, and Cambria Steel rose ⅝, while an advance of over a point took place in United Gas Improvement.

CENTRAL'S EARNINGS EXPAND.

Record for 1909 Shows Large Increases Over 1908.

The December statements of the New York Central lines, issued yesterday, completed the record for 1909, showing large increases over the earnings of 1908. The showing for December was fairly favorable on all lines, except that the Lake Shore reported an increase in operating expenses which more than offset an increase of $448,000 in its gross earnings for the month.

The New York Central for the full year shows an increase of $9,244,506 in gross earnings and a gain of $5,939,984 in net operating revenue. The Michigan Central's increases for the year were $3,193,328 in gross and $1,477,568 in net; the Lake Shore's $6,044,056 in gross and $3,226,899 in net, and the Big Four's $3,415,124 in gross and $1,998,018 in net. The Pittsburg & Lake Erie showed an increase of $4,456,327 in gross and a gain of $3,409,790 in net, and the New York, Chicago & St. Louis increases of $854,750 in gross and $604,673 in net.

On gross earnings of $93,171,861 the New York Central proper reported net earnings of $28,578,034. The company's operating income after the payment of taxes was $24,347,909.

TELEPHONE MEN FIGHT MORGAN HERE

Give Evidence in Suit to Enjoin His Purchase of Stocks from Western Independents.

PART PLAYED BY THE TRUST

Vice President Hall Discloses That His Company Gave Up Option on Stocks That Morgan Bought Same Day.

The fight which minority interests in the United States Telephone Company and the Cuyahoga Telephone Company of Cleveland have started against the purchase of the controlling shares in those two companies by J. P. Morgan & Co. was taken up here yesterday at a hearing of testimony in the injunction suit pending in the Ohio courts. It developed that the telephone stock which the Morgan firm bought came from the banking firm of R. L. Day & Co., which had previously purchased it from the Cleveland Trust Company for the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company gave up the stock because the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the Standard Oil case made control of it through a holding company impracticable. This testimony was given by the Vice President of the Telephone Trust, E. J. Hall, who frankly stated that his company first considered owning various independent companies directly, and then tried in vain to interest bankers in the holding company proposition, based on a plan to form a ten million dollar corporation, in which the American Telephone and Telegraph Company should have a dominant interest.

The suit was based originally upon the theory that the Morgan purchase was actually in the interest of the trust, and there were several features of yesterday's evidence which the lawyers hailed as bearing out this contention. One was the fact, to which Mr. Hall testified, that a few days after the Morgan firm had declined to have anything to do with a holding company for the telephone trust, it decided to purchase the stock of the independents from R. L. Day & Co. for exactly the amount which Day & Co. paid for the stock, and another was in the unusual circumstance that Day & Co. were able to find a purchaser on the very day that the big Telephone Trust had released its own option on the securities.

Independents Fear a Scheme.

A considerable company of lawyers have come on here to take part in the proceedings, which are really backed by the Independent Telephone Association, the principal combination of independent telephone companies operating in the Middle West. In the purchase of the United States and the Cuyahoga Companies, along with the New Long Distance of Indiana, the Home of Toledo, the Home of Columbus, and the Home of Indianapolis, the independents see a scheme to take a slice right out of the middle of the territory where the companies outside the trust have got a footing in the Middle West, and thereby largely destroy the possibility of any effective competition in the long distance field. The State of Missouri is represented at the hearing through counsel for its Attorney General.

Mr. Hall said the American Telephone and Telegraph had never had any difficulty in keeping informed of the condition of its rivals, even to the extent of having reports prepared by different men in the independent field, who were trying to get the trust to relieve them of their holdings.

One of the most persistent of these applicants, according to Mr. Hall, was J. S. Brailey, Jr., President of the United States Telephone Company of Cleveland, which was considered the backbone of the independent long distance service throughout the eastern part of the territory in which the combination operated. Mr. Brailey, according to the Vice President of the trust, had been coming to him ever since 1901 with one proposition or another looking to a sale.

Offer to Sell to the Trust.

Mr. Hall said that along in the Fall F. H. Goff, President of the Cleveland Trust Company, where a controlling interest in the United States and Cuyahoga Companies had been deposited by a syndicate known as the Everett-Moore syndicate, approached him through a representative, asking if he would be interested in a sale. Mr. Hall replied in the affirmative, and then arranged to bring both Mr. Goff and Mr. Brailey together in New York, each without the other's knowing that he was concerned in a negotiation to sell out to the trust.

The meeting with Mr. Goff was held on Oct. 12, and the upshot of it was that, while the trust's lawyers advised against the purchase of the stocks directly, it was thought a good plan to gather them in through a banking interest pending such time as they could be definitely disposed of. William H. Remick, the resident partner of R. L. Day & Co., undertook to handle the transaction, and R. L. Day was supplied with $7,000,000 for the purchase, and an agreement was entered into whereby the bankers were to be protected again all loss and were to give the telephone combination a first option on a repurchase of the shares.

Then Mr. Hall said he undertook the holding company scheme, approaching R. L. Day & Co. first as to the organization of a syndicate, then Moffett & White, and finally J. P. Morgan & Co.

"But," he declared, "the bankers would not take it up. They simply threw up their hands on account of the Standard Oil decision."

Coincidence of Morgan Purchase.

Mr. Davison of J. P. Morgan & Co., the last man to be approached, took the matter under consideration about Dec. 1. A few days later, Mr. Hall said, Mr. Davison told him that the Morgan firm would have nothing to do with it. The next development was on Dec. 8, when the American Telephone and Telegraph Company notified R. L. Day & Co. that it would not exercise the option to buy. The same day the bankers sold to J. P. Morgan & Co., and by coincidence also the Morgan firm wrote to the Attorney General of Ohio declaring that the stock was bought for its own account, while President Vail of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company wrote denying that his company had any further interest in it. R. L. Day & Co. returned the $7,000,000 with which the original purchase had been made to the Telephone Trust, and a few days later made a payment representing interest. That completed the deal.

To-day Mr. Remick will probably be examined as to whether his sale to J. P. Morgan & Co. had any string to it involving the Telephone Trust.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Feb. 9.—Reports that J. Pierpont Morgan had extended his recent buying of independent telephone stock into Kentucky were partly confirmed here to-day. George B. Cox, President of the Cincinnati Trust Company, acknowledged that considerable purchases had been made by his institution, but he referred questioners to Judge John M. Lessing of the Kentucky Court of Appeals, who, he said, was directing the work.

In local financial circles J. P. Morgan & Co. of New York are generally credited with being back of the buying. It is stated that the plans for acquiring Ohio and Indiana companies, which were revealed by the proceedings in the State courts at Cleveland, Ohio, and St. Louis, Mo., have been extended, and that efforts are to be made to solidify into practically one concern all independent telephone companies in the Ohio Valley.

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Puzzles Are Not Necessarily "Toys," as They Are Used by Adults.

According to a decision handed down yesterday by the Board of United States General Appraisers, paper puzzles are not necessarily "toys" in the sense that they are intended for the amusement of children. In partly sustaining a protest filed by R. F. Downing & Co. against Collector Loeb's classification of the puzzles as "toys," the decision points out that many puzzles are too complicated for children and require oftentimes the patience and ingenuity of adults.

The puzzles consisted of so-called septum and padlock puzzles. The former is a flat, rectangular sheet of paper on one side of which is printed the benefits to accrue from the use of a certain brand of cocoa, while the reverse side has a lithographically printed eight-pointed star. The other puzzle is in the form of a paper padlock and key. This puzzle also contains advertising matter. Both articles are intended for distribution as novelties or favors. Collector Loeb took the position that the articles fell within the tariff provision for "toys" and duty was therefore exacted at the rate of 35 per cent. on the value of the goods.

Downing & Co. set up claims for duty at 25 per cent. as "printed matter," or else as "lithographic prints," with duty at specific rates. After a consideration of the protests, General Appraiser Fischer, in his decision for the board, reaches the conclusion that neither of the importer's claims regarding the classification of the padlock puzzles is correct, and the protest is accordingly overruled. At the same time the General Appraiser is not satisfied with the classification imposed by the Collector. Mr. Fischer thinks that, instead of being returned as "toys" at 35 per cent., Mr. Loeb should have classified the padlock puzzles at the same rate as being "manufactures of paper."

The board sustains the claim of the importers for the classification of the septum puzzle at specific rates as "lithographic prints."

"It appears to us that it was error to classify these articles as 'toys,'" says the decision. "There are puzzles and games which are primarily intended for the use of children as playthings. Such articles are no doubt subject to classification under the toy provision of the tariff. An adult might also use the device or article, but such occasional use would not cause it to be classified as other than a toy. Conversely, it is also true that the ordinary puzzle requires in its solution more patience than the usual child has, and it is intended primarily for the use of adults. The fact that it might have some interest for children would not cause it to be considered a toy."

IRON AND STEEL NOTES.

Pig Iron Production Fell Off in January—Steel Furnaces Did a Little Better

As was generally expected the figures of pig iron production for January show a small falling off as compared with those of December. The compilations of output prepared by The Iron Age show January's output of coke and anthracite iron to have been 2,608,605 tons, compared with 2,635,580 tons in January. The Iron Age says:

> The steel works' furnaces did a little better in January, advancing from 57,058 tons a day in December to 57,200 tons. The merchant furnace product fell off over 1,000 tons a day, or from 27,964 tons in December to 26,948 tons last month. Capacity active Feb. 1 was 586,512 tons a week, against 595,216 tons a week Jan. 1, a decrease of 8,704 tons. The number of furnaces in blast is unchanged at 313.
>
> The United States Steel Corporation is negotiating with the Bessemer Pig Iron Association for a round tonnage of Bessemer iron for delivery in March, April, and May. Such a purchase would have a beneficial effect upon the drooping market for steel-making iron.
>
> Structural trade continues to show well distributed activity. Large numbers of buildings of moderate size are going up. Prices of structural shapes have yielded somewhat, large orders having been taken at 1.50 at Pittsburg.
>
> Agricultural machinery works are turning out an unprecedented volume of product.

The Iron Trade Review says:

> The pig iron market has continued dull, and in finished lines there is some diminution in specifications. A considerable number of small orders for manufactured products has been received, but the total tonnage is small. Foreign business continues good, and English prices are advancing. The United States Steel Corporation is in the market for a round tonnage of Bessemer pig iron for the next three months' delivery. Bessemer continues firm at $19, and there is no change in the basic situation.
>
> Car orders placed last week amounted to 7,000 or 8,000, and car orders amounted to about 25,000. The Southern Railroad is in the market for 6,000 cars of various descriptions.
>
> The decided weakness which recently developed in the coke market has resulted in prompt action of the coke producers in curtailing production. A large majority of the Connellsville companies are operating only five days per week, and it is expected that operations at many places will be curtailed to four days next week. Prices are still soft, but it is believed that the downward tendency has been checked.

CITY NATIONAL BANKS PROSPER

Report Increases on Loans, Cash Holdings, and Deposits.

The returns of the New York City National banks to the Controller of the Currency under the call of Jan. 31 show an increase of over $45,000,000 in loans between Nov. 16, the date of the previous call, and Jan. 31. The cash holdings of the banks during this period rose from $258,000,000 to $286,000,000, and the individual deposits increased by $70,000,000. The figures thus compare:

| | Jan. 31, '10. | Nov. 16, '09. |
|---|---|---|
| Loans and discounts.. | $866,522,000 | $820,824,900 |
| Cash on hand........ | 286,424,700 | 258,824,790 |
| Deposit of banks, &c. | 607,051,700 | 569,134,100 |
| Individual deposits.... | 840,101,300 | 770,079,600 |

The returns under the call of Jan. 31, compared with the corresponding call last year, made as of Feb. 5, show a decrease of $71,000,000 in loans, a decrease of over $14,000,000 in cash, a decrease of $82,000,000 in the deposits of other banks, and an increase of over $86,000,000 in individual deposits.

Big Dividend by Frazin & Oppenheim.

William H. Willis, referee in bankruptcy, has declared a first dividend of 17½ per cent. to the creditors of Frazin & Oppenheim, formerly dealers in shoes and cloaks in Sixth Avenue, whose estate is being administered by Robert C. Morris as Trustee in bankruptcy. Lesser Brothers said yesterday that reclamation proceedings brought by them for the Miller Hapgood Shoe Company for $4,530 worth of shoes had been settled by the Trustee for 65 per cent.

$3 Dividend by Adams Express.

The Adams Express Company declared a dividend of $3 per share yesterday, payable March 1, to stockholders of record Feb. 14. This follows a dividend of $2 a share, with $4 extra, declared three months ago, and a dividend of $2 from earnings and $4 from investments paid six months previously. After the meeting an officer of the company stated that hereafter the dividends will be paid quarterly, on March 1, June 1, September, and December of each year.

THE COMMODITIES MARKETS.

Grains Dull, Showing Some Reaction—Provisions Reach New High Levels—Cotton Firm—Trade Light.

There was a narrow and rather featureless trade in wheat. Prices opened about steady and early showed a slight advance, with very little wheat on the market and a fair volume of covering and some outside buying. The advance found very little support, however, and after midday, with efforts of early buyers to get profits, prices reacted. The news was of very little importance. The receipts were slightly smaller in the total figures, although very heavy in the Northwest, and Minneapolis stock is still gaining. There were some complaints from the Southwest, but trade papers report such advices are not of a serious character. The price of cash wheat, however, continues very firm, and this strength at the West affects the whole situation. Cash wheat on New York was dull. Quotations were: No. 2 red Winter, $1.29@$1.30, domestic, elevator; No. 2 red, spot, free on board, afloat, $1.29; No. 1 Northern Duluth, $1.25¼; No. 2 hard Winter, $1.25¼; No. 1 Northern Manitoba, $1.21.

Corn was quiet during the morning. Moderate receipts and a statement by the Western trade papers claiming very serious damage to the germinating vitality of the corn owing to the frosts last Fall caused some buying. It was asserted that the damage ranged from 13 to as high as 66 per cent. in some States, making the question of good seed corn this Spring a serious problem. Later there was some reaction and a quiet close. Spot corn was dull. Quotations were: No. 2, 72c, elevator, domestic; No. 2, 70½c, export; No. 3, 70c; No. 4, 67½c, and steamer, 69½c.

Oats showed very limited speculative interest and only a very narrow change in price. There was a little firmer tone early, with the change in corn, but later the market was quiet and only about steady. Cash oats were steady. Quotations were: Natural white, 52@53c, track; white clipped, 53@55½c.

Provisions were very quiet early, but firm, with prices at new high levels for the season on the active deliveries. The advance was influenced by the small movement of hogs. Later there was a quick reaction, with a good deal of selling, and the market declined easily under the effort of speculative holders to take profits and an absence of support by packing interests, but the close was firm near the best.

COTTON.

Cotton showed a decided improvement and closed at near best prices. The market opened up sharply on the cables, and there was a good demand at the advance, partly due to the cable reports and partly to the Southern advices. For a period in the middle of the day trade was very quiet, and there was some reaction in values, but later in the session a new buying demand developed in the market, and prices advanced readily to about previous high prices. The tenor of the foreign advices was better, and there was a good deal of buying by local authorities and some buying by commission houses and private cables claiming a better trade condition on the other side, an improving demand for spot cotton, and an improved demand for goods. The reports from the South were of firm spot markets, and Southern spot prices were unchanged to ⅛c higher. The receipts were small, and the interior movement was only about one-half of a year ago, while the shipments were in excess of the receipts. Last year the interior shipments were considerably under the receipts. Reports from the Eastern States indicated a good demand for spot cotton at full prices, and that comparatively little cotton was being offered either at the ports or at the interior. A report by a Southern authority shows on the sales of mules the total sales this season so far equals $9,000,000 worth, compared with $6,960,000 worth last year, with an average price of $190 this season. The large volume of business is looked upon as indicative of very decided tendency toward increased acreage, and certainly increased care in cultivation.

Spot cotton quiet, 20 points advance; middling uplands, 15.20; middling Gulf, 15.45.

Distribution System of Electric Power in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

Reports of Congressmen Hermano Hasslocher and Pedro Moacyr on the petition, made by the "Companhia Brasileira de Energia Electrica," asking permission to construct, operate and enjoy a system of electric power distribution for private illumination of the City of Rio de Janeiro, reserving the Government for itself the right of granting similar concessions by free competition. The reports were approved by a vote of 7 to 2, as told yesterday.

Tenor of the Company's petition:—

To the Honorable President and other Members of the House of Representatives:—

The "Companhia Brasileira de Energia Electrica," a private corporation, with its head offices at this city, owner of the hydro-electric power plant of "Alberto Torres," requests from the National Congress, the granting of a concession for the same to construct, operate and enjoy a system of distribution of electric power for private illumination at the Capital, and its suburbs during the term of sixty years, under the following conditions:—

1. Acceptance of the clauses that, in the contract, will be dictated by the government on behalf of the public safety and regularity of service.

2. Rights of, at any time, similar concessions being granted by free competition.

3. Supplying of electric power at the price of 100 reis, paper currency, 3.3 U. S. currency, for kilowatt hour, consumed for illumination, being the above price the maximum.

4. Beginning of the illumination service, only, from September 16, 1915.

The petitioner declines to bring forth the public advantages resulting from the concession presently asked, owing to the low price, which it intends to charge the consumers, and the perfect certainty it has in the betterment of the service, as soon as the competition be established.

As regards the lawfulness of its request, there shall be no doubt, as the "Societe Anonyme du Gaz" is invested of the exclusive right for the service this corporation is asking to do, being such a right confirmed by the terms of the contract of September 14th, 1899, up to September 15th, 1915, when, since then, said concern will enjoy out of the private illumination a single concession without privilege, which concession will expire on September 15th, 1945.

The petitioner being bound to not start the private illumination service before September 15th, 1915, therefore the privilege of the "Societe Anonyme du Gaz" will be safeguarded, as the granting of the concession to the petitioner, with that proviso explicit, assures the effectiveness of the competition, which the government had in mind to establish when it stated the length of time for the privilege given. The installations for services of such an importance cannot be misrepresented, as its construction takes some years, chiefly in a city like Rio de Janeiro, stretching itself to a large area; thus in the present case, if the government had only thought of granting new concessions after the expiration of the privilege given to the "Societe Anonyme du Gaz" virtually it would have extended same for as many years as would be necessary for the organization of competitors' concerns and promoting, therefore, the existence of a true monopoly, injurious to the consumers, who would be deprived of the advantages of competition and without any compensation whatever.

Trusting to be honored with a favorable despatch, we remain.

Report of Congressman Hasslocher.

The "Companhia Brasileira de Energia Electrica" on September 21st, inst., addressed a petition to the House of Representatives asking for a concession to construct, operate and enjoy a system of distribution of electric power for private illumination in this capital and its suburbs during the term of sixty years.

It bound itself to accept the clauses that, in the contract, may be dictated by the government, in behalf of the public safety and regularity of the service; to supply electric power at the price of 100 reis, paper currency, equivalent to $0.03 American currency, for the kilowatt hour, consumed for illumination, being said price the maximum, and to initiate the illumination not before September 16, 1915.

The petitioner does not ask any privilege, but instead gives the government the faculty of giving at any time similar concessions by free competition.

On the 22d of the same month the Company, "Societe Anonyme du Gaz de Rio Janeiro," addressed to the House of Representatives a petition, protesting against the request made by the other concern and alleging that, pursuant to the tenor of a contract entered into by same and the government on September 14, 1899, only said company has the right of placing and maintaining in the public thoroughfare the necessary calalizations for the supplying of gas for any purpose and electric power for illumination.

It was stated furthermore in connection with gas and electric power for public illumination that the term of its privilege expires only in 1945, but that the expiration of the term for private illumination will be due on the 16th of September, 1915.

And then it says:—

Therefore, until September 15th, 1915, no one, absolutely none, can set calalizations for electric power with the intention of illuminating purpose, either before or after the aforesaid date. Taking into consideration the private illumination by electric light, it will only from September 15th, 1915, on be permissible to legal authorities to allow the placing and maintenance of the calalizations in the thoroughfares.

Being appointed as referee in this case, Congressman Teixeira de Sa, his opinion was that the same should be referred to the Supreme Court, having voted against this opinion Congressman Paulino de Souza, who, presenting a long and well founded statement, expressed his opinion denying the request made by the "Companhia Brasileira de Electricidade."

The well learned Congressman started out commenting the conclusions of the referee's opinion, and found that only in the hypothesis of being granted the petitioner's request by the House can the concession be given, and under the circumstances of the case by the Supreme Court providing the intervention of the protesting party under the pretext of injury to its exclusive privilege.

He goes on studying the matter of the petition in itself, the convenience of its immediate resolution as regards the illumination of the Federal Capital six years from now, the competition question, the monopoly, municipal ownership of such services of the presumed rights of the protesting concern, alleging of being the only one that can place in the thoroughfares calalizations for the distribution of electric power for public as well as for private illumination, for the first purpose up to 1945 and for the second until 1915.

And thus closed his speech, Congressman Paulino de Souza being of the opinion in denying the request made by the Campanhia Brasileira.

We will follow, more or less, the same method of our distinguished colleague in expressing our vote.

We shall start thus, commenting the opportunity of resolving, from now, the problem of private illumination by means of electric light, matter of a privilege of the "Societe Anonyme du Gaz" up to September 15, 1915.

This concern, in accordance with a contract it entered into with the government, is bound to supply electric light for private individuals for a certain price up to the time mentioned, but for the supplying of gas light its privilege runs up until 1945.

On the 15th of September, 1915, its privilege for the supplying of electric light will expire, as well as the rates; stated in the contract having it, however, the right of charging thereafter whatever it will see fit.

The only concern which has elements for the supplying of such a kind of light undoubtedly is the "Societe Anonyme," from that time on, if it will not have a competitor, likely equipped; a privilege, in fact, without any restrictions due to an expired contract, will then be thoroughly enjoyed, and it will have a free hand to use, and abuse, of the situation, as results of the above facts, for its benefits.

The Government, which duty is to look for the interest of the community, will find itself unarmed, in the contingency, without any means for checking the extortions, which, possibly, cannot be seriously contested.

In fact, if the gas company enjoys, at the present, and will enjoy up to 1915, the exclusive right of supplying electric light to private individuals, it is the result of a contract in which the Government intervened so as to safeguard the rights of the people and to regulate the actions of said Company, binding it to its fiscalization and establishing a price that could not be exceeded.

But in the same contract, it was stipulated that from the 15th of September, 1915, on, said Company could explore, as it did see better, the industry of light supplying.

IT WILL BE FREE, so the contract reads, that between the relations of the supplier with the consumer there would not be any intervention of politics, thus ascertaining in fact the conditions of the natural situation that both would find themselves.

On one side there will be the people complaining, as a necessity, the supplying of that kind of illumination, and on the other hand the Company, absolutely mastering the means of supply, without any restrictions whatever, regulating, according to its exclusive interests, the situation resulting thereof.

Definite or temporary, indefinite or transitory, this state of things will add to the people a situation of annoyance, who, without any resources to free themselves from any imposition, will be subject to them, as they will have no right for appealing, or otherwise to abandon the idea of using electric light.

Is it possible that the Government will look indifferently to such a situation?

It is not difficult to answer in the negative when one quotes the opinion of the celebrated writer Marcel, commenting on the Government's intention, and thus he points out these principles which are so common.

"As to the favorable action regarding the improvement, this appears better in its suppletory principle, and helpful when the Government instructs in the intellectual world and teaching and benefiting in the moral, leaving, however, to the private parties the liberty of teaching and educating. In the economical world it clears the obstacles guaranteeing the property and the liberty of hygiene, sanity, and morality, encouraging and promoting associations and indorsing them with its authority, but it does not intervene in the social production; neither compels the undertakings of general interests to make use of private initiative. In the whole it restrains monopolies, protects the free competition, helping them at the times of crisis, but (except in case of inevitable necessity) does not establish any tariff nor maximum for the regular enterprises, which would disturb the natural system to the loss of the very consumers, and in the sharing and distribution it protects the good faith and public morality, combating privileges."

It is out of question that the "Société du Gaz" from September 16th, 1915, on, owing to the terms of the contract it entered into with the Government, will have the right of, freely, exploring the supply of electric illumination for private individuals. And when one says freely, says as well, without restrictions, but those of one's exclusive interest, prevailing on the community's interest, and on the people forgotten and, therefore, liable to all sorts of usurpations.

If this concern will be operating alone, in that field, and if on that account it will enjoy the benefits of the most hatred monopoly, which cannot be, but the results of a concession granted with restrictive clauses, the people will be in their merciless hands and subjected to its impositions.

This is not possible, owing to the Government's intentions, which must regulate the public interests, before which the private ones must find themselves.

Thus being the case, it is the Government's duty to see that the community interests are safeguarded, avoiding the painful contingency the people would find itself into, and, in time, preventing the harmful results that must be foreseen.

The situation to confront with is the population on September 16th, 1915, facing the problem of electric illumination for its own private use.

Why wait for that day when any one is certain that no other step should be taken, but, with a great deal of time ahead, PREVENTING SUCH a CONTINGENCY, as the contrary would be criminal carelessness.

It is known that the supplying of electric illumination in the actual state of exploration of this industry, depends on expensive and long delayed installations and of great works requiring an enormous amount of money, which must be looked for in the proper time.

Thus, there is explained the government's wise act in opportunely intervening in behalf of the population. And, if it had stated a certain term for the exploration of an industry exclusively, in the hands of a particular concern, but for which purpose it established conditions for the common good of the people, it did so, exactly, to avoid them from being unarmed and subjected to a monopoly; and, therefore, it could not allow the population to find itself absolutely depending on that concern.

The means of the people's defence cannot, nor shall, be postponed for the time of the contract's expiration, which regulates the conditions between the supplier and the consumer, but should be attended in time, the preliminary of the opportunity ought to be resolved in the affirmative.

If the intention is to avoid that the "Companhia du Gaz" shall find itself in an exceptional and favorable position before the public, the good common sense points out that, before such date, steps ought to be taken to prevent such a fact. The most essential thing is to avoid it in time, without any infringements of the Company's rights, which question will be discussed later on.

Thus, being the question brought to its strict points, it results that it is the government's duty, before the date of expiration of the sanctioned monopoly, to take the necessary steps against the non-sanctioned one. As this talk of inquiry, if such steps should be taken, two, three, four, six years before, does not amount to anything as long as the point is to take them. It is of great convenience to resolve anticipatedly this matter, even taking into consideration a reason obtained from the arguments of the vote of Congressman Paulino de Souza.

His Excellency says that there will not in the least be any doubt, if the concession asked by the "Companhia Brasileira" is granted, that the gas company will take this case to the judicial power so as to ascertain its validity.

The case will take in court either one of the two courses—an ordinary action to nullify the Congress act, or a possessory injunction to prevent the placing of the canalization.

But, at all events, the gas company would take such an action, were the concessions granted, six or two years, or even months or days, before. The embarrassing situation for the competitive company can be extended, and if it will not have time enough for its definite resolutions it is possible that what will happen is the judicial power's intervention.

The voter is the first one who foresees the judicial litigation between the two concerns if the concessions will be granted to the "Companhia Brasileira." Therefore, logically, he must be of the opinion that there is very convenient to give ample time for the conflict to follow all its courses, and to be resolved before sacrificing the public interests.

In such conditions it is to conclude that there is a great deal of convenience in finding out right now what there is about the case which interests to such an extent the population of this capital. Having this been known the National Congress' authority shall be looked into for the granting of the concession asked, and in the meantime no right of litigation should be considered, but the case shall be looked at as it is.

By Section 34, No. 30, of the Constitution, the Congress can reserve for the Union the services it may see reasonable of the federal district, and according to this principle the Congress has legislated for the public and private illumination of said district.

The Law of December 31, 1898, in Section 25, letter "G," evidently shows it. In pursuance of same the Executive Power was authorized to revise the contract with the gas company for the betterment of the illumination by electricity or any other process upon which law was drafted the contract, which is taken as basis for the claim of the "Société Anonyme due Gaz." Furthermore, it shall be remembered that the organic municipal law, No. 85, of September 20, 1892, in its Section 58, letter "H," read that at the municipium the service of public illumination will be reserved without mentioning the private one, which is a matter of our thoughts in the present case.

The arguments of Congressman Paulino de Souza could be taken into consideration as regards to the interpretations of the law referring to this point that it is quite a fact that the Congress took for itself the same, and that the laws regulating it are taken from it. Still the law 111 of November 19, 1903, modifying the organic law of the district, conferring several duties on the Mayor, in the Section 3, letter "G," it mentions the regulations of illumination of the thoroughfares, and it does not confer to him authority to regulate the private illumination; besides, it would not prevent the Union from taking to itself, as it was done, the authority on the illumination. Furthermore, in the contract with the gas company, which gives to this concern privilege for electric lighting supply to private individuals up to 1915 and for public illumination up to 1945, it was stipulated that at the expiration of this latter date all the plants of that concern would revert to the Union. Therefore it is clear that is the Union's interest, which is in evidence in the present case, as the new concession is going to interest its holdings. But be that as it may, the gas company enjoying the privilege for public illumination up to 1945, it is obvious that giving to the Municipality the rights to regulate the private illumination from 1915 on, evidently it would hamper the action of the first, by the interference of two distinct powers on the same object.

Thus having the historic of the matter been considered before the laws mentioned, the Congress authority, to take into consideration the petition of the Companhia Brasileira de Energia Electrica, is indisputable.

We are going now to look into the Gas Company rights opposing the pretention addressed to the Congress. It alleges that its privilege covers the exclusive right of setting and preserving, in the public thoroughfares, of the area of the illumination, the calalizations that shall be necessary for the gas distribution for any purpose, and of the electric power for illumination.

The protesting party "Societe Anonyme du Gaz," however, brings forth the terms of section 1 of its contract, which cannot be understood, but in its full sense.

Said company has the privilege to set the calalization for the supplying of gas and electric light, within the time stated in the contract.

The calalization is not the purpose of the privilege, but the means of it; the purpose is the supplying of electric light and power.

No one else can make calalization for those purposes, during the term in which, said purposes will be a monopoly of the "Societe Anonyme du Gaz."

But to make calalization, not being for the same purpose, is not violation of privilege, even during its existence.

The industry, or commerce, of the petitioning company is, not setting calalization, but, to sell light and power.

For this purpose it will make calalization and has a privilege with limited term within which to no one will be permissible making similar installations for the same purpose, as there is a monopoly to be observed.

But from that it cannot be conceived that the installation of calalizations is not facultative for a second concern to be able to supply light to private individuals from the date of expiration of the gas company exclusive privilege.

Even the gas company thus agreed with the government, accepting this final resolution of the Section 1st of its contract.

"It is, however, understood that from September 15th, 1915," the supplying of electric power, either made by the contracting party or by third parties, will be entirely free.

The precent, "In convencionibus contrahentium voluntas potius quam verba spectari placuit," is perfectly caked for in the present case.

By these terms it is clearly seen that the object of the privilege was the supplying of light and power, being the setting of the calalizations the only, whereas it reads that from September 15th, 1915, it will be entirely free. * * * what?

The supplying of electric power for private illumination, either by the contracting party or by third parties.

If the object of the privilege was the setting of the calalizations, said Section would read as follows:

"It is, however, understood that from September 15, 1915, the setting and preservation in the public thoroughfare of the area of illumination of the necessary calalization for the distribution of electric power private illumination, made by the contracting party or by a third party will be entirely free."

But this was not written in the referred section, and that the supplying would be free from that date on.

Now, for the free supplying to be realized on such date, it is presupposed that the competitor must be fully equipped. And the government, dealing in the name of the population, and of which it is its legal proxy, stipulated the liberty of supplying from September 15, 1915.

The very representative of the gas company does not comprehend, on the contrary, this disposition; so that, in the concession given to him, as successor of William Reid, in 1905, by the municipality, this clause was admitted by him.

"As soon as the privilege enjoyed by the 'Societe Anonyme du Gaz de Rio de Janeiro,' according to the terms of the contract, in force on June 7, 1900, for the supplying of electric light, being expired, the contracting party can supply electric power, not only for public illumination but also to private individuals, without having such concession the character of privilege."

Any other interpretation would mean, in being admitted, that the gas company, from 1915 on, could indiscriminately dispose of the private illumination by means of electric light until when, the time having elapsed for new installations, the first competitor would appear offering its resources to the population.

The liberty of supplying, assured in the contract, would be twisted by a circumstance of force majeure that created a monopoly without contrast for the gas company.

It is enough to consider that it has a privilege up to 1945, and that all its installations are only one for all purposes, so far as the truth of this proposition can be seen.

It would be absurd to admit that the government, wishing to assure the free supplying of electric light to private parties from September 15, 1915, on, had not also assured the means for such purpose.

So that, either by the literal sense of the clauses of the contract, or in accordance with the rules for its interpretation, it is undoubtful that the gas company's protest has not important juridical basis.

It cannot oppose the Companhia Brasileira's petition, as it came as a salvation for the interests of the public of this District, equipping itself in time, and so as to avoid that circumstance would reinforce with new power the other concern, a monopoly without contrast, as it was said before.

Thus having this point exposed, it is out of question that if there is in the case of a conflict of interests there is not a conflict of rights.

Without fearing to hurt assured interests, especially in law that does not exist, the Congress can resolve upon the request of the "Companhia Brasileira de Energia Electrica" without preoccupying itself with the "Societe Anonyme du Gaz de Rio de Janeiro."

Now there is left to be known if the Congress must attend to what has been petitioned by the referred company.

In the full length of its statement there are points which clearly show this vote's opinion and which cannot conclude but granting favorable decision to the request made by the Companhia Brasileira.

Evidently, it is plainly seen that the situation of the inhabitants of the District, as regards to the supply of electric light for their private needs, may become very precarious from September 15th, 1915, on, as they will be tied up hands and foot to the Companhia du Gaz, if, in the proper time, all precautions shall not be taken.

The various systems around which the opinions are discussed, as regards to the class of work, are:—

Free competition.
Monopolies.
Municipal Ownership.

It will be in force for the electric private illumination, up to 1915, the system of monopoly, excessive privilege, resulting from Government's concession, with execution subordinate to the fiscalization, and restrictions imposed under the form of clauses of contract.

From 1915 to 1945 the gas company will be allowed to exploit freely the supplying of electric light to private individuals, and since then, there will be started the regime of free competition, so there can be no more opportunity for it being matter of discussion, neither the convenience, nor inconvenience of monopoly, regulated by concession, nor municipal ownership, owing to the fact that the Company has ascertained the right of explaining freely that industry up to the time it shall have to render its properties to the Government of the Union.

For this reason is uncalled for the discussion of systems proposed by Congressman Paulino de Souza, who suggested the monopoly, already excluded by the contract with the gas company, because in this contract the same freedom was assured to that company, for the supplying of light to private individuals from September 15th on, under the conditions it might please; as well as to the public was assured the remedy of free competition, which is the only corrective against the abuses of one sole party.

It would, therefore, be platonic, any discussion concerning this matter, as long as we have to bind ourselves to a situation of fact.

To give the monopoly to the gas company from 1915 it would not be allowed, as a certain term for the expiration of same, it is enjoying at the present, has been fixed since, and, to give a third one would be violating the right of said company too freely supply electric light to private individuals, and which right has been ascertained in the contract.

But, even admitting the concession of a new monopoly, as it is considered best by Congressman Paulino de Souza, it could not be given in public competition as long as there would be only one concern equipped to do the work, object of same, and even because the gas concern, not being the concessionary, would protest against the despoiling of its rights of freely selling electric light from September 15th, 1915.

Even being a partisan of the monopoly, my honorable colleague will not contest that the basis of such concessions ought to be always competition.

Therefore, partisans, as we are, of free competition, we are of the opinion that it shall prevail.

Neither can we see the dangers pointed out to us by Congressman Paulino de Souza, bringing as evidence the opinion of Dr. Ruy Barbosa, as regards to the exclusive privileges, referring to certain public works, which, he believes, are exposed to the dangers of traffic congestion, as for the execution of same the using of the thoroughfares are required.

The enterprises, or industrial undertakings, to which the Brazilian company refers to, are of such a nature as to challenge all competitions, and as for the running of same there is a great demand of capital, which, only, cautiously can be adventured in same, pondering the economic conditions.

Besides the whole commercial, industrial, and professional activity is, naturally, limited by the law of offer and demand, which limit is not exceeded, unless under the penalty of ruin for the competitors.

Be it admitted that the capital of Brazil can attempt in having two, three, or even four companies supplying it with electric light, but a fifth one will not engage in that business without first investigating the possibility of its success.

London has succeeded in having 20 companies supplying it with gas for its populations, but it did not have 21; not because the spirit of initiative had, naturally, vanished from the minds of the competitors, but because the spirit of practice had not advised that one more to be a competitor in that field of commerce.

In the free competition for the supplying of electric light to private individuals, the enterprises take into consideration the great expenditures for the installations of the service and base their calculations on probable figures of receipts.

As long as these do not show compensation, capital, of course, is not ventured in them.

Believing we have said enough so to justify our favorable opinion on the pretension contained in the petition of the Companhia Brasileira de Energia Electrica, in such conditions, we close, submitting to the judgment of the House the framing of the following project of law:

Section 1st. To the Companhia Brasileira de Energia Electrica is granted permission to set, operate, and enjoy a distribution system of electric power for private illumination in this capital and its suburbs during the period of 60 years.

Section 2. The supplying of light for private illumination, which this concession refers to, can only be started after the 15th day of September, 1915.

Section 3. The Company binds itself to accept the clauses that the Government may dictate in behalf of public safety and regularity of the service.

Section 4. The company binds itself to not charge more than 100 reis, (3.3 cents,) paper currency, for the kilowatt, per hour, consumed by the illumination.

Section 5. Moreover, it binds itself to start its service on the 16th of September, 1915.

Section 6. The present concession does not mean a privilege, as the Government has the right of, at any time, giving similar concessions in free competition.

Section 7. Contrary acts will be revoked.

GERMANO HASSLOCHER.

Committee Room, September 23, 1909.

Opinion of Congressman Pedro Moacyr. With great attention I read the voting opinion of Congressmen Teixeira de Sa, Paulino de Souza and Germano Hasslocher, as well as the petitions, copies of decisions and contracts, referring to the case subjected to the opinion of this Committee.

I perfectly agree with the doctrine maintained, chiefly by the vote of Congressman Hasslocher, and found useless to add new arguments in favor of the principle of free competition and of the favorable despatch of the petition of the Companhia Brasileira.

However, I reserve for myself the right of presenting at the time of the discussion of the project of law, amendments, in the framing up of same, as well as regards to grant identical concessions to enterprises or private individuals that may propose to execute the service of private illumination from 1915 on, on the same conditions dictated to the Companhia Brasileira.

My principal idea is to take out from the pending case the character of litigation or preference only between the two competitor companies, and to establish the resolution of the matter on a level of generality, which can be profitable by all useful inciatives that are willing and able to manifest itself in behalf of the contributors.

Without violating granted rights to the gas company by its contract, still in force, it is the Congress' duty to assure for the population of this city in the future better situation concerning the service of private illumination.

In these terms I am of the opinion that the petition, subjected to the study of the Committee of Constitution and Justice, be favorably despatched.

Committee Room, October 28, 1909.

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Great Interest Shown in the Auction Market—Valuable Parcels Sold at Excellent Prices—The O'Day Home Sold —34th Street Deal Involves $1,800,000.

The centre of interest in the realty market yesterday was the Vesey Street Salesroom, where a large number of valuable properties were offered at auction. That there is a growing interest on the part of the public in general in the auction market was evident by the unusually large crowd that attended the sale and the spirited bidding for each and every parcel offered.

One of the most valuable plots in the business section offered was the northerly half of the site of the Edison Building, at 42 Broad Street, running through to 38 New Street, which was sold by Auctioneer Joseph P. Day to E. H. Ludlow & Co., for a client, on a bid of $394,300.

The southerly half of the Edison Building plot is owned by the De Rahm estate. The sale was the result of foreclosure proceedings brought by the Broadway-Cortlandt Company against Shapiro, Portman & Henry. The property was sold to satisfy a judgment of about $93,500, over a prior mortgage of $300,000. Unpaid taxes amount to $7,607, so that the auction price was a little les sthan the incumbrances.

The plot fronts 21 feet on Broad Street and 32 feet on New Street, with a mean depth o fabout 152 feet. Ludlow & Co. declined to divulge the name of the real buyer.

Four parcels of more than ordinary interest owned by large estates were offered by Bryan L. Kennelly.

Excellent prices were obtained, especially for the property at 388 to 390 Sixth Avenue, with an "L" around the southeast corner of Twenty-fourth Street. After a spirited contest between a number of bidders it was struck down for $247,500 to Banton Moore, a lawyer.

The four-story dwellings 252 and 254 West Fifty-fifth Street, adjoining the home of the Automobile Club of America, were taken by A. C. Jopling, a lawyer, for $63,750.

Another interesting parcel, 7 and 9 West Thirty-ninth Street, sold under foreclosure by Herbert A. Sherman, was bought by the Lincoln National Bank for $166,700. In the foreclosure proceedings the Mutual Life Insurance Company was plaintiff and George Nicholas defendant. The amount of the judgment was about $146,000.

The plot, on which there are two four-story dwellings, measures 35.10 by 98.9, and is 215 feet west of Fifth Avenue. The price paid is said to be a record one for Thirty-ninth Street.

McCabe Estate Sells 27th Street Plot.

The McCabe estate has sold to Israel Lebowitz 135 and 137 West Twenty-seventh Street, two five-story tenements, on plot 50 by 98.9. The property has not changed hands for thirty years.

It adjoins the loft building erected by the Realty Holding Company at 119 to 133, probably the largest structure of the kind in the city. Arnold, Byrne & Baumann negotiated the sale.

34th Street Deal Involves $1,800,000.

Additional details were learned yesterday of the deal previously reported in THE NEW YORK TIMES involving the property at 13 and 15 West Thirty-fourth Street. Max Kayser, as broker, sold the plot to Frank A. Seitz for Paul J. Bonwit. It has a frontage of 50 feet and a depth of 126 feet, with a 12-foot right of way to Thirty-fifth Street. The Riker Drug Company occupy and has a twenty-one years' lease on the store and basement floors. Frank A. Seitz has given in part payment 39 and 41 East Twelfth Street, the eight-story store and loft building, 50.8 by 119 and irregular; also 34 and 36 East Tenth Street, two ten-story store and loft buildings, 50 by 93. The aggregate amount of the deal involves about $1,800,000.

Daniel O'Day's Home for Boys' School

Details of the sale of the residence of the late Daniel O'Day at Deal Beach, known as Kildysart, by the McVickar-Gaillard Realty Company to Joseph C. Groff of this city for a boys' school will be found in another column.

Broadway Corner Sold.

The McVickar-Gaillard Realty Company has sold for Cornelius V. V. Powers 1,628 and 1,630 Broadway, southeast corner of Fiftieth Street, old frame buildings, on plot 50.3 by 57.

Investor Buys the Dorothea.

The Bronx Heights Land Company, L. Z. Duke, President, has sold the Dorothea, a six-story elevator apartment house at 329 and 331 West 101st Street, on plot 50 by 100.11, to an investor. The property is situated 140 feet east of Riverside Drive. The selling company acquired the house some four years ago.

S. E. Barnes has sold for Mary B. Reid to a client 104 Lexington Avenue, a three-story dwelling on lot 19.9 by 80.

Big Apartments Change Owners.

Porter & Co. have sold for John V. Smith to an investor the five-story double flat located at 77 West 102d Street.

Mrs. Farmer has sold 479 West 165th Street, a five-story flat on plot 49.4 by 102.11. William Goldstone is said to be the buyer.

Bronx Sales.

Sussman & Heller have sold to Drouer, Dretzin & Co. the six-story tenement house on lot 25 by 100 on the northeast corner of 161st Street and Eagle Avenue, Bronx, and resold the same to investors.

Sussman & Heller have sold to Harry Levine a plot 100 by 100 on the south side of Elsmere Place between Marion and Prospect Avenues, Bronx, which he will immediately improve with two four-story apartment houses.

H. C. Senior & Co. have sold for August F. Windolph the lot five feet east of Townsend Avenue on Belmont Place, Bronx. The property is a triangle 35 by 29. Mary Connelly is the purchaser.

Suburban Sales.

John Chimoleski has bought the Carll farm, comprising about twenty acres, on Willets Point Road, between Eleventh and Fourteenth Streets, Whitestone, L. I. The property, which adjoins the Flushing Driving Park, had been in the Carll family for nearly a century.

Jones Estate Sells L. I. Acreage.

Pease & Elliman have sold for the estate of Joshua T. Jones seventy-five acres of land at Cold Spring Harbor, L. I. The property is situated on a high plateau overlooking Cold Spring Harbor and adjoins the estate of Charles A. Peabody. The buyer will improve the property and erect upon it a large house for his own occupancy.

Recent Buyers.

Frederick Keppel of Keppel & Co., engineers, is the purchaser of the dwelling 890 Park Avenue, adjoining the southwest corner of Seventy-ninth Street. The house was sold recently through the Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Company.

Big Apartment for West 113th St.

Plans have been filed for a new eight-story elevator apartment house, with suites for twenty-five families, to be built for the Scheer-Ginsburg Construction Company at 603 to 607 West 113th Street from designs by George F. Pelham as architect. It is to have a façade of brick finished with limestone and terra cotta trimmings, and will have a frontage of 75 feet and a depth of 85.11 feet. It is to cost $200,000.

Rockefeller House to Be Remodeled.

Plans have been filed for remodeling William Rockefeller's high-stoop dwelling at 691 Fifth Avenue into an American basement residence. The old stoop, porch, and staircase will be replaced by a high window and two of the front basement windows will be converted into a new entrance. The improvements will include the making over of the library and the installation of electric passenger elevator service, and will be made from designs by Henry S. Ihnen as architect at a cost of $10,000.

$500,000 Bakery Factory for Brooklyn.

Twenty-three lots have been purchased in Pacific and Dean Streets, Brooklyn, between Carleton and Vanderbilt Avenues, by Ward's Bakery of Pittsburg, and a large factory will be erected on the site at a cost of about $500,000. The plot has a frontage of 288 feet on Pacific Street, 120 feet on Dean Street, and is 220 feet deep. The price paid was about $75,000. J. Edgar Leaycraft & Co. were the brokers who negotiated the sale.

Notes.

Denzer Brothers have leased for the Tilden Investing Company the entire easterly store containing 10,000 square feet at 105 to 111 West Fortieth Street for a term of years at an aggregate rental of $85,000. The prospective tenants are the W. H. S. Lloyd Company, importers of high-grade wall paper.

Leroy Coventry has rented for a term of years with the privilege of purchasing 156 West Seventy-second Street. The house will be extensively altered and a portion of it will be occupied by Leroy Coventry for offices. This will make the eighth alteration in the street, 114, 128, 165, and 167 already having been altered, and it being understood that 133, 148, and 162 will be altered in the course of the next six months.

The Harlem Property Owners' Association will hold a meeting this evening at 147 East 125th Street.

In All the World
No more attractive trips can possibly be found than those to
AGWI
The American Mediterranean
MORE beautiful and more interesting than France, Spain, Italy, Egypt, or the Orient; nearer home and less expensive to the pleasure-seeker, more resultful to the explorer, and furnishing new material for historic research; a region where rigorous northern winters are exchanged for perpetual summer, sunshine and flowers.
BEST COMBINATION TOUR OF THE SEASON
Cuba: 4 days from New York, one week at Havana, the American Paris, continuing thence to Yucatan: 2 days from Havana, one week at Progreso, Merida, and the celebrated Mayan Ruins—older than those of Egypt. Continuing to Mexico: Vera Cruz, 1 day from Progreso, thence overland through a delightfully picturesque mountainous country to Mexico City—with all the attractions of Spain—and continuing northward with liberal stop-overs at points of interest in the Mexican Republic; thence to Texas: including stop-over at San Antonio, one of America's most beautiful resorts, with the historic Alamo and the ancient Spanish Missions; returning from Galveston by steamship direct to New York.

FIFTH AVE. THIEVES STIR THE MERCHANTS

Their Association Proposes to Drive Away "Fainting" Women by Illuminating Shops.

CHARGES OF GRAFT MADE

One Man at the Meeting Says He Has Heard Policemen Call the Women by Their First Names.

The Fifth Avenue Association, which includes many merchants and property owners of the thoroughfare, has determined to help rid the avenue of a reputation it seems to be acquiring.

The association was stirred into action by the unusually large number of robberies in Fifth Avenue or on adjacent side streets, including that of Warner N. Van Norden, the President of the Van Norden Trust Company, who was robbed of $28,000 recently. The recent criticism of Magistrate Cornell, who declared Fifth Avenue in the neighborhood of the large hotels to be infested with women thieves, was also a factor in influencing the association. It held an executive meeting yesterday afternoon and discussed plans.

One of the things proposed was better lighting, particularly that of shop and store windows. Last evening, just to show what could be done, the Edison Electric Company lighted up one block of shop windows while the officers of the association and passers-by stood by and marveled at the change. The block chosen was the one between Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Streets. The illumination was such a success that the plan will probably be carried out all along the business portion of the avenue, thus realizing the aim of the association to make Fifth Avenue a "Great White Way," even making pale by comparison the lurid effulgence of Broadway.

The meeting yesterday was held in the offices of the association, at 542 Fifth Avenue. Among those present were Simon Brentano, William Post Sackett, Henry A. Siebrecht, Gustav Baumann, J. Hoves Burton, and John A. Sleicher. Robert Grier Cooke, the President of the association, presided. Mr. Burton brought up the question of the stories of the women thieves along Fifth Avenue and proposed that the association try and cooperate with the Police Department in driving them away.

"There is no doubt," said Mr. Burton, "that the conditions along the avenue are very bad. Although we have twice the light we had before the Hudson-Fulton Celebration, the street is still far too dark at night. There is also inadequate police protection. Often I walk up Fifth Avenue late at night and seldom see a policeman. After 11 o'clock at night I do not believe I have ever seen a policeman between Thirty-fourth and Forty-second Streets, and it is between these streets that most of these robberies occur. It has been asked why these women should operate along Fifth Avenue more than along other thoroughfares. I suppose it is because there is richer picking along Fifth Avenue. Something ought to be done quickly to better conditions."

Another member of the association who did not want his name used said he knew that the policemen along Fifth Avenue "stood in" with the women thieves. He said he had often seen these women talking to the policemen and had heard the latter call them by their first names.

"No matter what the conditions are," said Mr. Brentano, "I think the association ought to be careful about expressing itself in regard to this matter unless we are sure that our statements are backed up with evidence. It won't do to make any mistake."

Mr. Cooke said he had already written to Commissioner Baker asking for an interview. He said he hoped to enlist the Commissioner's active co-operation immediately.

Other matters discussed were the proposed isles of safety and the traffic arrangements. It was suggested that the association give a dinner in the near future to which the city officials and the Governor will be asked. Yesterday ex-Gov. Morton, who has a home on Fifth Avenue, joined the association.

A BRIDEGROOM FOR A DAY.

Youth Seeks Annulment of Marriage to Girl He Met by Telephone.

Marrying in haste and repenting at leisure, Leo Grunwald, a nineteen-year-old bridegroom, asked Justice Stapleton in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, yesterday to free him from the bonds of matrimony. The honeymoon of Leo and his young bride, it appeared, had lasted but one day.

Young Grunwald lives with his mother, Mrs. Sarah Grunwald, at 1,463 Fifth Avenue, Manhattan. His marriage was an outcome of a romance of the telephone. In August, 1907, Leo made the acquaintance by chance over the wire of Evelyn Campbell. Charmed by her voice, he persuaded her to meet him that evening in Central Park. They became engaged there and then.

The following day Leo and Evelyn were married by a Justice over in Newark. After just one day of wedded bliss, they went that night to the home of Evelyn's parents, in West 111th Street, Manhattan. At the door, he says, his bride dismissed him with a sweet smile, saying she would meet him again in a week or so. That was the last he saw of her, he asserts.

WATCHMAN DEAD IN SHAFT.

May Have Been Killed by Tramps in New Bellevue Building.

His clothing torn and his hands gashed as though he had endeavored to extricate himself, the body of Joseph Sweeney, a watchman, was found wedged between an elevator and the side of its shaft in the new Bellevue Pathological Building, Twenty-eighth Street and First Avenue, yesterday afternoon by workmen.

How Sweeney got into the elevator shaft is puzzling the police. The building is not completed. The steam fitting has been put in, however, and Sweeney on several occasions reported that he had driven tramps from the building. It is thought that Sweeney might have been overcome in a struggle with tramps on Monday night and thrown into the shaft.

Hart, Schaffner & Marx Winter Suits and Overcoats Half Price
THERE are two ways of benefiting by this Sale of ours. You may pay what you usually pay—and get a little more than Double money's worth.
Or, you may get your Suit or Overcoat for half its price and put the other half in your pocket in cash.
Our stock could not be duplicated to sell at the original prices—for great has been the advance in the cost of woolens.
There's a lot of cold weather coming now—and next Winter is coming, too.

| | |
|---|---|
| $65 Overcoats are now | $32.50 |
| $50 Suits and Overcoats now | $25.00 |
| $45 Suits and Overcoats now | $22.50 |
| $40 Suits and Overcoats now | $20.00 |
| $35 Suits and Overcoats now | $17.50 |
| And every Suit or Overcoat that was $30 or less, now | $15.00 |

At $15 you will find all the Hart, Schaffner & Marx Suits and Overcoats that were $30 and less. These were lines in which we insisted on extraordinary values. The sizes are complete when this sale begins.

The reasons why different kinds of milk have their individual value:—
To the Medical Profession.
To Assist Physicians Who Recommend
"SHEFFIELD PERFECTLY PASTEURIZED MILK"
in writing their formula for babies. There is a sample taken every hour while bottling this milk to determine by our Chemist the amount of butter fat and total solids which it contains. The table below is a fac-simile of the laboratory report for the first four days of this month:—

| | Butter Fat. | Total Solids. |
|---|---|---|
| Feb. 1, 1st hour | 4.5 | 13.23 |
| Feb. 1, 2d hour | 4.4 | 13.21 |
| Feb. 2, 1st hour | 4.5 | 13.47 |
| Feb. 2, 2d hour | 4.6 | 13.52 |
| Feb. 3, 1st hour | 4.3 | 13.16 |
| Feb. 3, 2d hour | 4.4 | 13.21 |
| Feb. 4, 1st hour | 4.3 | 13.16 |
| Feb. 4, 2d hour | 4.2 | 13.04 |

The legal standard of ordinary milk is: Butter Fat, 3; Total Solids, 12.
Physicians desiring the analysis weekly can receive same by applying to the Main Office.
This Milk is 10 Cents Per Quart.
